GEM
1932
FOREWORD

Looking for a new angle on college life . . . one day we climbed up into the tower of the Ad building. From there we saw the campus in an entirely new and most unusual perspective . . . altogether . . . complete.

When you turn through the pages of this book we hope you will catch something of the spirit in which we labored while bringing them together.

In The Gem of 1932 we have tried to incorporate, in some manner, all the really brilliant and important things of this school year.
DEDICATION

Memorial Gymnasium and Tower . . . the last major campus structure to rise during the lifetime of our departed friend and counsellor, Francis Jenkins.

And . . . as this imposing Memorial, the throbbing center of student life and activity, is pledged to the service of the men and women of Idaho . . . so his life, a stately edifice, was devoted to the constant aid of his fellow-men in their manifold problems. To the memory of Francis Jenkins, leader and friend, this Gem of the Mountains for 1932 is dedicated.
IN MEMORY OF

FRANCIS JENKINS
WAYNE FORREST BLAIR
OSCAR LEE BROWN
ALBERT EUGENE HOLBROOK
ETHELYN MARGERY ALBERT

Passing on to another existence, these comrades have left with us unfading memories . . . because of the things they accomplished, the associations they made, the inspirations they gave . . .

DAHO SPIRIT

The Spirit of Idaho . . . intangible yet defined . . . not always recognized for what it is, but affecting, to a degree depending only upon his make-up, everyone who for longer or shorter time has come under its influence.

Neither a sentiment . . . a motto . . . nor a philosophy . . . rather a combination.

A bit of the Old West handed down to us, perhaps . . . certainly nowhere finer exemplified than in the life of the late Francis Jenkins. The spirit that gave birth to the University . . . the parent that still lives . . . the Spirit of Idaho
THE UNIVERSITY

Older than the state itself . . . young in that indomitable spirit of the last great wave of Western pioneering which witnessed its birth . . . founded by far-seeing territorial legislators that future citizens of the great state they foresaw might attain their highest usefulness in private life and public service . .
rich in its heritage of equality, resourcefulness, and enthusiasm . . as in the old era, so in the present Idaho, opportunities await those who would seek them, and individual merit remains the lone measure of success . .
ADMINISTRATION
IN RETROSPECT, the year that has just passed has been a challenge to the people of this country. In many ways it has been a year of gloom and fear, because of the real or fancied imminence of economic disaster. In the midst of this world-wide loss of optimism, the students of the University of Idaho have set an example of faith in the future and have carried on their activities with more than usual zest.

I wish to commend this evidence of belief in the future. The real test of men and women is not the manner in which they conduct themselves in times of prosperity and ease, but the manner in which they carry on in the face of adversity.

Any individual might fear to make a prophecy about the future, but the students who have been at the University of Idaho during the school year 1931-1932 have, by their actions, made a collective prophecy. This prophecy is to the effect that in the future the world will have greater need for high ability, character and expert service than it has ever had; and that the opportunities which will open up for this generation of university men and women will be greater than those of the past.

M. G. NEALE, President.
THE HIGHEST administrative body of the University is the Board of Regents, composed of members appointed for five-year terms by the Governor of the state. In the hands of this board, in conjunction with the President of the University, rest the policies and administration of the University of Idaho. The Board of Regents hold an annual meeting each spring at the University in Moscow.

The board members are Mrs. J. G. H. Graveley, Boise, president, with term ending in 1934; Clency St. Clair, Idaho Falls, vice president, with term ending in 1935; W. C. Geddes, Winchester, secretary, with term ending in 1933; Asher B. Wilson, Twin Falls, with term ending in 1932; and T. A. Walters, Caldwell, with term ending in 1936. W. D. Vincent, Commissioner of Education, and Mrs. Myrtle R. Davis, Superintendent of Public Instruction, are ex-officio members of the board.
THE ADMINISTRATIVE work of the University is entrusted to a staff consisting of five department heads and several important assistants. To the administrative officials go such duties as management of registration, financial control, preparation of publications, library administration, and supervision of the buildings and grounds of the University. These officials are responsible to the President of the University.

Dean John R. Dyer succeeded the late Martin Fuller Angell as Executive Dean of the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho at Pocatello. Dean Dyer came to the Southern Branch from the University of Kansas, and has just completed his third year as head of the Branch.

The officials are Frank Stanton, bursar; Ella L. Olesen, registrar; Oren A. Fitzgerald, university editor; Mary Belle Sweet, librarian; and R. W. Lind, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Administrative Staff
ONE OF the most important administrative sections of the University from the standpoint of relations with the people of the state is the position of Dean of Women. This office includes contact with innumerable aspects of college life and offers one of the best means by which high school students may be interested in the University of Idaho. Much of the valuable work and a good deal of the prominence of the position of Dean of Women is made possible by the woman who has held that post at Idaho for a number of years. Miss Permeal J. French is the Dean of Women at the University of Idaho. The efficiency of her work is best spoken for by the smoothness with which her department performs a great amount of important administrative work for the University.

Either directly or indirectly, every phase of the social life of the campus comes under the control of the Dean of Women. She also has supervision over the two women’s halls and the many sorority houses on the campus.

In addition to regulation of the social life of the campus, Miss French, in her years at Idaho, has been directly responsible for the establishment of a number of the University’s most cherished traditions. Among the most important of these has been her connection with the annual Campus Day. Many other traditional forms have been materially helped by Miss French’s interest.

The Dean of Women also makes important contacts for the University in her trips throughout the state. Each spring she visits the larger high schools of the state, meeting high school students and giving them information in regard to the University of Idaho.
The position of Dean of the Faculty is honorary, in that it is held by the dean who has been longest in the service of the University. But in addition to that, it is a position that has attached to it a great many functions of utmost importance and responsibility. That importance is emphasized, too, by the fact that the office is held by Dean Jay Glover Eldridge, who has been with the University thirty years.

The work of the Dean of the Faculty is largely administrative and of a general nature. To him falls the duty of aiding the President of the University in the process of running the departments of the University. To him, also, goes the work of correlating the various policies of university departments.

One of the most important duties of this officer is the general administration of the University when the President is gone. At such times the Dean of the Faculty presides over the academic council and the various other faculty boards and committees.

The work of the present year has differed but little from any of the previous normal years. Whenever there is a vacancy in faculty deanships the Dean of the Faculty is called upon to administer that department, but this year such extra work has not been necessary. This has made it possible for Dean Eldridge to devote most of his time strictly to the duties of his own office and to his teaching. Dean Eldridge is professor and head of the modern language department at the University. He is regarded as one of the outstanding language professors in the United States, and recently has established Icelandic as one of the languages offered in the University curriculum.
GRADUATE WORK at the University of Idaho is at present administered by the Graduate Council, which consists of C. W. Hungerford, dean, and six members appointed by the President from various academic divisions of the University. These members are Dean J. F. Messenger, professor of education; Dean R. H. Farmer, professor of business administration; Dr. E. E. Hubert, professor of forestry; Professor J. H. Johnson, professor of electrical engineering; Professor A. W. Fahrenwald, professor of metallurgy and ore dressing; and Dr. G. M. Miller, professor of English. Miss Ella Olesen, registrar, is secretary of the Council.

The growth of this school during the last ten years had been more rapid than almost any other division of the University. In 1919-1920 there were fourteen graduate students and only one master's degree conferred. In 1924-1925 there were sixty-eight students and sixteen degrees conferred. In 1929-1930 there were eighty-three students and thirty-two degrees were conferred. This year during the first semester there were 117 students regularly enrolled for graduate work.

The rapid growth of the graduate work at the University has been due to several causes. Among these causes might be mentioned a keener interest in research by the various departments, recognition on the part of schoolmen of the state that this graduate school can meet their needs for advanced study as well or better than many of the larger institutions, and finally, general recognition of the fact that in many fields of thought four years of undergraduate study does not suffice as preparation for modern needs. As the University of Idaho does not yet confer the doctor's degree, many students are finding it to their advantage to take work in advance of the master's degree and to have their credits used at some future time.
THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE serves an important and valuable service in the state of Idaho. The work of the school is distinctly fitted to meet the problems and needs of the agriculture of the state, one of the three leading state industries. The faculty of the college consists of members who have special knowledge on state problems, and many who have gained national recognition in their fields. The curriculum and equipment is continually changed to keep in touch with new and more efficient methods. The University farm consists of six hundred acres of land, equipped with modern buildings, and stocked with high grade livestock.

In addition to the work done on the campus the research instruction is carried to every part of the state through a wide extension service.

The professors, associate professors, and assistant professors include the following: Dr. E. J. Iddings, dean; Dr. C. W. Hungerford, assistant dean; Professor R. S. Snyder, agricultural chemistry; Dr. P. A. Eke, Professors H. A. Vogel, C. O. Youngstrom, agricultural economics; Professor H. E. Lattig, agricultural education; Professors H. Beresford, M. R. Kulp, agricultural engineering; Professors H. W. Hulbert, R. E. Bell, C. A. Michels, V. H. Florell, G. R. McDole, F. L. Burkhart, agronomy; Professors C. W. Hickman, J. E. Nordby, E. M. Gildow, animal husbandry; Dr. W. V. Halversen, Professors G. S. Schilling, bacteriology; Professors F. W. Atkeson, D. R. Theophilus, dairy husbandry; Professors C. Wake-land, T. Brindley, entomology; Professor Ella Woods, home economics; Dr. C. C. Vincent, L. R. Tucker, horticulture; Dr. C. W. Hungerford, Professors J. M. Raeder, W. Bever, plant pathology; Professor Lampman, poultry husbandry; Dr. E. J. Iddings, director of the extension service.
THE PAST YEAR has witnessed important development in the shops and laboratories of the College of Engineering. Machine shops of the mechanical engineering department have been entirely rearranged and installed in the old heating plant of the University. The University of Idaho is now said to possess one of the most efficient shops of this type in the Northwest. The gas engine laboratory has been renovated and a noticeable amount of aeronautical equipment added. Such advances are intended to keep abreast of recent developments in the teaching of aeronautical engineering. A long-needed vacuum tube testing laboratory has been installed by the electrical engineering department. Equipment added to the materials testing laboratory has increased the efficiency of this unit. During the year over a thousand tests were made for the department of public works.

Instructional work of the College of Engineering has been on a higher plane than ever before, due to the stability of the faculty. An increase in enrollment established a new high record for registration in this college.

Idaho graduates have been particularly successful in important engineering fields. At the present time Idaho men are working for the federal government in the following positions: District Engineer of the United States Geological Survey at Boston, Chief of Surface Water Division at Washington, D. C., Construction Engineer at the Hoover Dam.

The engineering faculty includes the following: Ivan C. Crawford, dean; Professors J. E. Buchanan, I. N. Carter, J. W. Howard, A. S. Janssen, civil engineering; Professors R. H. Hull, R. J. Pangborn, electrical; Professors H. F. Gauss, Barton Cruikshank, and William Schroeder, mechanical.
THE WORK of the School of Education is increasing, partly because of the closer contacts that are being made with the public schools of the state, and partly because of a general demand for more professional training on the part of teachers. All over the country the requirements for teachers' certificates are calling for more professional work in education and school officials are demanding more from persons whom they are willing to consider for teaching positions. At the present time five members of the education faculty hold doctor's degrees.

A large percentage of the superintendents and principals of the schools of Idaho attend the summer school and through this means much is done to unify the entire school system of Idaho. At the present rate it will not be long until nearly every superintendent in the state will have been at some time a student at the University of Idaho.

The School of Education was established in the year 1920-1921. At that time the total number of students enrolled was twenty-three. All of these were undergraduates. The first master's degree was granted in 1922. Up to the present time eighty-seven persons have received the degree of Master of Science in Education. At the beginning of this year there were ninety-seven persons enrolled as candidates for this degree.

Dean J. F. Messenger is head of the department. The other members of the faculty are: Professor Charles E. Holley, Bernice McCoy, associate professor; W. Wayne Smith, associate professor; and Philip Soulen, state high school inspector, whose headquarters are in Boise.
THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION is stressing work in research and devoting a great deal of instruction to fit the special economic situation of the country. The problems peculiar to the state of Idaho and this section of the country are being carefully studied. The method of teaching which is being used will tie the student closely to the problems he will meet when he graduates from the course.

This is the school's eighth year as an individual unit. It became a senior college in 1929, enrolling students only in the third and fourth years of university work. Pre-business majors devote about two-thirds of their time to the standard junior college curriculum, and one-third to preliminary courses in business.

The school has five majors, one of which is required for a degree in Bachelor of Science in Business. These five are: general business, accounting, commerce, the extractive industries, and secretarial science. General business gives an all-around training in business. In this major special emphasis is given to finance to meet the importance of that field in all phases of business activity. In the course of accounting, the student can specialize in cost accounting, corporate accounting, auditing or public accounting. Commerce includes retailing, wholesaling, advertising and foreign trade. Extractive industries is a combination course which trains for the business side of agriculture, forestry and mining, and also includes the technical training in these fields. A thorough course in secretarial training can be obtained by both men and women in the secretarial science major.

Dean Ralph H. Farmer is head of the School of Business Administration. The other faculty members of the school are: Professor E. E. Davidson, Professor Ellen Reierson, Professor Harold A. Vogel, and Professor Willard J. Wilde.
INCIDENT to a new period of expansion and growth, the law faculty regards three events of the past two years as highly significant. The most important of these is the establishment, for the first time in the history of the school, of an Idaho Law Journal published by the College of Law, with an advisory board of members of the Idaho Bar assisting. The journal has been highly commended by legal scholars throughout the country and by the lawyers of the state. At its annual meeting held during the summer of 1931, the Idaho State Bar passed the following resolution:

"We heartily endorse the law school of the University of Idaho and The Idaho Law Journal as published by this department, and we cannot too strongly urge upon the individual members of the Bar of the state of Idaho that they subscribe to this very instructive journal. It is work that should be continued, but without the support of the lawyers of this state it cannot cover its full field of usefulness, and we further urge upon the lawyers of this state that when requested from time to time to contribute articles to this journal that they give their time and ability to such contributions."

Drastic reorganization of the curriculum to allow a strengthening of important courses has been made, and finally, a third important feature of the school's activity is the fact that several prominent lawyers of the state give lectures at the school each year. All students have an opportunity to participate in the trial of mock court cases through the Bench and Bar organization of the school.

The head of the school is Dean William E. Masterson. Other members of the faculty include Professor E. Pendleton Howard, Professor B. E. Hopkins, and Professor William H. Pittman.
THE SCHOOL OF MINES, under the direction of Dean John W. Finch, has continued during the past year to view the mining industry in a two-fold aspect which is important to the interests of the state of Idaho. An effort has been made to make the academic work include all of the newest developments in the mining field, and at the same time the problems of the mining interests in the state have received great attention. The department of mining and metallurgy has made important discoveries in ore dressing and is now pursuing new and promising investigations. The department of geology has continued research upon clay deposits of northern Idaho and other field problems. Papers upon geological, metallurgical and mining subjects, prepared by members of the faculty in the past year, have commanded wide recognition and favorable comment.

There has been this year an eighteen per cent increase in enrollment over last year, and ten per cent over the highest preceding year, notwithstanding the fact that hard times have affected mining more severely than any other industry.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national mining honorary, has a chapter at the University of Idaho for upperclassmen who are outstanding students in the School of Mines. The undergraduates of the school become members of the Associated Miners when they enroll in the School of Mines.

The faculty of the School of Mines includes the following men: John W. Finch, dean and professor of geology; Professor A. W. Fahrenwald, Professor W. W. Staley, Raynard V. Lundquist, Joseph Newton, mining and metallurgy; Dr. F. B. Laney, Professors D. C. Livingston, Alfred L. Anderson, geology; Stewart Udell, Thomas H. Hite, Idaho Bureau of Mines and Geology.
THE YEAR 1931-1932 has been an important one in the development of the work of the School of Forestry at the University of Idaho. Probably the outstanding occurrence of the year has been the opening of a wood chemical laboratory for the purpose of conducting research in chemical and mechanical utilization of wood and the conversion of wood waste. The work of this department not only is of great value from an academic standpoint, but it is of supreme importance in the industrial field of forest use.

There has also been established during the year a blister rust control laboratory to work in conjunction with state and lumber interests in the control and eradication of blister rust. Through chemical research conducted here an effort is being made to further the work of protecting the valuable forests of this and other states from blister rust.

As a result of the important work which the School of Forestry has done and is doing in its field, a signal honor was conferred upon it during the first of the academic year when it was asked to become a member of the International Science Research Association. This organization, though international in scope, is limited to a very restricted membership. The Idaho School of Forestry is one of three American colleges so honored. This recognition is an indication of the high position which the school has attained in its educational and research work in this country.

The faculty of the School of Forestry includes the following: Dr. F. G. Miller, dean and professor; Dr. Ernest E. Hubert, professor; Dr. Edwin C. Jahn, associate professor; Gerhard Kempff, associate professor; A. M. Sowder, assistant professor; L. E. Spence, instructor; Floyd L. Otter, instructor.
THE SENIOR COLLEGE OF LETTERS AND SCIENCE has been co-existent with the University of Idaho since 1889. It offers work in the arts and sciences to juniors and seniors only, and stresses the cultural aspect more than the technical. The death of the late Dean Martin Fuller Angell in 1930 has necessitated some reorganization, with the appointment of Dr. Harold L. Axtell as acting dean, and the subsequent appointment of Dr. J. A. Kostalek, professor of chemistry, as dean. In its forty-second year, the College of Letters and Science correlates its work with that of the Junior College, and the same faculty serves for both.

The faculty of both schools includes the following: Dr. Cornelius J. Brosnan, American history; Professor Paul R. Ihrig, Mary Kirkwood, M. W. Melzian, art and architecture; Dr. F. W. Gail, Professor R. A. Diettert, LeRoy E. Detling, botany; Dr. C. L. von Ende, Dr. J. A. Kostalek, Professors L. C. Cady, William H. Cone, D. D. DuSault, Alonzo Martin, Otto Turinsky, chemistry; Dr. H. L. Axtell, Professor Mabel Rentfro, classical languages; Dr. G. M. Miller, Dr. J. H. Cushman, Professors Elmer F. Beth, Goffrey Coope, D. H. Herrick, William C. Banks, J. A. Beekwith, F. C. Blanchard, G. R. Cerveny, Pauline Lamar, H. E. Packenham, L. L. Schuldt, T. A. Sherman, Hildegarde Wamous, A. E. Whitehead, English; Dr. F. C. Church, Professor J. E. Retherford, European history; Professors Katherine Jensen, Adah Lewis, Muriel G. McFarland, Ida Ingalls, Instructors Marion G. Featherstone, Jessie Thorner, Leah Buchanan, home economics; Leo B. Calland, R. F. Hutchinson, Otto K. Anderson, R. A. Fox, Glenn Jacoby, physical education department for men; L. Janette Wirt, Mabel Locke, Katherine Rae Hall, physical education for women.
The Junior College first went into effect in the fall of 1929 with Professor J. G. Eldridge as dean. Professor T. S. Kerr, professor of political science, was appointed dean in the summer of 1931. This school was organized to give a more general foundation to students before they were forced to specialize, and attempts to give them two years of work in as many departments as possible in order to assist them in choosing lines of specialization later. It furnishes a broader cultural foundation. All students who plan later to enter the College of Letters and Science, the School of Business Administration, or the College of Law, must take their first two years of work in the Junior College. This, its third year of operation, has proved the system to have been more than successful. It has practically the same faculty as the College of Letters and Science. The additional list of the faculties of the two schools follow:

This year has been a repetition of last year from the standpoint of enrollment and achievement in the military department. As was the case last year, permission was granted by the United States War Department to increase the size of the advanced course section beyond what would be the normal quota for this University. The result is that this section has had an enrollment of about seventy-five men during each semester. Enrollment in the basic division has also been as large as in previous years. The number enrolled in this section is about three hundred. The second semester of the year found an increase in numbers sufficient to warrant a regiment of ten companies instead of the normal nine.

Once again the work of members of the advanced section has merited commendation for activities in army posts and as instructors at training camps. In addition, the annual spring inspection again gave the Idaho corps the ranking of "excellent" for the year 1931. This was the fifth time that the Idaho division was given such a ranking.

The staff of officers of the Idaho Reserve Officers' Training Corps was changed slightly during the year. Captain B. M. Crenshaw was transferred to a new post by the War Department, and in his place was put Captain William A. Hale. The other members of the staff remained unchanged. General E. R. Chrisman, who has been long connected with the University of Idaho, was still at the helm of the military department.

The complete staff includes the following officers: General E. R. Chrisman, Captain William A. Hale, Captain Harry L. Henkle, Lieutenant John W. Sheehy, Bandmaster Bernt Neilsen, Sergeant Lonie Woods and Sergeant Frank L. Barnum.
THE WORK of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics includes activity in three main fields. The primary and most important function is to train and fit university teams for participation in intercollegiate major sports competition, including football, track, basketball, and baseball. At the same time attention is given to minor sports of tennis, swimming, wrestling, boxing, fencing, and golf.

In addition to this work the department provides a course of instruction in physical education for students who are receiving degrees in physical education work. This function includes the presentation of regular textbook courses, and is presented for both men and women. In addition to such instruction both the men's and women's divisions of the department have charge of the work in physical education, required of all students during their first two years at the University.

Another extremely important field of work for the physical education department is in intramural competition and general women's athletic work. Interfraternity competition in almost every line of sport is sponsored by the men's division of this department. The aim of this work is to provide opportunity for as many as possible to take part in some form of organized exercise during the school year. The women of the University are provided the same opportunity through the Women's Athletic Association, whose work is sponsored by the Department of Physical Education.

The staff of this department follows: Leo B. Calland, head coach; R. F. Hutchinson, trainer; Otto K. Anderson, track coach; R. A. Fox, basketball and baseball coach; Glenn Jacoby, freshman coach; L. Janette Wirt, Mabel Locke, physical education for women.
THE OFFICE of George E. "Cap" Horton is one that every student is in some way connected with, for all the funds of the A.S.U.I. go through this office and every activity of that organization has this office for its headquarters. This makes the position a big one, and "Cap" Horton, who has been graduate manager since 1924, is a capable business man. Preceding his appointment he served as a member of the alumni executive board for several years. He knows and understands the needs of every department and is more familiar than anyone with all the activities.

"Cap" is a graduate of the University with the class of 1906. His nickname of "Cap" was given him when he played winning football for Idaho as a prep student. He was captain of the team that won the Northwest championship in 1900, including the University of Washington among their victories. He was a member of the committee that drafted the first constitution of the A.S.U.I. and was a member of the first committee to make athletic awards.

Athletics, though an important part of the functions carried on in the graduate manager's office, is not the only department handled by that office. As business manager of the Associated Students, he has general control over publications, music, dramatics, debate, and intercollegiate competition in rifle marksmanship and stock and grain judging.

The organization of this office has been systematized to furnish the students participation in and attendance at all events at the least possible expense. This has been a difficult year, for athletic receipts have been less because of the economic condition all over the country, but curtailment of expenses where possible has met the situation satisfactorily.
THE PRESIDENT of the A.S.U.I. is the chairman of the Executive Board and presides at all meetings of the student body. He appoints all standing committees and all other committees not provided for in the A.S.U.I. constitution, with the approval of the Executive Board of the Associated Students. He is an ex-officio member of all committees or boards, either permanent or temporary.

Lionel Campbell was elected from the senior class to serve as President for the year 1931-32. Harry Robb is Vice President of the A.S.U.I. and likewise Vice Chairman of the Executive Board. Other officers on the board are Marthalene Tanner, secretary; Charles Heath and Parker Wickwire, senior men; Austa White and Elizabeth Taylor Dick, senior women; Robert Harris and Howard Altnow, junior men; Norma Longeteig, junior woman; Charles Keating, sophomore man.

Under the leadership of Lionel Campbell, some important changes were made this year in the A.S.U.I. constitution. Among them was the creation of new appointive committees, including committees on Rally, National Student Federation of America, Student Affairs and Relations, Assembly, and Homecoming.

IDAHO was represented in Pacific Coast Conference competition during the past year by athletic teams that exemplified all the old Vandal traditions. Fighting spirit, teamwork, and headwork were the outstanding characteristics of the season. The seniors who have played their last game for Idaho will be sorely missed but they have left behind a spirit of sacrifice and self-denial to aid the men who will carry on in their places.

A fine student body spirit that reached its climax in a tribute to a team that went down fighting augurs well for the future. With a united student body supporting aggressive and alert teams we should gain greater prestige in the coming years. Everyone, spectator and player alike, is expected to do his part to keep alive the old tradition "Idaho Fights."

LEO CALLAND.
The year just past was not a brilliant one in Idaho sports annals, but with the signing of Leo Calland, head football coach and director of athletics, for three more years, every Idaho student and alumnus is looking toward the future to that day when the Vandals will regain leadership which they once held in every branch of sport.

Calland, the “head man,” is a product of Southern California, where he was an all-American lineman in 1922. Otto Anderson, football assistant and track coach, came up from the southland with Calland in 1929 and started building. Each successive season under Anderson has been better than the preceding one. Rich Fox, varsity basketball and baseball coach, and freshman football coach, is serving his alma mater, where he was a prominent athlete in the not too-distant past. Glenn Jacoby, varsity assistant and freshman coach in most branches of sport, is also an Idaho man. Ralph Hutchinson, trainer, is a Princeton man and an all-American quarterback.
"Idaho Fights" is one of the best-known Vandal traditions and to the men who fight for them every Idaho student pays tribute. Before each game in which an Idaho team participates the players know that the student body is behind them no matter how the game ends. It is also a tradition that every Idaho student remain in the stands after a football game and sing the Alma Mater song whether Idaho wins or is defeated.

Led by the Pep Band and the yell leader and his dukes, Idaho boasts one of the noisiest cheering sections on the coast, in spite of the fact that it is one of the smallest. The band has long been noted as one of the best organizations of its kind in the West, and this year under the direction of Harry Walden, it has lived up to its reputation.

Vernon Eaton, yell king, has also done his share to keep alive that intangible something known as "Idaho Spirit." Eaton and his two dukes, Johnny Thomas and Harry Wilson, are not only good yell leaders but they are accomplished tumblers.

FOOTBALL
Varsity Football

Coach Leo Calland put a football team on the field last fall that every Idahoan was proud of, and justly so. No Idaho team ever played the game harder than the 1931 team played it, and no team ever brought the full significance of “Idaho Fights” out more clearly than that team did. From the 32 to 7 win over Whitman College in the opening game of the season to the 18 to 0 loss to the University of California in the final game of the year, Idaho fought.

When the season opened Calland had material for one good eleven and a few reserves, hardly enough for a second team of conference caliber. When it closed some of those reserves were playing first string positions, and even in the face of... a series of breaks which would have ruined the morale of more than one ball team, Idaho kept on fighting.

In the opening game of the season, Idaho scored an impressive victory over Whitman. A week later the Vandals journeyed to Portland for the conference opener, where they were defeated 9 to 0. It was a see-saw affair until Joe Lillard, Oregon's colored football star, put the game on ice for the northwest champions with a long end run which gave Oregon her lone touchdown.

Idaho's next game was with Montana and resulted in a 21 to 19 conference victory for Idaho, but the Vandals paid a big price for the victory. Fred Wilkie, fullback; Paul Taylor, end; and Emmert Davis, quarterback, all first string men, were carried off the field. It was the last game of Wilkie's college career. More than a little of the Idaho scoring punch left the team when the stocky, smashing fullback left it.

A week later Washington met Idaho in Seattle and nearly turned the game into a rout in the first half, but the Vandals came back strong in the second period to battle the Huskies on even terms.

In the homecoming game Idaho upset her traditional foe, Gonzaga, 7 to 6, after entering the game an hopeless underdog in the opinion of sports writers. W.S.C. beat Idaho 8 to 9 according to figures in the official score book, but no Idaho team looked more impressive in victory than the Vandals did that day.

Idaho closed the season in a sea of mud, holding the California Bears, runners-up for the coast title, to three touchdowns. Weight meant much in the Berkeley stadium that day, and California, with the heaviest team on the coast, had lots of difficulty in scoring 18 points.

Nineteen men were given football awards. They were: John Norby, Elmer Martin, William Bessler, Arthur Spaugy, Howard Berg, Fred Wilkie, Russell Hall, June Hanford, Paul Taylor, George Wilson, Laverne Randall, Hugh Sproat, Lloyd Sullivan, William Schutte, Max Eiden, Melvin Sackett, Willis Smith and Orville Schmitz.
Two weeks after practice opened, the Idaho grid machine ushered in the 1931 football season by running and passing its way to a 32 to 7 victory over Whitman College, Northwest Conference champions, on MacLean Field.

The two teams battled on nearly even terms for the first period, which was scoreless, but from the beginning of the second quarter the game was all Idaho's. Willis Smith, who went in at quarterback for George Wilson at that time, opened the touchdown parade when he planted his cleats in scoring turf on a long end run. The Vandal interference functioned nicely and the Whitman team was unable to stop the Idaho ball carriers. "Buddy" Applegate, Missionary triple-threat field general, was the one bright spot in the invader's offense.

The Idaho backs had little difficulty in rolling up 512 yard from scrimmage and passes while Whitman was getting 186. Most of the Idaho yardage was made on straight football, featuring end runs and power plays.

Bill Bessler was acting captain for Idaho.
The ancient "Oregon jinx" held good when Idaho invaded Portland for the annual Webfoot tilt. Rated on even terms with their opponents before the game, the Vandals came out on the short end of a 9 to 0 count.

The Vandals were on the defensive throughout most of the game, though neither team was able to gain consistently through the other's line. John Norby, defensive fullback, and Art Spaugy, center, were in on nearly every tackle, throwing the Oregon backs behind the line of scrimmage time after time. "Irish" Martin, guard, also played a great defensive game for Idaho.

Oregon scored on an end run by Joe Lillard, the "Midnight Express," who was later declared ineligible for conference competition. Two more points were added when a bad pass from center, about 18 yards from the Idaho goal line, resulted in a safety for Oregon. George Wilson, Emmert Davis and Fred Wilkie led the Vandal offensive drives.

"Irish" Martin acted as captain for Idaho.

Montana

The University of Montana felt the unleashed fury of the vengeful Vandal gridmen when the Grizzlies invaded Moscow the week following the disastrous Oregon game in Portland. Idaho rose to great heights in her 21 to 19 victory over her much heavier opponents, but it was one of the most costly victories an Idaho team ever won. Three Idaho regulars were helped off the field during the game and played no more football during the season. Fred Wilkie, fullback; Emmert Davis, quarterback; and Paul Taylor, end, were the casualties.

For three quarters Idaho slashed the powerful, hard-charging Montana line to shreds and at the beginning of the final period seemed to have the game safely tucked away by 21 to 0 margin. Three times during the fourth quarter Montana scored, falling short of a tie by the failure to make two of the conversions. Willis Smith, Fred Wilkie, and George Wilson did most of the ball carrying for Idaho, while “Irish” Martin and Art Spaugy played their usual steady game in the line. Art Spaugy was the Idaho captain.
Patched up and still bruised from the battering they received at the hands of the Montana Grizzlies the week before, Idaho invaded Seattle to go down before Jimmie Phelan's Huskies by a 38 to 7 count. For two quarters Washington ran through the Idaho team to roll up 31 points.

Willis Smith, Idaho quarterback, started a drive which found the surprised Huskies backed up under their own goal posts. An exchange of punts followed. Buse, attempting to punt from his own 10-yard line, failed to get the kick away when Lloyd Sullivan, Idaho tackle, broke through to block it and recovered for a touchdown. George Wilson converted. The Vandals played Washington to a standstill in their brilliant second-half rally, which was led by Willis Smith, George Wilson, Lloyd Sullivan and Art Spaugy. During the first half Smith brought the stands up when he took a Washington kick-off on his own 11-yard line and galloped 71 yards before a lone Husky tackler brought him down from the side.

"Irish" Martin was the Idaho captain.
Gonzaga

Scheduled to be defeated anywhere from 6 to 25 points, Idaho pulled one of the surprises of the west-coast football season by defeating Gonzaga University, which a week before had held St. Mary's to two touchdowns, by a score of 7 to 6 on MacLean Field. The game was a fitting climax to the annual homecoming week-end.

The superiority of the Idaho team is not indicated by the score, however. Calland's men rolled up 201 yards from scrimmage compared with 68 for Gonzaga and smashed through to 12 first downs against five for the Bulldogs. Willis Smith scored in the second quarter on a sustained drive from the Idaho 47-yard line. He alternated with Lee Tyrrell, fullback, at carrying the ball and went over the goal line standing up when he found a hole off tackle from the 10-yard marker. Tyrrell's placement sailed true to the mark, putting Idaho in front 7 to 0.

Gonzaga's opportunity to score came in the final period when the "Irish"

Willis Smith, running back deep into Idaho territory, tossed a pass on the first play, but it was intercepted by "Shine" McKenna, who ran down the sideline and scored without an Idaho man touching him. Frazier's kick for the extra point went wide.

Idaho received, but Gonzaga got the ball on downs and the air was full of passes traveling toward the Idaho goal line near the end of the game.

There were no stars. It was an inspired Idaho team that took the field and swept the Bulldogs off their feet for their second straight win over Gonzaga. It was the last home game for Idaho and every man who got in it gave a good account of himself. Howard Berg played one of the greatest games of his career and Lloyd Sullivan, "Irish" Martin, Max Eiden, and Art Spaugy also had a big hand in holding the Gonzaga backs to sixty-three yards from scrimmage. Willis Smith, George Wilson and Lee Tyrrell gave fans a thrill nearly every time one of them carried the ball. Big John Norby and Mel Sackett did some fine blocking and interference work for the ball carriers.

Art Spaugy was the Idaho captain.
In the most bitterly contested game of the 1931 season, Washington State, outplayed and outfought, came from behind in the last minute of play to turn an 8 to 6 defeat into a 9 to 8 victory, when John Eubank, W.S.C. substitute, sent a placement between the uprights for the needed three points.

Willis Smith, in the longest run of the game, galloped down the sidelines for 60 yards and a touchdown, but Umpire Sam Dolan brought the ball back to the W.S.C. 11-yard line, claiming the Vandal quarterback had stepped out of bounds.

Washington State scored in the first period. Soon afterward, Wilson, who started at quarter for Idaho, dashed around right end, reversed his field and cut down the left sideline for 40 yards and a touchdown. Score, 6 to 6. A short while later Laverne Randall kicked out of bounds on the W.S.C. 11-yard line. Lloyd Sullivan smeared the W.S.C. kick, but the Cougars recovered the ball behind their line, giving Idaho two more points.

“Irish” Martin was captain of the game for Idaho.
Leo Calland’s plucky Vandals went down fighting in the final game of the season before Bill Ingram’s mighty Golden Bear machine in Berkeley. The score was 18 to 0. Playing in mud three inches deep, the light Vandals were no match for the heaviest team in the coast circuit. The Bears took advantage of the breaks to convert two Idaho fumbles into scores.

Smith was the individual ground gainer for both teams with 116 yards marked up to his credit. Once he broke away for a 45-yard run but was stopped on the California 11-yard run. There the Bears held and halted an 83-yard Idaho drive which started on the Vandal six-yard line.

Six Idaho senior lettermen wound up their gridiron careers in the Berkeley stadium. They were “Irish” Martin, Bill Bessler, Howard Berg, Fred Wilkie, Art Spaugy, and Hugh Sproat. Thirteen lettermen will return next fall for what should be one of Idaho’s best grid seasons.

“Irish” Martin was the Idaho captain in the final conference game.

BASKETBALL
Varsity Basketball

Idaho opened the 1931-1932 basketball season in a two-game series with the strong Ellensburg Normal team on the home floor. Both games were fast and exciting. The Teachers rallied in the closing minutes to take the opener 36 to 28, but a fighting Vandal team came back the second night to earn a 28 to 22 decision. Both games were featured by the brilliant shooting of Nelson, Vandal forward, who scored twenty-four points in the two games.

Following the games with Ellensburg Coach "Rich" Fox took the Vandals on a barnstorming trip during the Christmas holidays and won four out of five games scheduled. On the first stop Idaho won and lost against Whitman at Walla Walla. The first game ended 43 to 30 for the Vandals, but the Missionaries took the second game by the same margin. The final score was 44 to 31. Two weeks later Whitman visited Moscow. The Vandals hit a fast pace from the start and settled the issue by running up a 59 to 25 score to win the series.

The second stop on the tour was at Missoula. The initial game proved to be a thriller after Idaho had piled up a 24 to 4 count at the half. The Grizzlies spurted in the second period but the final gun stopped the game when Idaho was leading 41 to 39. The Vandals had little trouble winning the second game 44 to 27. When Montana played Idaho the third time it was on the Idaho floor and a furious offense gave the Vandals the third straight. The score was 49 to 22.

Idaho opened the conference season in two spectacular battles with the University of Oregon on the home floor. Both games were close, hard-fought battles which had the spectators on edge throughout. The Vandals took an early lead in the opener which they did not lose during the entire game, although Oregon was within one point of tying the score many times. At half time the score was 11 to 10 in favor of Idaho. Wicks, Vandal guard, was the outstanding scorer with eleven points. The final score of the game was 31 to 26.

The second game of the series was even more exciting than the first. The score changed hands several times during the game and was in doubt until the final gun ended the battle. Oregon had a 15 to 13 lead at the half. With but two minutes left to play the score was tied at twenty-seven points each, but two quick goals by Oregon put the Webfoots in front in the final seconds of play. The score was 33 to 29. Grenier, Idaho center, led the scoring with fourteen points to his credit. Both games were featured by the brilliant playing of the two opposing centers.

Following the opening series, Idaho made an invasion of Oregon State and Oregon territories. The Vandals dropped both games to Oregon State by close scores. Soon after the opening whistle in the first game, Fagans and Merrill, Beaver forwards, hit a fast pace and ran up a 17 to 4 count against Idaho. The Vandal team then turned the tide and counted fourteen points for themselves while holding Oregon State to five points, and the half ended with the score 22 to 18 against Idaho. Although the game was fast and exciting from that point the Vandals were never able to cut down the Beaver lead, and the game ended with the score 33 to 31.
Led by Herman's brilliant shooting in the second game, Idaho took an early lead in the opening minutes and held it throughout the first half. The rest period found the score 16 to 13 for Idaho. Herman opened the scoring in the second half with a field goal, but the Beavers, who had been shooting wildly in the first half, found the range and ran up ten points before Idaho scored again. When it began to look like an easy victory for the Orangemen, Idaho rallied again and tied the count at 23-all. However, Oregon State tightened and ran the score to 35 to 28 when the game ended.

Idaho landed in Eugene to play the University of Oregon with an even break with the Webfeet in a two-game series, and both teams were anxious to make a sweep of the deciding series. The first game was as one-sided in favor of Oregon as the second was in favor of Idaho. Oregon jumped into an early lead in the initial game which Idaho did not threaten. The game was not a run-away affair, but the Webfeet pulled gradually ahead and at the final gun the score was 39 to 26.

The second game saw a changed Idaho team. The Vandal five did not resemble the team which had played the night before. From the opening whistle until the gun ended the game, Idaho was complete master of the Oregon team. The score which had so favored Oregon the night before was completely reversed and the Vandals ran up a 20-point lead before the game ended. The final score was 39 to 19, splitting the four-game series.

Following the trip to the coast, the Idaho team returned home for a three-game series with Washington State. Two of the games were scheduled for Pullman and one for Moscow. The Cougars were firmly imbedded in first place in the conference standings and had little trouble solving the Vandal defense. The Washington State system of blocking enabled the Cougars to run up a 48 to 33 count against Idaho in the first game of the series. Holsten and Cross, Cougar forwards, were shooting with deadly accuracy and kept the Washington State lead safe, although Idaho scored consistently.
In the second contest the Cougars again found their blocking system working to perfection and had little trouble winning 43 to 15, as their defense kept close check on the Idaho scorers. By the half Washington State had run up a 25 to 8 score and continued playing championship ball during the second period. The feature of the game was the sensational playing of McLarney, Cougar guard.

In the third meeting of the two teams Idaho showed a reversal of form to give Washington State the closest game of the year. Lacy and Herman of the Vandals played high-class basketball to give Pullman fans a thrilling game. At the opening of the game, Idaho took an early lead and succeeded in holding a 20 to 16 margin over the Cougars at the half-way mark. The Cougar defense worked brilliantly to hold Idaho to two points during the second half as the Staters scored twelve. The score at the end of the game was 28 to 22 for Washington State.

Washington State broke through the Idaho defense in the closing minutes of the last game of the series to win the fourth contest and make a clean sweep for the year. Washington State opened the scoring but the Vandals soon took the lead 21 to 15 at the half. After the second half started, Idaho gradually crawled up on the Cougars until with only two minutes to go Washington State held a 39 to 37 lead. The Staters then uncorked a strong offense which netted four field goals and one foul conversion to run the score to 48 to 37 when the game ended.

In the closest and most thrilling game of the year on the Idaho court, Oregon State College nosed out a 24 to 23 win from the Vandals in the third meeting between the teams. Idaho started the game determined to win and took an early lead as Afton Barrett found the range to the Beaver basket. The Vandals had little trouble breaking through the O.S.C. zone defense and at the half had run the score to 18 to 9. With the start of the second half it was a different story. The Orangemen gradually closed the gap until they passed the Vandals and held a 24 to 21 lead with two minutes to go. A stalling defense had Idaho helpless until Wicks slipped through for a basket. With only a few seconds to go, Grenier emerged from a scramble of men and dropped in a short shot to apparently win the game, but in the excitement the referee's whistle had not been heard and the game ended before the ball could be put into play again.

The second game of the series was another thriller with Oregon State holding a small advantage most of the way. The game ended with the score 31 to 26 for Oregon State College.

During the last trip of the year, Idaho dropped two interesting games to the University of Washington in Seattle. The scores of the games were 40 to 35 and 47 to 34. The Huskies jumped into an early lead in the opening game and apparently were in a safe lead when the Vandals started a desperate last-minute rally which quickly cut down the score. However, the lead proved to be too large and the final gun ended the rally.

The second game was almost a repetition of the first. Again Washington had a commanding lead when the Vandals, led by the fancy shooting of Wicks, started a belated comeback. With several minutes to go the score was nearly even when the Huskies started a counter-attack which again ran up the score.

Idaho opened the last series of the year by dropping a hectic game to the University of Washington 51 to 36, on the home floor. At the start of the game the Huskies rolled up ten points before the Vandals broke into the scoring column. The score steadily mounted to 19 to 4 before Idaho found the range. A rally led by Lacy and Grenier brought the score to 19 to 11 at the half. Another spurt soon after the start of the second period brought the Vandals within three points of tying the count. With the score standing 22 to 19, Washington unloosed an attack which ran wild through the Vandal defense.

The second game of the series started as a repetition of the first, but the Vandals soon rallied and the lead was never safe until shortly before the rest period. A Washington spurt put the score to 21 to 14. The Huskies kept the lead until the end of the game, although a great rally by Idaho threatened to close the gap.
Varsity Baseball

Like the track team, the Idaho baseball squad was kept indoors long after most conference schools had played their first games by weather more suited to water polo than baseball. With only half a dozen lettermen on deck, Coach Fox was faced with the big task of building a new team to face the veterans of the other northern schools. Losing an entire infield and most of last season’s pitching staff, in addition to the weather handicap, was too big an obstacle to overcome and the Idaho team finished in last place in the northern division. However, the season had its bright spots. After the first coast invasion the Vandals returned home and played steady ball, most of their losses being by fairly close margins. Coach Fox uncovered lots of new material which should keep Idaho in the running more than ever this spring.

Coach Rich Fox

Kenneth Ebert, Manager
The Vandals won four conference victories, taking one game each from the Washington champions and Washington State, the runners-up, and two games from Oregon State. The University of Oregon was the only conference school in the north not to be defeated by the Idaho batsmen.

The green and inexperienced Vandal batsmen fell before the offerings of veteran and experienced pitchers and dropped non-conference games to “Nig” Borleske’s fast Whitman crew and to the fast Booster “pro” club of Spokane. The entire squad was given a trial in these contests. These games gave the coaches their first chance to see the players in outdoor action. Errors and weak stick work were very evident in these contests, proving over-costly. One of the Whitman contests was forced to fourteen innings. The Walla Walla team finally won 3 to 2. Hayden, Johnson, Sather, and Jacobson seemed to be the only consistent hitters for the Vandal tribe. Dorothy’s flawless pitching stood out for the Whitman team.

On April 29 the Foxmen faced the conference barrier for the first time against the heavy-clubbing Oregon Webfooters in Eugene. Idaho was shut out 17 to 0 in the initial tilt and fell to the tune of 8 to 3 the next day in the second game. The weak defense of the Vandals, evidenced by many errors, gave the Oregonians the advantage. Idaho’s hits, while numerous, were kept very well scattered by the Duck pitchers. The Eugene hitters fattened their batting averages on the offerings of the Vandal twirlers. Both teams showed early season weakness.

Idaho split a two-game bill with the Oregon State Beavers May 1 and 2 at Corvallis. The first game went to the home team 14 to 3. Home runs by Brown and Ballard, and two by Grayson, swelled the Beaver total. On the afternoon of May 2 Idaho took her first win of the season by laying on everything that five O.S.C. pitchers could offer and grabbed the tilt 16 to 9. The Vandals took the lead in the fourth inning and were never headed. Corkery and Kyselka hit for the circuit, each scoring two men ahead of him. Fox’s charges capitalized on 11 Beaver errors. Daubert, the Vandal portside ace, pitched steady ball for the nine innings. Idaho cut off a Beaver rally by counting five times in the last inning.
Fox looks 'em over . . . a clean miss . . . Corkey rounding third . . . Johnson heading for the sack . . . and crossing the plate . . . foul ball . . . Schuster poles a high one . . . Lee takes a cut . . . rounding first base . . . Jacobson hits
The first two games with Washington were in Seattle, the home club taking both, the first 9 to 4 and the second 7 to 5. The high spot of the first game was Kyselka's spectacular homer late in the eighth inning. The Vandal stickmen out-slugged the Husky diamond artists in their second meeting, but the Seattle nine bunched their blows in the first and third innings for counts. Idaho tallied two runs in the sixth and two in the eighth, but was stopped with only one in the final session. The Vandal batsmen had no trouble in connecting with the slants of the Washington Moundsmen, but spectacular running catches robbed the Moscow team of winning runs in both games.

In the first of the four-game series with W.S.C. on May 11, the Cougars annexed a hard-fought game from the Vandals 8 to 6. Jacobs pitched very nice ball, going the route. Jacobson took stick honors for the day by getting a triple, a single and a double in four trips to the plate. May 12 saw the Idaho diamond artists battling W.S.C. on the home ballyard for the first time during the season. The Idaho squad put a fitting climax to the colorful May Day festivities by taking the contest 7 to 2.
Lacy and Lindsay served on the hill for the home team and Schutte backed up the plate. This was the second conference win for Idaho in seven starts.

Daubert made it two straight over Oregon State, May 15, at Moscow by taking the Beavers into camp 7 to 6. The visitors took the lead in the first half of the ninth, but the Vandal batsmen made three runs in their half of the final inning to take the game. A single, two walks, and then Hayden's long single drove in two runs to tie the score at six. A wild pitch by the Oregon State hurler, Brown, let in the winning tally. The tight defense of the Vandal nine played a big part in the victory.

Rain made it necessary to postpone the second game of the Oregon State series on the Idaho diamond until the Corvallis team journeyed to Pullman for a two-game series with W.S.C. The Orangemen evened the count at two games apiece by sending three Idaho hurlers to the showers in a hitting spree which saw them score 17 times. The Beaver pitcher had the Idaho batsmen well under control and allowed them only one run.

Idaho got off to a flying start in the third game of the Webfoot series by scoring one run in the first inning. The Webfooters tightened up, however, and took the game 7 to 1 by garnering 10 hits off the Vandals. Hayden stole the fielding show by two brilliant catches of hard line drives to deep center field.

The Vandals dropped their second home game to Oregon 13 to 12 in a diamond scrimmage that saw Idaho score nine runs in the final three frames to threaten the Ducks' huge lead. The game was filled with spasmodic slugging and ragged fielding. Oregon scored three runs in the first and second, added two in the fourth, and four in the seventh to lead 12 to 3. Fox's men came back strong in the seventh to chalk up five on heavy stick work and Webfoot errors. A pair more were added in the eighth and two in the ninth. The Oregon club tightened late in the last inning to avert an extra-session game.

Washington State took two hard games from Idaho to complete their four-game series. Idaho placed more men on the bags than the Cougars in both games, but the bunched hits by the Pullman nine spelled defeat to the Foxmen. Lindsay went the route in the first game, which ended 4 to 1. In the return game in Moscow, Bailey's stickmen took an early lead of three runs and were never headed. The final count stood 8 to 3. Sather was the outstanding distance hitter of the game with two home runs, one in the second canto and another in the fifth.

Idaho grabbed one of the last two games of the 1931 season against the University of Washington, 7 to 6, but dropped the second 6 to 5. The home team was held scoreless until the fifth in the first game, when Jack Hayden started a rally with a home run. The score was knotted in the eighth at 6-all. Johnson pulled the game out of the fire in true big-league style when he sent a long single to right field, went to second on a fly-out, to third on an error by the Washington second baseman, and streaked home when Raidy bunted for a perfect squeeze play. The final game of the season found the Seattle club putting up a grim battle with the title at stake. The Huskies took the game and the accompanying title after a hard-fought affair which ended 6 to 5. Sather’s homer, followed by Johnson’s with one on, put the Vandals out in front with three runs early in the game. However, after one bad inning, Pittman, the Husky twirler, was complete master.

The close of the 1931 baseball season left coach “Rich” Fox with a splendid nucleus of good men for the following year.

Otto K. Anderson, track coach, was handicapped by poor training weather at the beginning of the season which kept the Vandals in the cramped quarters of Lewis court long after most northwest schools had taken to the outdoor tracks, and by a small squad from which to make his selections. Nevertheless, he put one of the strongest Idaho track squads on the field in many seasons.

Idaho showed signs of potential strength in the first meet of the season, an indoor triangular event with Washington State and Whitman as the opposition, in Pullman. Idaho took six firsts to place second with fifty-eight points, while the Cougars won the meet with eighty-seven. Whitman trailed with thirteen points. Heath won the mile run in 4:37, Lemp took the 80-yard high hurdles in 10.4, Thomas won the 880 in 2:1.4, Alvord took the 75-yard low hurdles in 8.4, Heath won the two-mile run in 10:4, and McCoy tied with Ball, W.S.C., in the pole vault at 12 feet.

In three dual meets the Vandals lost only to the strong Washington State College aggregation. The showing made in the northwest meet at Seattle was far from impressive, but hard luck kept the Vandals from finishing above the Montanans whom they had previously defeated in a dual meet.

After one or two time trials on the soggy cinders of the MacLean Field oval, the Vandals journeyed to Walla Walla, where they opened the season in a dual meet with the Missionary squad. The Whitman College track was slow and kept the times of the runners below par in most events, but Idaho had little trouble in walking off with a big share of the firsts and the meet by a score of 71 to 60. The Whitmanites piled up their points in seconds and thirds, as Anderson’s small squad prevented him from entering more than one or two men in each event.

Hard luck rode with the Vandals when they embarked for Seattle and the northwest meet. Captain Chuck Heath, undoubtedly one of the premier distance men of the northwest, had influenza when the team left and failed to place. Bernard Lemp, captain-elect, failed to clear one of the sticks in the trials and did not qualify for the finals. The year before he had run second in the high hurdles to Steve Anderson, Washington Olympic champion.

Only three Idaho men placed. Bill McCoy took third in the pole vault, Johnny Thomas fourth in the half-mile, and Sigfrid Jossis fourth in the hundred-yard dash. Heath decided to run in spite of his recent illness, and took the inside of the track at the gun in the two-mile event. The long-legged Idaho veteran showed the stuff he was made of by keeping his first place position all the way until he reached the stretch, where his weakened condition began to tell. One by one other runners passed him to keep him from placing.

Whitman

Journeying to Walla Walla on April 25, a few days after the initial outdoor workout, the Vandals showed lots of potential strength by defeating Whitman College 70 to 61 in the first dual meet of the season. Idaho took ten of fifteen first places, but the Missionaries came through with enough seconds and thirds to make the meet interesting and fairly close.

Bill McCoy, Idaho sophomore, walked off with individual honors and sixteen points by taking firsts in the pole vault and javelin and seconds in the high and low hurdles. Sigfrid Jossis won the most thrilling race of the day for Idaho when he passed McGowan and Serier, Whitman, on the last turn of the 440 and hung on to his narrow lead.

Johnny Thomas won the 880 in easy fashion, stepping off the distance in 2:0.2. In the two-mile event Chuck Heath won a close race from MacKenzie in 9:59.3.

A slow track kept the time in those events out of the record class.

Lindman, Missionary weight man, broke his own Northwest record in the shot with a toss of 43 feet 6½ inches.
Washington State

In the second dual meet of the season, the strong Washington State College squad invaded Moscow and annexed an 83 to 48 victory. Idaho won only four first places. Every event was a real duel, however, and the strong Cougar team had difficulty in annexing as many points as they finally won. It was the most interesting meet of the year.

In the century Sigfrid Jossis burned up the track to win in the fast time of 9.8 and beat out Kelly, his Cougar rival, by a good five yards. Captain "Chuck" Heath and Crossetti, W.S.C., staged a great duel in the two-mile event, which Heath won in 9:36.8.

Idaho's other two firsts came in the field events, when Earl Williams won the discus and Bill McCoy won a tie for first in the pole vault. Williams' throw of 140 feet was two feet short of an Idaho record, but was good enough for an easy first place in the event. In tying with Boone, W.S.C., at 12.6 in the pole vault, McCoy established a new Idaho record.
Montana

Five records were smashed in the final meet of the season, which Idaho won from the University of Montana in Missoula by a score of 71 to 60. Three Montana records and two Idaho marks fell. The Vandal distance men were handicapped by the altitude, so no new marks were hung up in these events.

Jossis was Idaho's high point winner with firsts in the 100 and the 440. Bernard Lemp and Pete Jensen brought the two new Idaho records back from Missoula with them. Lemp skimmed the high sticks in 15.2, while Jensen tossed the shot 44 feet, 11 inches.

The only Idaho distance man to come through with a first was Johnny Thomas, who broke the tape in the half-mile event in 2:00.3. Bill McCoy and Harry Dewey shared first honors in the pole vault at 11.6.

The new Montana records were hung up by Ruth, who broad-jumped 22 feet, 5 inches; Nelson, who high-jumped 6 feet, 1½ inches; and Lockwood, who tossed the javelin 190 feet, 9 inches.
FRESHMAN SPORTS
A comparatively small group answered Coach Rich Fox's initial call for yearling football candidates, but some promising material to fill the gaps in the 1932 varsity eleven was uncovered. The Idaho Babes were able to win but one and tie one game on an unusually tough schedule, but by the end of the season a great line was developed, which Coach Calland is counting on to bolster the Vandals next fall.

The yearlings opened their schedule with Lewiston Normal on October 3. The frosh seemed unable to get started, failing to gain a first down until well along in the second quarter. The result was a 12 to 0 victory for the Teachers.

A great deal of improvement was shown in their next game with Spokane University. The losers scored in the first few minutes, but were held in check for the rest of the game. The final score was 19 to 6 in favor of the Frosh.

Bad breaks and injuries spelled defeat for the frosh in their next game with Ellensburg Normal. The Wildcats displayed a consistent and hard brand of ball to win the game, 25 to 0.

The Gonzaga Frosh defeated the Idaho Babes at Spokane 24 to 6. The game was played on fairly even terms despite the large score. Lack of scoring punch when deep in enemy territory accounted for the Babes' loss.

The yearling eleven rose to its greatest heights in the annual game with the Cougar Babes. Although they outplayed the W.S.C. Frosh almost the entire game, Idaho weakened on the last play to allow a 7 to 7 tie.

The frosh closed their season before a large crowd at Yakima on Armistice Day with Monmouth Normal School. The Oregon teachers uncorked a series of trick plays to win 26 to 7.

Those winning numerals were: Swann, McInerney, Nutting, Beatty, A. Berg, Evans, Welchko, Moser, Powers, Rich, Malmoe, Thomas, Williamson, Every, Barker, P. Berg.
A group of thirty-five players greeted Coach Glenn “Red” Jacoby’s initial call for freshman basketball the last day of November. Not foreseeing the early disorganizing of the team because of financial and scholastic reasons, the squad settled down to hard work in preparation for a tough ten-game schedule. The evening practice sessions disclosed some promising though not outstanding material.

After a month and a half of practices, the Idaho Babes tackled their first opponents, the W.S.C. yearlings, and were defeated 31 to 21. The game showed early season raggedness on both sides. In the second game played January 19 with Lewiston high school, the frosh came out on the long end of a 42 to 33 score. The last game, with the Lewiston Normal School on February 2, resulted in a 32 to 26 win for the frosh.

At the close of the first semester the squad was depleted to three members as a result of the combined attack of low scholarship and stringent financial conditions. This unforeseen occurrence was most unfortunate, for the team was just then beginning to exhibit the perfection of a well-coached group of men. Of course, Coach Jacoby was forced to cancel the three remaining games on the schedule. For the rest of the season, these three players: Ray Hilding, Victor Warner, and Junior Jones, with some players from the varsity squad, formed the Junior Varsity quintet, which entered the intramural competition in “A” league.

Although the usual numeral sweaters were not awarded, those deserving of mention who did outstanding work on the squad were: Ray Hilding, Junior Jones, Victor Warner, Ed Metzgar, Harry Sandow, George Bailey, Lewis Cox, Wayne Hampton, Gilbert Grenier, and Bill Wakeman. Of this group, Coach Jacoby considers the first three named as likely candidates for next year’s varsity team.
The 1931 yearling track squad opened the season at Pullman, meeting the Cougar Babes in a dual event on May 15. When the final points were added, it was found that 65½ points had been scored by both teams. Idaho was credited with eight first places and W.S.C. with seven. Kalbus, Idaho, was high point winner for the day, taking the 100-yard dash in 10.2 and the 220-yard dash in the fast time of 22.8. Livingston won first in the half-mile, covering the distance in 2:00.2, and was nosed out of first place in the last few yards in the mile event. Norby and Doyle, both of Idaho, tied in the shotput at 38 feet, 11 inches. Bowker won first in the javelin with a heave of 171 feet ¾ of an inch. Squance took the high hurdles in 16 seconds flat, with Bjorkland a close second. The other Idaho firsts were chalked up by Siple in the mile run, and Lackey in the high jump.

A week later the Cougar frosh came to Moscow and defeated the Idaho frosh 73 to 58. Kalbus was again high point man, winning the dashes in the same times of the previous week. Squance lowered his high hurdle run to win the event in 15.8. Bowker's best heave of 169 feet was only good for second place in the javelin. Livingston duplicated his previous performance by winning the mile run and taking second in the half-mile. Idaho's only other first was Siple's two-mile in 10:23.

On the whole, Coach Otto Anderson considers the freshman track season fairly successful. This is best proved by the great number of strong candidates that were to continue in school and greatly bolster the varsity track crew the following year. Although the freshmen did not win all of their meets, the tie score with the W.S.C. freshman track squad is very significant. This is the first time in several years that the Vandal Babes have come so near to defeating the Cougarettes on the track.

Numeral winners were: Kalbus, Squance, Livingston, Siple, Norby, Doyle, Bowker, Lackey, Bjorkland, and Wilson.
MINOR SPORTS
Idaho's tennis players had a hard job before them this spring. A long winter made early practice impossible. On the first good days, however, there was a large squad trying for positions on the team that was later to represent the University. The popularity of tennis as a minor sport has taken tremendous strides in the past few years. The courts were crowded at every available opportunity in spite of the handicap of bad weather. Meets were held with the Pullman squad. Although the Idaho racket-wielders did not win all of their matches, they held their own very well and had an even average with the players across the line at the end of the season.

The squad was made up of Martin, Sowder, Rust, Moser, Koch, Altnow, and Jockheck.

Tennis

Cross Country

The Vandal cross-country squad turned in the best performance of any of the minor sports teams this year. No meets were held this year with Washington State as in previous years. Coach Otto Anderson worked toward moulding a team for the National Amateur Athletic Union meet in Salt Lake City on Thanksgiving Day.

Anderson had a group of about a dozen men working out all fall in preparation. When the time came for the meet he had a picked team of six men to take to Salt Lake. They won the affair by overwhelming odds, every man winning a counting place at the finish. Charles Heath, veteran track star, won the race for the second consecutive year, running the three-mile course through the snow to be clocked at 18 minutes and 22 seconds. The rest of the squad in the order in which they placed were Thomas, Siple, Frederic, Livingston, and Galloway.
Boxing

Boxing aroused considerable interest on the campus this year. Lloyd Sullivan and Robert Reid coached the squad, the former acting as team captain for his third year. Several informal matches were held at various times.

Besides representing the school in several matches, the Idaho fisticuff artists engaged in several matches on amateur cards throughout the Inland Empire. Among these were exhibitions for the Spokane, Potlatch, and Lewiston athletic clubs. They also appeared numerous times at the Moscow athletic club.

The outstanding performer was Sullivan. He has held the Northwest heavyweight title for several years and formerly held the same title in the Rocky Mountain region. At the Pacific Coast amateur carnival, tryouts for the Olympics, he reached the finals in his class.

Varsity wrestling took a decided turn for the better this year and a very creditable team was produced. The grapplers were coached by Ralph Hutchinson. Daniel Lopez, last year's coach, returned to school in time for the wrestling season but was prevented by injuries from competing until late in the season.

Two meets were held with Washington State College. Idaho lost both by close margins. The first was held at Pullman and the second on the home mat. The squad also engaged in several local matches, in which they turned in outstanding performances. Later in the year Franklin, Grayot, and Lopez entered the Olympic tryouts at Portland.

The men who made up the squad were Lopez, Grayot, Lunstrum, Woodward, Carnefix, Storch, Carlson, Van Sicklin, Hammond, and Franklin.

Wrestling
Varsity swimming, in its second year as a minor sport, proved to be one of the most popular on the athletic calendar this year. There was a great deal of interest shown by the increased number of men trying out as compared to the squad of last year. It was also well received by the students, a large crowd being present whenever the aquatic stars made an appearance. This interest was largely due to the activities of the Hell Divers’ Swimming club, and the keen rivalry in intramural swimming which preceded the intercollegiate competition. Two meets were held with the paddlers from Washington State. In the first of these Idaho made a surprisingly good showing, losing only by the points netted for Pullman by their winning relay team. Those competing for Idaho were Hale, R. Blair, J. Blair, Robison, Hall, and Sweeney.

The foil and mask sport was in charge of Professor Fred C. Blanchard, who coached and directed the participants. It was sponsored by the Fencing club, of which Douglas Cruikshank is the manager.

As in former years, meets were held with Pullman. The record made in former matches with the Cougars was admirably upheld by this year’s squad. When the season was over the Idaho duelists were found to have a slight advantage over the rival fencers.

Carl von Ende and Cruikshank were the only veterans on the squad. They continued the expert competition by which they earned places on the team last season. They were closely followed by two newcomers, Robert Harris and Casper Biemfohr, who started out their first year with some outstanding performances.
Intramural Sports

INTRAMURAL SPORTS this year reached the highest peak ever known at Idaho. The competing teams representing the houses and halls on the campus were of a higher caliber, and consequently its general popularity with the students of this extensive campus activity has been greater than in previous years. Though the intramural sports program was inaugurated twelve years ago, it is just in the recent years that it has been expanded to include more than a few sports—it now includes nine.

The main purpose of the program is to give every male student in the University an opportunity to participate in some branch of athletics. In affording exercise and entertainment to players who, either through lack of sufficient time or ability, cannot compete on varsity teams, it is instrumental in teaching good sportsmanship and in building up a finer school spirit. The activity also serves to facilitate harmonious relations between the group houses.

Competition during the past year has been unusually keen in every sport. This has resulted in some very high-class performances of both individuals and of the teams. The larger portion of the credit for the great success of the year’s intramural athletic program goes to Coach Leo B. Calland, who has had general charge of the activity. Howard Berg, student manager, has also done much to contribute to the success of the games.

Intramural sport programs in colleges throughout the United States are being extended. In some schools this extension is accomplished at the expense of intercollegiate competition. But at Idaho Coach Calland, as director, has not lessened either the range or the quality of the varsity teams. When Calland came to Idaho a few years ago, one of his purposes was to develop a real and thorough schedule of intramural games to include the greatest possible number of men.

Increased popularity and the greatly expanded scope of the campus competition are indicative of the success of Calland’s consistent planning of such a program at the University. Considered from the individual student’s viewpoint in the matter of health and physical development, the intramural activity is of more benefit than the intercollegiate competition of a comparatively few men on the varsity teams.
Intramural basketball, always the favorite sport for the student fans, was received with even more interest this year. The final game, the winning squad, and the playing of every team in the tournament as a whole was unusually outstanding. A great deal of credit for the season’s success goes to the referees, Jack Williams and Oliver Frye, and the intramural manager, Howard Berg.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon team emerged university champions after going through a 7-game B league schedule undefeated, and winning from Delta Tau Delta, title-holders in A league, in the final game. Kappa Sigma, with a percentage of .714, was runner-up in A league. Phi Delta Theta was the other outstanding team, which was undefeated until the final game with S.A.E. for the B league title.

The Idaho Coaches team, and the Junior Varsity, a team composed of members of the freshman and varsity squads, participated in the tournament, although their records were not considered in the final standing. The Delt victory in A league marks their second consecutive win. S.A.E. has skipped a year since turning out a championship team.

The final game between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta was by far the most interesting of the season. The S.A.E. five grabbed the lead at the start and held the Delts to a 12 to 9 count at the half. The third stanza started out roughly, both teams fouling frequently. Although the guarding was close, the score rolled up to 11-all a few minutes before the final whistle. In the last two minutes, the winners sank three field goals to put the game on ice. The final score was 28 to 21.

The referees selected the following all-star teams: First team— forwards, Swanson, Kappa Sig, and Willis, Phi Delt; center, John Norby, S.A.E.; guards, Justice, Delt, and Taylor, S.A.E. Second team selections were— forwards, Rust, Delt, and Barker, Sigma Nu; center, Spaugy, Phi Delt; guards, Wilson, Phi Delt, and Jones Kappa Sig. Third team— forwards, Jacoby, S.A.E., and Kleiner, Delta Chi; center, Adams, Sigma Chi; guards, Davis, A.T.O., and Burke, Delt.
Idaho's renewed sports program was started with much more than the usual spirit and interest last fall. An extremely close competition in volleyball, the first sport to claim the attention of group athletes, gave the year's campus athletic program a real send-off. After some keen competition, Lambda Chi Alpha, defending champions, came out ahead in A league, while Phi Delta Theta won the B league title. In the match for the University championship the A league winners had little difficulty in winning from Phi Delta Theta by scores of 15 to 6 and 15 to 8 in two straight games. Lambda Chi Alpha stepped into the lead for the 1931-32 cup by virtue of winning the first championship of the year. Phi Delta Theta moved into the championship bracket by defeating Sigma Alpha Epsilon 15 to 6 and 15 to 13.

Interest in cross country was higher this year than ever before, as nearly 70 runners reported for the initial training call under "Chuck" Heath and Johnny Thomas, varsity distance runners. In the final run, Don Griffith, representing Lambda Chi Alpha, broke the tape first in the two and one-half mile event in the fast time of 13 minutes, 31 seconds. Four others crossed the finish line less than a minute behind the winner. Bob Blair, Kappa Sigma; Bruce Groves, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Wilbur Winward, L.D.S. Seminary, each finished under 14 minutes in the order named. The Kappa Sigma team easily won first place with a total of 54 points. Lindley Hall, Lambda Chi Alpha, L.D.S. Seminary, and Tau Kappa Epsilon placed in order.
Indoor baseball, the first major sport on the intramural program, commenced January 14 on a single elimination basis. After three weeks of the keenest competition, Alpha Tau Omega emerged as university champions, defeating Sigma Chi, B league title winners, 8 to 7 in the final game. In the semi-finals, A.T.O. defeated Delta Chi for the A league championship, while Sigma Chi nosed out Phi Delta Theta 9 to 8 for the title in B league.

Heavy stick work and air-tight fielding in the majority of the games made them exceptionally interesting for the large crowds of spectators. Indoor baseball is usually one of the most popular sports on the intramural calendar, and each year there is much pre-season rivalry concerning the winner of this event. But this year the indoor baseball tournament was the closest and most interesting that has been held for that crown in several years.
Swimming, a major sport on the intramural program, had the usual close competition this year, with over one hundred men participating in the various events. The groups were divided into two leagues, with a separate meet for each. Swimmers who placed first or second in any event qualified to enter the final meet for the university championship.

In A league, the Phi Gamma Delta tankmen walked away with the title by rolling up a total of 39 points. The winners took four first places and a liberal share of the seconds and thirds. Kappa Sigma placed second with 28 points, and Beta Theta Pi trailed in third with 4.

Phi Delta Theta ran up a total of 23 points to win the B league title. Lindley Hall was close behind with 18, and Alpha Tau Omega placed third with 11.

In the final meet for the university championship, Phi Gamma Delta nosed out Kappa Sigma 29 to 26. Phi Delta Theta and Lindley Hall followed in third place with 7 points each.

In the tennis tournament, which was held early in May, Sowder, representing Sigma Alpha Epsilon, defeated Bjorkland, Phi Delta Theta, by scores of 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 to annex the university championship. The sixteen group houses were divided into the usual A and B leagues, with the winners in each playing for the title. Bjorkland defeated Wishart, Lindley Hall, in the finals for A league championship, while Sowder defeated Ennis, Sigma Nu, in the B league finals. Fifty points in the intramural standing went to the league winners, with an additional twenty-five points being awarded to S.A.E., university titleholders.
Golf

Last year marked the second year of competition in intramural golf. The tournament was held on the local nine-hole golf links. The four low scores of men from each house were counted in determining the team standings. Phi Delta Theta’s team, consisting of Willis, O’Brien, Tanner, and Irwin, came in first with a low total of 170 strokes. The Fiji team, last year’s champions, placed second with a score of 193. Alpha Tau Omega third with 198, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fourth with 201. Several high-class individual performances were turned in, notably Willis, who rounded the course in 37 strokes, two over par for the nine holes; Menard, Phi Gam, who turned in a score of 40, and O’Brien, Phi Delt, and Petzoldt, Kappa Sig, with 41 strokes each. One hundred points were awarded Phi Delta Theta, the winners, in the standings of the intramural competition.

In the intramural track meet held in May, Phi Gamma Delta, for the second consecutive year, smothered all opposition, taking eight out of fifteen first places, besides a share of seconds and thirds, to roll up a total of 53 points. Kappa Sigma trailed in second place with 29 points, Lindley Hall third with 24, and Phi Delta Theta fourth with 10. Willis Smith, Phi Gam, was again high point man with two first places, a fourth, and a berth on the winning relay team. Bowler and Aukett, Phi Gam, and Fogle, Kappa Sig, tied for second place honors with two first places each. Many outstanding performances were displayed in both track and field events, and some likely candidates, who were later to prove of much value to the varsity squad, were discovered.
W O M E N
The 1931 Gem of the Mountains contains a statement by the Dean of Women expressing admiration for the efforts and accomplishments of the young women of the University for that year.

Another year has almost passed into history and it is with interest that the following paragraph from that issue is re-stated: "Altogether it would seem that the women now ready to leave the University have in their accomplishments much to be proud of and those remaining have a fine example of what may still be accomplished."

It is difficult now to disassociate the young women of the class of 1932 from those of 1931, so splendidly have they carried on. It would seem that there has been a splendid effort to test the power of organization and to demonstrate the effect of capable self-direction. This has been a trying year, because of economic conditions and it may be observed that a large share of the discomfort, discontent, and inactivity that could have resulted has been limited, if not entirely dissipated. Praise for that accomplishment is due the entire student body.

A long-to-be-remembered year is passing, marked by a fine spirit of co-operation and of an attitude that has made for a more perfect understanding between faculty and students, and between students.

There is plenty of inspiration for still better things that shall be done by those who follow. The way has been made clear by those who have gone, and by those who are going.

Permeal J. French.
The women of the University of Idaho are organized in a body known as the Associated Women Students. The purpose of this organization is, first, to offer an opportunity for friendly, helpful fellowship among the women of the University. To develop a feeling of mutual responsibility and a high regard for both liberty and order is another purpose of the organization. This group, with Miss Permeal French as the faculty advisor, makes and enforces the rules for women on the campus. A high social standard is at all times maintained.

Building a spirit of unity and loyalty toward the University is at all times encouraged. Students are familiarized with all phases of University life and encouraged to take an interest and active part in it. This co-operation with other students in school life is at all times urged.

This year the officers are: Joan Harris, President; Elizabeth Taylor Dick, Vice President; Dahrl Bockwitz, Secretary; Louise Morley, Treasurer; and Bertha Moore, Yell Queen.

The Council members are: Teresa Connaughton, Elsa Eisinger, Irene Luke, Catherine O'Brien, Dorothy Lindsey, Marion Fry, Maude Galloway, Pearl Walters, Margaret Scott, Ruth Cook, and Mae Belle Donaldson.
The Co-ed Prom, man-less spree of the Idaho women, is an annual event of the Idaho campus, sponsored by the Home Economics Club. It provides an opportunity for Idaho women to get together and enjoy themselves at an exclusively feminine party. The women come in costume, prepared for a grand time.

The Prom was held this year on November 14 in the Women’s Gymnasium. Dancing, the principal entertainment of the evening, was interrupted at frequent intervals by loud screams when masquerading males were discovered. These enterprising individuals were made to realize that their presence was exceedingly unnecessary and were not only urgently requested to leave, but were somewhat roughly and very firmly led to the nearest door. After the women had danced a while, the various women’s houses presented entertaining stunts.

The Grand March was an entertaining feature of the evening. Animals, gypsies, fairies, Indians, and clowns passed in review while the judges picked out the best and most original costume. Austa White won first prize as a demure old-fashioned lady; Miss Mabel Locke came second dressed as Ghandi; and Jeanette Wines placed third, costumed quite simply in a night gown. The judges of both the stunts and costumes were Mrs. M. G. Neale, Mrs. E. J. Iddings, and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek.

Austa White, Chairman
The Big Sister Movement, since it was first started in 1925, has proved to be one of the most successful and valuable institutions on the Idaho campus. The plan was instituted to form a more informal relationship with new girls coming to Idaho. Through it, new girls are made to feel as though they are not complete strangers when they first come to the University. The A.W.S. Council and Dean French select the chairman.

As each new girl sends her name to the registrar she is assigned a Big Sister. Both of the girls are informed of the new relationship and as soon as possible the older one writes to her Little Sister. Quite an extensive correspondence often springs up from this informal beginning. Through it, the new girl is enabled to receive answers to all of her questions about college—those important, personal questions that cannot be answered in a general catalogue. Sometimes the girls exchange pictures and become very real friends so that they look forward eagerly to meeting.

Last fall Austa White was the Big Sister chairman. The captains who assisted her were: Elsie Lafferty, Gertrude Denney, Betty Bell, Bertha Moore, LaVernon Thomas, Katherine Mikkelson, Grace Raphael, Dorothy Janssen, Georgia Thomas, Louise Morley, and Lois Thompson.
May Fete

The history of Idaho, beautifully told by dances typifying the various stages of the state’s development, featured the twenty-second annual May Fete. Kathryn West, crowned queen of the May, with her attendants—Florence Laing as page and Pearl Walters as flower girl—seemed essentially a part of the springtime festival, as did also the procession of senior women, the tapping by Mortar Board and Silver Lance, and the presentation of the W.A.A. honor cup.

Beginning with the coming of the Indians, then the fur-traders and the missionaries, the state’s history led to the development of the industries. Dances were given to depict the mining industry, cattle-raising and dairying industries, and the sheep-raising industry. A harvester’s dance and the dance of the Idaho potato were used to picture agriculture, and the wood nymphs introduced forestry.

“East Meets West,” or the coming of the railroad, was the next important step in the development, shown by the train dance. The admission to statehood and the crowning of the state was followed by the coming of irrigation. Where there was once only barren land, trees began to grow, flowers sprang up, and birds and bees appeared. In an array of colors, groups of dancers pictured the rainbow and sunset.

The May Fete was supervised by Mrs. Florence Richardson Goff.
The Women’s Athletic Association is an organization which offers opportunity to all women in the University to participate in and enjoy all types of athletic activities. Special emphasis is laid on those individual sports which may be continued in after-school life, such as golf, tennis, swimming, hiking, horseback-riding, and winter sports.

Points are given for participation in the various sports and the girls that do the best in each sport are rewarded by an additional number of points. In this way every girl has a chance to prove her ability and at the same time receive recognition for her efforts. Membership in the organization is obtained by earning one hundred points. An “I” sweater is awarded for earning eight hundred points.

W.A.A. sponsors several annual projects in addition to the athletic program. Taps and Terpsichore is a dance recital presented in the spring of each year. It takes some special idea for its theme and carries it out by various types of dances. Part of the proceeds are used to send delegates to the women’s national athletic conventions, and part is saved to be used in the introduction and maintenance of a W.A.A. office. Another project is the high school play day.

At the end of the year the entire season is closed with a general sports banquet at which time awards are given.
The “I” Women

The “I” Women, twelve in number, represent a group who have done outstanding work in W.A.A. To earn an “I” sweater is the secret ambition of every member of W.A.A. Earning eight hundred points, four hundred of which have been received from teams on major sports, makes a W.A.A. member eligible for this group. This sounds like a very large number at first, but in reality, when one considers the many ways in which points may be earned, it is not an unattainable goal for any ambitious young woman. Keeping a health chart, hiking, volleyball, baseball, basketball, rifle, winter sports, tennis, horseshoes, horseback riding, clock golf, and swimming are some of the sports which afford opportunity for winning points. One hundred points are given to each member of a first major sports team, and fifty points are given members of second teams.

Some women have found it so fascinating to go out for sports that after their number of points has exceeded the required number for an “I” sweater, they begin working for a higher award. Eighteen hundred points are required for the “I” blanket. Eva Skinner received her blanket this year.

Baseball is becoming very popular among the women students. The 1931 season proved to be a successful one, due to the large turnout, and the increased interest in the game.

There were six games scheduled and played. The freshman team won the championship, although they met with stiff competition, especially in the senior team. Members of the winning team were: Helen Peterson, Aretha Harvey, Claudine Wakefield, Ruth Kehrer, Dorothy Green, Mary Louise Green, Lorna McCain, Helen Thornhill, Elizabeth Vincent.

An improvement which helped a great deal in stimulating interest in baseball last year was the new field across from the Memorial Gymnasium. It was constructed especially for women’s outdoor sports.

Volleyball proved to be one of the most popular sports last November when 122 enthusiasts turned out for practices. After five weeks of practice and instruction, class teams were chosen, and the plan of holding an inter-class tournament, introduced two years ago, was followed. A schedule provided for games to be played between the various class teams. The freshmen won again this year in the final inter-class game against the sophomores on the evening of the banquet.

The members of the winning team were: Ellen Frazier, captain; Juanita Bennett, Betty Gabby, Esther Hunt, Betty Obermeyer, and Eunice Ruddell.

All women who had turned out eight times, the required number of practices, were placed on teams. There was one first team for each class with two substitutes for each, besides a large number of second teams. Helen Thornhill is manager.
Rifle Team

This year has been busier than ever for the Idaho Women's Rifle Team. During the early part of the season, the members of the team organized themselves into the Women's Rifle Club. The following officers were elected: Ruth Kehrer, president; Elsa Eisinger, vice president; and Winifred Himes, secretary-treasurer. The team felt that by thus organizing, a better acquaintance and closer friendship would be established.

Soon the Women's Rifle Club petitioned the National Rifle Association for membership in that organization. The petition was granted and in due time the club received its charter of recognition and became a member. This enabled them to shoot in the matches which the National Rifle Association conducts.

The Idaho Women's Rifle Team won thirteen of their matches and lost nine.

Basketball

Basketball is one of the most popular of women's sports, and during the 1931-32 season 120 women turned out for practice. There were five freshmen teams, three junior teams, two sophomore teams, and one senior team.

The class tournaments were held from February 8 to 25. The freshmen won the championship after a hard battle with the sophomores. The players who were members of the winning team were: Marjory MacVean, Vaye Miller, Rose Broemling, Evelyn Peterson, Ellen Frazier, and Mae Pugh.

An all-star team was picked at the end of the season by Miss Mabel Locke, instructor, Frances DuSault, basketball manager, and the captains of each class team. The all-star team was made up of: Ellen Frazier, Mae Pugh, Betty Trimble, Rhoda Swayne, Marie Rosenau, and Grace Warren.

This year has been busier than ever for the Idaho Women's Rifle Team. During the early part of the season, the members of the team organized themselves into the Women's Rifle Club. The following officers were elected: Ruth Kehrer, president; Elsa Eisinger, vice president; and Winifred Himes, secretary-treasurer. More competition than usual was shown in the tennis ladder tournament last spring and the single elimination tournament this fall. A large number of women turned out, showing that the game held its usual popularity. W.A.A. gives ten points to each woman entering the contest and the winners of higher honors are given points accordingly.

Shirley Cunningham won the singles tournament in the spring and Ruth Kehrer and Lorna McCain won the doubles tournament. Linn Cowgill and Marian Mulkey were the highest in the fall single elimination contest.

Women interested in tennis have an excellent opportunity to learn the game in the early spring when instructions are given in the gymnasium before weather permits outdoor playing. Rules of the game and correct strokes are taught.

Last winter saw the dawn of a new activity for women of the Idaho campus. It goes under the name of Winter Sports and includes everything from skiing and tobogganing to snow fighting.

For some unknown reason, perhaps because of the unusually large amount of snow in Moscow this winter, the officers of W.A.A. put their heads together and announced that playing in the snow was no longer a purposeless activity to be indulged in merely for the joy of doing it. In addition to the pleasure she attains from it, the girl who coasts and skis and plays fox and geese, now also receives points for W.A.A.—seventy-five points for sixty hours.
Horseshoes

The grounds directly behind the Women’s gymnasium, known as the horseshoe court, became a popular place last September. Even attempts of the elements to make it lose its popularity failed, for rainy days as well as sunshiny days found long lines of would-be champions awaiting their turns to try their luck at pitching.

The horseshoe tournament furnished occasion for a good deal of enthusiasm and friendly rivalry. Last year’s tournament plan was used, in which the group houses competed with each other, rather than having inter-class competition. Two girls from each group, who made the highest individual scores, represented their group. The cup, awarded as a trophy to the winning team, again went to Forney Hall. Marie Rosenau and Margaret McComb composed the Forney Hall team.

Swimming is rapidly becoming one of the most popular sports for women. Interest has been stimulated in various ways. The swimming classes are both enjoyable and instructive because they include water games and stunts as well as lessons to improve form. Life-saving instruction is given during the open hours by the life guards. Miss Katherine Rae Hall, a full-time faculty member, is in charge.

A swimming meet is sponsored by W.A.A. every year. The 1931 swimming meet was held March 27. There were twenty-five participants. The events held consisted of strokes and dives for form, free-style races and life-saving demonstrations. The highest number of points in the meet were won by Lorna McCain, Katherine Thoms, and Grace Nichols.

An efficient business staff is as necessary as an efficient editorial staff, and Philip Cornell and Clive Johnson have conducted this side of the publication in a very creditable manner. Under the direction of Melvin Stewart and Paul Miller, this year’s editorial staff has established a new record in the portrayal of campus activities. While the responsibility for the production of The Gem lies in the hands of only a few people, the combined efforts of the whole staff really make it a success.

THE IDAHO BLUE BUCKET was begun under the sponsorship of the English Club as "a humor and literary magazine." With this objective in view, this year's staff has tried to revive its early purpose of advancement of original literary composition among students. Through their work they have given a new and higher standard to this magazine, placing it among the major publications on the campus.
The Idaho Engineer is a technical journal published by the Associated Engineers and the Associated Miners of the University of Idaho. This magazine is representative of all persons in the field of engineering. It records all campus news dealing with student engineers, and gives an account of the activities of Idaho's alumni. This magazine also contains information regarding the profession of engineering. The Idaho Engineer is published in December and May of each year.

THE IDAHO LAW JOURNAL is the official publication of the College of Law of the University of Idaho. It is published in November, January, March and June. The Editorial Board is composed of the law faculty, twenty-two representative lawyers appointed by the bar commissioners at the request of the law faculty, and honor students in the law school. This is the second year of publication of The Idaho Law Journal.

GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS

Under the supervision of Paul Miller, The Gem of the Mountains for 1933 should attain a new standard of excellence. Miller has been an active member of The Gem staff for three years and is well acquainted with the problems of yearbook production. With his already valuable experience with The Gem and his connections with various printing establishments, he has a more thorough background than is found in most incoming editors. In addition to Gem work, Miller has taken an important part in the publication of The Idaho Argonaut and Blue Bucket, and has been a member of various student committees.

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Conroy Gillespie, present managing editor of The Idaho Argonaut, succeeds to the position of editor for the year 1932-33. Gillespie needs no introduction to Idaho students. Active in journalistic and campus affairs, and with the experience of two years as managing editor, he is eminently qualified to become responsible for the editorial policy of the student newspaper for next year. In addition to the above, Gillespie has had two years' journalistic experience on several Pacific Northwest and Intermountain region newspapers.

IDAHO BLUE BUCKET

James Farris is the new editor of The Idaho Blue Bucket for the year 1932-33. Experience on The Argonaut and Gem of the Mountains, in addition to the position he has held on The Blue Bucket staff, give him valuable qualifications for this position. This year he has been chairman of the Student Relations Committee, newly formed by the A.S.U.I. This committee has been very useful in acquainting Idaho students with problems existing in other schools and with the solution of these problems. In accordance with the change in policy started by The Blue Bucket this year, Farris plans to further expand the program in next year's issues.

Development of publications at the University of Idaho has been most notable. Though the three major publications had very modest beginnings, they now occupy prominent positions in their respective fields. The Gem of the Mountains was first published in 1901 when a small appropriation was made by the administration. As the scope of activities in the University become greater, the work of giving a representative portrayal of student life has increased tremendously. In 1899 The Idaho Argonaut was first published. During the beginning years it was a small-size sheet which carried only the most meager campus news. Today The Argonaut is rated as one of the best and most thoroughly edited student newspapers on the Pacific Coast. The Idaho Blue Bucket was started only a few years ago, but it now claims a unique position among college humor publications. Mingled with the humorous material are literary productions and articles of student expression on the various problems confronting students in the colleges of the United States.
With the attainment of a group average of 4.917 last year, the Delta Delta Delta sorority is again in possession of the Mary McClintock Upham Cup. The cup was won by this house in 1929, but in 1930 was lost to the Delta Gamma sorority. Regulations regarding the award state that any group of women, the majority of whom live in the same house, reaching a higher scholastic average than any other group, shall have possession of the cup for one year. A provision in the establishment of this award by Mrs. Upham is that to gain permanent possession, it must be won for three consecutive years. In 1922 Mrs. Elizabeth Kidder Lindley started the tradition of offering a silver loving cup for high scholarship to University of Idaho women, her cup being permanently won in 1925 by Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Achieving last year the scholarship average of 4.532, highest of any of the men’s groups on the Idaho campus, the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity once more is the possessor of the Burton L. French Scholarship Cup. The cup was won by this house in 1929, but in 1930 was lost to the Delta Gamma fraternity. Regulations regarding the award state that any group of men, the majority of whom live in the same house, reaching a higher scholastic average than any other group, shall have possession of the cup for one year. A provision in the establishment of this award by Burton L. French is that to gain possession, it must be won for three consecutive years. In 1922 Phi Gamma Delta fraternity won the first cup, and Tau Kappa Epsilon also won it permanently in 1928. In offering the award, Burton L. French made eligible all men’s groups at the University of Idaho, which accommodate not less than sixty per cent of its members. Competition for this cup becomes keener every year, and it requires the winner to have a higher scholarship average each successive year.

Phi Chi Theta

On the basis of scholarship, activities and leadership, a gold key is awarded annually by Phi Chi Theta to the junior woman in the School of Business Administration who has most successfully fulfilled these requirements. Katherine Mikkelson, with a grade average of 5.882 during her junior year, was the last recipient of the key. Miss Mikkelson is being graduated this year with a major in secretarial science, having maintained a remarkable scholastic average all through school. Phi Chi Theta is a women's national honorary business fraternity.

With the enviable scholastic average during his sophomore year of 5.652, Erwin Mortimer Tomlinson of Buhl was presented with the Alpha Kappa Psi Key last year. The key is awarded annually to the man in the School of Business who makes the highest grades in his sophomore year. Alpha Kappa Psi is a men's national business honorary, maintaining ideals of scholarship and business integrity. Besides his activities in his particular field, Tomlinson is also president of the Vandaleers.
Sigma Tau

The Sigma Tau Scholarship Medal is awarded each year to the student in the School of Mines or the College of Engineering who receives the highest scholastic average during his sophomore year. Last year the winner of the medal was Eldred Alvin Rice. Rice is from Longview, Washington. He is majoring in chemical engineering, winning the award with an average of 5.528. Two years ago Robert McRae, enrolled in the School of Mines, won the award. Sigma Tau is a national engineering honorary and does much on the Idaho campus to promote scholarship among the engineering students. The strict standard of scientific excellence required for membership in Sigma Tau assures a high level of achievement for the organization and for each individual member.

Alpha Zeta

To the student in the College of Agriculture who, during his freshman year, attains the highest scholastic record, is extended the Alpha Zeta Award. Last year Charles Worth Hodgson received the honor with a grade average of 5.543. Hodgson is from Cottonwood. While his scholarship average was not as high as many that have been made in the past, his general and versatile interest and ability in the affairs of the College of Agriculture make him one of the most outstanding freshman agriculture students ever to win this award.

Alpha Zeta is a national honorary fraternity whose purpose is to promote scholarship among students majoring in agriculture. Leslie Lawton, who maintained an average of 5.594, received the award last year.
Drama
THE ARTISTIC ACHIEVEMENTS of Fred C. Blanchard in the work of drama on the campus have attracted considerable attention during his two years here. In presenting the best productions obtainable, he has elevated the University theatre to a marvelously high level. His keen judgment of acting and staging has made his interpretations precisely right. This year saw on the campus under his direction four three-act plays and two groups of one-act plays.

Coming to the University this year as acting head of the Art and Architecture Department, Paul R. Ihrig found an ideal outlet for his artistic talent in designing sets for the four major plays. Genuine genius was displayed in some of his scenes, the castle hall in "Death Takes a Holiday" receiving the highest commendation. Authenticity of design with the effective use of intense shadows and brilliant highlights made this scene particularly pleasing. All his subjects were especially noteworthy as displays of artistic beauty in combination with dramatic values.
To the Ladies

Scintillating with wit and humor, Kaufmann and Connelly’s comedy, “To the Ladies,” opened the University drama season on November 13 and 14.

Based on the fact that a wife is often the greatest reason for her husband’s success, the play transports the hero, Leonard Beebe, from a mere clerk to secretary of the president of a large piano concern—by his wife’s efforts. The ever entertaining John Thomas found an ideal vehicle for his talent in the role of Beebe. Fine support in the part of his wife, Elsie, was contributed by Catherine Brandt. Outstanding in the play was the work of Elinor Jacobs as Mrs. Kincaid, who is also discovered to be the guiding force behind her husband, John Kincaid, admirably played by Harry Robb.

The Cradle Song

The note of restful beauty in the quaint convent setting, the spiritual atmosphere of Catholic hymns, and the reserve and sureness of the acting made "The Cradle Song" an outstanding triumph.

G. Martinez-Sierra's romantic masterpiece is set entirely against a background of Spanish convent life, opening in the first act with the finding of an infant girl on the convent steps. The kindly sisters take her in; and eighteen years later, in the second act, the play ends when the child, now grown to girlhood, leaves to marry. It was a challenge to the ingenuity of both the director and actors.

Bertha Moore, as Sister Joanna of the Cross, gave a fine emotional performance. A matchless characterization was contributed by Margaret Moulton as Teresa, the naive girl raised within the convent walls. Members of the cast were: Kathryn Hart Conger, Grace Eldridge, Lucille Moore, Betty Brown, Dorothy Menzies, Naomi Randall, Elinor Jacobs, Alberta Bergh, Elizabeth Loomis, Lillian Sorenson, Raphael Gibbs, Clayne Robison, and Walter Pratt.
"Death Takes a Holiday" was presented both at the University and the Little Theatre in Spokane. The play tells the story of Death, who assumes human form. A charming love story is interwoven in the plot when Death, as Prince Sirki, falls in love with Grazia, the lovely young heroine. Impressive conceptions of these two parts by Lionel Campbell and Bertha Moore were features of the superbly-acted production.

As Duke Lambert, owner of the castle, Clayne Robison gave his best performance of the year. Naomi Randall and Dorothy Menzies contributed unusual studies as young women of contrasting types who become infatuated with the prince. Matronly roles were effectively portrayed by Catherine Brandt and Elinor Jacobs; the virile characters of Eric Fenton and Duke Lambert's son, Corrado, were admirably done by Winfred Janssen and Howard Altnow, respectively. A touch of comedy was added by Raphael Gibbs as the aged and witty Baron Cesarea. Casady Taylor was smartly military as Major Whitred of the French Foreign Legion.

A Paragraph For Lunch

A real "first night" performance was furnished Idaho with the initial presentation of "A Paragraph for Lunch," by George Milton Savage, Jr.

Specially written for an Idaho showing, the three-act farce proved to be the most riotous entertainment at the University since "Tom Cobb." Centering about the activities of Mr. and Mrs. Prouty, the play tends to present the contrasting characters of this couple. Mrs. Prouty is a social climber, while her husband is a big business man with an urge "to organize and exploit everything that comes within his touch." Mrs. Prouty invites some artists out to their summer home, and Mr. Prouty puts them to work.

Members of the cast were: Grace Eldridge, John Thomas, Raphael Gibbs, Harry Robb, Margaret Moulton, Howard Altnow, Betty Brown, Lucille Moore, Elinor Jacobs, John Milner, Marthalene Tanner, and Casady Taylor.

One-Act Plays

Four one-act plays were presented on January 15.

Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look," centering about the independence of women, was enacted by Robert Grant, Azalia Krantz, and Geraldine McCarty.

"Champagne," a play of a more serious nature, which shows the life of a poor Jewish family in a great European city, had for its cast Ethlyn O'Neal, Mrs. Emma Harris, Helen Kurdy, Lillian Sorenson, and Jean Ricker.

A thoughtful comedy, "Before Breakfast," depicts the conflict between the gentry and servant classes in England. Included in the cast were Glenn Exum, Delia Walton, John Greenway, and Nina Varian.

"Lonesome Like," a highly amusing comedy written in Lancashire dialect, tells the story of a young man who adopts a mother. Franklyn Bovey, Sara Throckmorton, Robert Herrick, and Rosamond Tenney played the various roles.
DEBATE
Debate at Idaho

THE POLICY of the Idaho debating teams has been entirely different this year. In the past the debates have been a trifle dry because little effort was made to please the audience. This year a special attempt was made to entertain.

Idaho teams in the future plan to engage in cross-question debates to accomplish this purpose. Coach A. E. Whitehead states, "There is a great deal of hedging and equivocal answering in cross-questioning, but from the standpoint of the audience it has a distinct advantage. A second important feature of the cross-question debate is that it encourages extemporaneous speaking which in my opinion is the essence of debate."

Perhaps the most interesting and surely the most unusual debate on the year's schedule was with the University of Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania team was on a trip which takes debaters to colleges all over the United States. The question was "Resolved: That congress shall enact legislation providing for the centralization of industry." The cross-questioning method was used, and since this was only the second time that cross-questioning had been used on the Idaho campus, it was received with a good deal of applause. The audience decision went to Idaho.
Varsity Debate for Men

Questions of national interest were debated by the men's varsity debate team this year. Resolved: "That wage reduction has retarded progress toward recovery from present economic depression" was the first question used. The other was, Resolved: "That Congress should enact legislation providing for the centralized control of industry."

The first debate of the season took place at Genesee, December 2. Karl Hobson and Claude Marcus upheld the affirmative on the first question against Whitman.

Joseph Filseth and Harry Angeny debated Nazarene College at Nampa, February 12, on the second question. It was a non-decision debate.

Olmstead and Martin debated the University of Oregon February 18, and won the decision. March 1 they debated the University of Washington, and were again victorious. Filseth and Angney debated the University of Montana February 24.

The latter part of March, Paris Martin and Ralph W. Olmstead went on a two weeks' tour and debated against seven Pacific coast schools.

Varsity Debate for Women

University of Idaho co-ed debaters exercised woman's prerogative—changing her mind—to great advantage once during the season. When Mildred Peterson and Jewell Leighton went to Seattle to meet the University of Washington team they found that both sides had prepared the negative side of the case. They were to debate a non-decision debate on the merit of Nevada's divorce law. "Give us two minutes and we'll be ready on the affirmative side," said the Idaho team.

The question for the first series of debates was, Resolved: "That college disciplinary measures should be the same for both men and women."

Mary Axtell and Jewell Leighton upheld the negative side at Whitman College and Washington State College, December 8 and 9; they lost both decisions. Mildred Peterson and Teresa Connaughton defeated the negative teams from Whitman and W.S.C. December 11 and 12.
A large number of freshmen were out for debate under Robert Vincent, coach. Charles Merrick, Mark Felt, and Maurice Russell debated Washington State College January 7 on, Resolved: “that the Pacific Coast Conference ought to be divided into a northern and southern league.” They won the decision.

Clifford Dobler, Robert Bennett, and Cecil Greathouse took the negative and were also victorious in the debate against W.S.C.

Virginia Bartlett, Ruth Pickett and Jane Merrick debated at Washington State College January 8, on centralized control of industry. They lost the decision. Helen Latimore, Virginia Merrick, and Margaret Smith, affirmative, won the decision in the debate here.

The intramural debate question for women was, Resolved: “That the cultural rather than the utilitarian standpoint should be emphasized.” Forney Hall and Gamma Phi Beta were winners, Alberta Bergh and Edris Coon debating for the latter, while Hallie Hansen and Carol Campbell represented Forney. In the semi-finals Delta Gamma defeated Gamma Phi Beta.

The men chose as their question, Resolved: “That the Statue of Liberty is a tombstone rather than a signpost.” Following the first rounds Delta Tau Delta, Phi Gamma Delta, L.D.S. Institute, and Kappa Sigma were in the lead.

In the semi-finals Kappa Sigma defeated Delta Tau Delta squad. The same evening Phi Gamma Delta lost to the L.D.S. Institute.
MUSIC
ANOTHER eventful and successful year for the music department has been brought to a close under the supervision of Professor Carleton S. Cummings, Director. On few campuses can be found a music faculty which will fill all the requirements Idaho's music faculty meets at the present time. Idaho music students are especially fortunate in being able to study under instructors of such genuine talent and teaching ability. Professor Cummings, before coming to Idaho two years ago, taught music and sang widely in New York, Boston, and Chicago.

In addition to Mr. Cummings, the music faculty is composed of Professor Carl Claus, Director of the University Orchestra, University String Quartet, and violin instructor; Mr. Raymond C. Miller, instructor of wind instruments and director of the Moscow High School Band; Miss Isabel Clark, instructor in piano; Miss Miriam Little, instructor in 'cello and music theory; Miss Dorothy Frederickson, instructor in voice and music theory; Miss Agnes Marie Bothne, instructor in voice and director of Treble Clef and Vandalettes; and Miss Bernice Bernard, instructor in theory and methods.

Many students from states other than Idaho are coming to the University to get the benefit of the Idaho music faculty. Their reputation has spread throughout the country.
Two years ago there drifted about the campus reports concerning a new musical organization shortly to make its debut. Few students paid more than passing attention; three months of long rehearsals came to an end, and the group was still unknown. From surrounding towns students began to hear reports of a group of Idaho students who could sing as Idaho students had never sung before. Came a day when the unheralded organization was introduced to the student body at an evening concert that jammed the auditorium—a student audience that called again and again for encores.

Thus the Vandaleers shot meteor-like into campus acclaim that recognizes and rewards genuine worth and results, be the recipient individual or organization. Shortly thereafter the Vandaleers toured southern Idaho, literally singing their way to state-wide fame.

Unique in organization, the Vandaleers are truly representative of Idaho students and their musical ability. Primarily they are a mixed chorus, nine women and eight men. Their program is a kaleidoscope of matchless group singing, solo numbers, trios, quartets, and even double quartets. Three changes of costume set off their abilities to even better advantage, and allow for feature dance and instrumental numbers indicative of their versatility.

Competition for places in the Vandaleers is keen. Enough good singers were eliminated in the last tryouts to form another complete organization. Credit for the success of the group goes to Prof. Carleton Cummings, their organizer and director. So well has he trained the group that he seldom appears on the stage. Kenneth Hensley is president and manager of the organization and Agnes Ramstedt secretary. Members are: Louise Morley, Lois Thompson, Hazel Hayner, Elizabeth Gilmore, Virginia Steward Hartman, Florence Simpson, Pauline Paterka, Helen Parrott, Agnes Ramstedt, Joan Harris, Donald Corless, Martin Rosell, Kenneth Hensley, Clifford Mullikin, Elvon Hampton, Jack Nunemaker, Erwin Tomlinson, Norval Ostroot, John Jenney. Lois Hints accompanies the group.
Pep Band

The Idaho Pep Band, under the leadership of Harry Walden, has successfully finished another school year. Probably no musical organization on the Idaho campus has won more widespread recognition. They are best known for their music at football and basketball games. This splendid reputation has not been confined to Idaho alone, but has spread up and down the coast as they travel to college centers with Vandal athletic teams. During the years 1931 and 1932 they made three trips. The first was to Portland, with the football team when they played Oregon. While in Portland they succeeded in gaining fame for the manner in which they played “The Twelfth Street Rag” at one of the theaters. Another trip was made to Pullman for the Washington State College game. Attention was again called when the Pep Band broadcast over KHQ before the Gonzaga game.

William Hawkins
The annual Pep Band show given each spring is almost a tradition at Idaho. Written, staged, and produced in musical comedy manner by the students, this show is one of the outstanding musical events of the year. This year the program was divided into four distinct groups. The first of these was selections played by the Pep Band. The second was popular arrangements played by a fifteen-piece stage orchestra. The third group was a review under the direction of Jimmy Harper, assisted by the University tumbling team. The last was a group of marches and school songs played by the Pep Band.

The other members of the Pep Band were: Trumpets, Charles McConnell, George Jullion, Charles Ratcliffe, Elburn Pierce; clarinets, Robert Nixon, Clayton Boyd, Lyle Fraley, Donald Equals, Glenn Exum, and Don Wolfe; trombones, Ray Kelley, Samuel Stone, Richard Stanton; drums, William Hawkins, also manager of the Pep Band, and Sidney Walden; altos, Harry Angney, William Wood; baritone, Peter Olson; sousaphone, Marvin Olson.
Membership in Treble Clef is one of the highest honors that a University woman can obtain, members being selected on the basis of musical ability. Under the leadership of Miss Agnes Bothne several concerts were given this year.

Members are: First sopranos, Betty Bandelin, Laura Brigham, Jean Clough, Marjorie Druding, Frances Hanley, Mary Hartley, Jessie Keeney, Ruth Johnson, June McCabe, Margaret McComb, Flora Muleahy, LaRene Richards, Rosanne Roark, Ida Mae Schofield, Grace Shawen, Margaret Shepherd, Margaret Shonts, Marjorie Talboy, Ruby Wolfe, Verona Wolff, Roberta Bean, Ruth Brody, Janet Gooding, Louise Rosecrans; second sopranos, Eva Jane Brown, Mae Belle Donaldson, Virginia Evans, Marion Fry, Mildred Meredith, Helen Moore, Cecelia Nacke, Vida Nichols-Roy, Irene Parrott, Marjorie Redfield, Edna Scott, Erna Deane Sogard, Helen Stetler, Lorraine Stewart, Elizabeth Thompson, Elizabeth Vincent, Bertha Wilburn, Marjorie Wurster, Eva Weidman, Martha Rehberg, Nona Rudge; altos, Harriet Baken, Alice Bell, Lenore Burnett, Carol Campbell, Betty Gabby, Linn Cowgill, Margrethe Kjosness, Lucile Mott, Grace Nichols, Kathryn Nicholson, Ethlyn O'Neal, Harriet Parish, Martha Shawen, Bernice Smith, Olive Tibbs, Marjorie Vandegrift, Frances Wimer, Nathelle Hartley, Elinor Lucas.

The Vandalettes is a musical organization new to the Idaho campus, organized this year under the direction of Miss Agnes Bothne.

Members are: First sopranos, Laura Brigham, Ruth Brody, first semester, and Edna Bohman, second semester; second sopranos, Edna Scott, Elizabeth Thompson; altos, Harriet Baken and Bernice Smith.
The University String Quartet is probably one of the best known and best liked of the various concert groups at Idaho. For many years they have had such a reputation, and this year is no exception. On March 20 this group presented one of the most pleasing recitals of the university year before a very appreciative and quite enthusiastic audience.

The quartet this year is made up of Professor Carl Claus, member of the music faculty and director of the orchestra, who plays first violin; Miss Helen Parrott, one of the outstanding violinists at the University and a member of the group last year, second violin; Miss Patricia Kennard, a resident of Moscow, viola; and Miss Miriam Little of the department of music faculty, who plays 'cello.

A new and interesting group that was organized on the campus this year under the direction of Professor Carleton Cummings is the Men's Quartet, made up of four freshmen. The unusual choice of the four voices from one class caused much interest and excitement. However, Professor Cummings explained that not only did these four freshmen display evidence of unusual musical possibilities, but also that by receiving the full four years' training the result would be better for the music department at Idaho and for the men themselves. His prediction is being fulfilled, for even in the first year the quartet has shown remarkable development. Likewise it has taken a rightful place in the musical program at the University.

Members in the quartet are: First tenor, Reginald Lyons; second tenor, Wayne Hampton; first bass, Paul Rust; second bass, Carl Fischer.
The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Professor Carl Claus, presented three concerts this year.

JUDGING
Idaho Judging Teams

Work carried on in connection with the judging teams is one of the most important activities of the College of Agriculture. In fact, if there is any one feature of Idaho’s well organized College of Agriculture that is more outstanding than the others, it is the excellency and general high calibre of its judging teams. Members of the College of Agriculture faculty who are directors of the various judging teams give unstintingly of their time to the training of individual team members and to the perfection of the team as a unit. The members of these teams are selected each year from those students in the practice judging classes who receive the highest grades.

At present Idaho has four teams: The Grain Judging team, which judges small seeds, and grain and forage crops; the Dairy Cattle Judging team, which judges the various breeds of dairy cattle; the Animal Husbandry Judging team, which judges hogs, beef cattle, and sheep and horses; the Dairy Products Judging team, which judges cream, butter, milk, and cheese.

Every fall the teams go to Portland to participate in the Pacific International Livestock Show in competition with teams from the University of Oregon, Washington State College, University of California, University of British Columbia, and Montana State College.

Agronomy Judging Team

Having been rated first four times in the last five years, the Agronomy team was winner over the other schools again this year. The Idaho team scored 8190 points out of a possible 9600. John Hohnhorst was high point man of the contest, making 2840 points out of a possible 3200. Professor Harold W. Hulbert coached the team.
In competition with Dairy Products teams from the University of Oregon, Washington State College, University of British Columbia, University of California, and Montana State College, the University of Idaho placed second. University of California won first, five points ahead of Idaho. Wilbert McLean won further honors for Idaho, by scoring the highest number of points in the contest. McLean is a junior from Muscatine, Iowa. He has a very good record in the judging of dairy products, on which team he has had a position each year since coming to the University. The team was coached by Donald R. Theophilus, associate professor in dairy husbandry.

The Animal Husbandry Judging team was coached by Professor C. W. Hickman of the animal husbandry department. As a team, Idaho ranked first in the show, making 4268 points out of a possible 5000. Two firsts were taken, one in judging hogs and one in judging sheep. In beef cattle, Idaho placed second, and took third in judging horses. Joseph Heward was high point man on the team, and second in the contest. He scored 899 out of a possible 1000. Heward, a senior from Grace, has been a member of Idaho judging teams for four years. His record this year is very high and indicates the steady progress he has made. Arthur Middleton placed third with 870 points.
Dairy Cattle Judging Team

This year the Dairy Cattle Judging team, coached by Theodore R. Warren, placed third in competition with the other teams. Seconds were taken in judging Jersey, Holstein and Guernsey breeds and a third in judging Ayrshire breeds. Out of a possible 4800 points, Idaho scored 3761. Irwin Slater, junior, was high man, ranking third in the contest in number of points made. He placed second in judging Jerseys and fourth in Holsteins. John Freis was third in judging Guernseys, and Ernest Palmer ranked fourth in judging Jerseys.

Idaho has a high standard of achievement to live up to each year, having acquired many trophies and medals in the past. Competition for places is keen, and students and instructors cooperate in a careful preparation each fall for the show at Portland, since the Pacific International Livestock Show is one of the most important agricultural exhibits held in the United States.

The experience the students of the College of Agriculture get in their work on the judging teams has a very high transfer value for them in practically any line of agricultural pursuit they may choose to follow after they graduate. Many graduates openly attribute their success to a knowledge of the fine points obtained in learning to judge and correctly evaluate the various animals and agricultural products which are studied by the teams.

Competition for positions on the teams is very keen, for a great number of students turn out for the teams in every division. Names of team members who are to compete in the Pacific International Livestock Show, held at Portland each fall, are announced just a few days before they leave for the show.
MILITARY
Idaho’s Military Leader

The University of Idaho is particularly fortunate in having Brigadier General E. R. Chrisman as head of the Military department. The excellent rating which the Reserve Officers Training Corps has received for the past several years is largely due to the persistent and conscientious efforts of General Chrisman.

General Chrisman’s war experience includes the Sioux Indian campaign of 1890, the Spanish-American War, the Philippine insurrection, and commandant of the United States forces in Porto Rico during the World War. Also during his services in Porto Rico he served as military governor of the territory. With such a wealth of experience and such great leadership ability there is no doubt as to why the Idaho R.O.T.C. unit is considered one of the best in the country.

This is General Chrisman’s twentieth year on the Idaho campus. Besides his great accomplishments in the Military department, his interest in student activities has been equally great. It was through his efforts that the first national fraternities were brought to the Idaho campus. He introduced Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military organization; he is an honorary member of Blue Key, national service fraternity; he is a member of the University Academic Council; and also a member of the Discipline committee. In 1923 he was made chairman of the faculty committee on student organizations, in which position he has served ever since.

His laudable efforts and accomplishments have and always will make General Chrisman one of the best known and most beloved men of Idaho.
Reserve Officers Training Corps

Captain H. L. Henkle, Infantry D.O.L., came to the University of Idaho in 1930. He is in charge of the junior class in military instruction and drill. During his first year at Idaho he was coach of the Men's Rifle team.

Captain W. A. Hale, Infantry D.O.L., is instructing his first year at the University of Idaho. He has charge of the sophomore class. Captain Hale coached the Men's Rifle team which placed among the leaders throughout the country.

Lieutenant J. W. Sheehy, Infantry D.O.L., was transferred to the University in 1929. A graduate of West Point, he is well qualified in the instructional training of the basic students of military. Lieutenant Sheehy is also the Women's Rifle team coach.

Lonie Woods, staff sergeant, is in charge of all military equipment issued in the armory. Sergeant Woods during his years at Idaho has become quite a personality among the cadets.

Frank Barnum, staff sergeant, has charge of the clerical work of the Military department. Sergeant Barnum also assists in the field drill, and is assistant coach of the rifle team.

Military Band

Bandmaster and Instructor - - - Bernt Neilsen
Cadet Drum Major - - - Stanley Jepsen

The Military band of this year is again one of the best bands in the West. Furnishing music for military parades, athletic contests, and at the graduation ceremonies, the band has become an important factor on the campus. For fifteen years, Bandmaster Bernt Neilsen, retired army band leader, has developed and directed Idaho bands to leadership in the field of military music. Another feature of the cadet band is the annual band concert given in the university auditorium, in which militant and classical music is played.

The band is made up of approximately fifty-five pieces, and its members are for the most part freshmen and sophomores. Underclassmen may choose military band in preference to basic drill if they have the necessary qualifications. Stanley Jepsen was chosen for the entire year as the Cadet Drum Major.
In his first year as coach of the Men's Rifle team, Captain Hale developed a group of riflemen that have surpassed all previous Idaho teams in target marksmanship. Winning thirty intercollegiate matches and losing but eight, Idaho placed among the leaders in national rifle competition. Franklin Tussing led this year's team in scoring points, followed by Donald Griffith, Victor Baumgartner, and Vernon Nelson. Other members of the team are Thomas Neilson, Ambrose Adams, Max Yost, Arthur Davidson, Robert Ames, Russell Betts, Arnold Moen, Arthur Ladd, John Prichard, Charles Brown, and Alex Morgan.
The Idaho unit of the R.O.T.C. established an excellent record at Fort George Wright during last summer's camp. The University of Idaho placed first in rifle marksmanship and second in pistol. This high score in rifle marksmanship won for them the Sam S. Cohen trophy. In addition to this Ambrose Adams and Harold Doty, both from Idaho, were picked as the two best rifle shots of the camp and later competed in the National Rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Each year it is the custom to pick the most outstanding cadet, basing the selection on his attitude and activities during the period of camp. Ambrose Adams was chosen. Winfred Janssen, also from Idaho, won the camp golf tournament.

With these achievements in the various events the University of Idaho out-ranked by far all other schools in camp competition. R.O.T.C. units from other schools present were Washington State, Montana, and Montana State.

Thirty-eight of the seventy-nine students at Camp Wright were from Idaho. Members of the regular Idaho military staff who were also at camp were Lieutenant J. W. Sheehy and Sergeant F. Barnum. Lieutenant Sheehy was platoon leader and Sergeant Barnum was the company's first sergeant.
The Senior Ball was the first prominent social event of this year. It was given at the Elks' Temple, Friday night, December 4. The grand march was led by Charles Cheney, class president, and Cecil Sanders, general chairman.

The programs were of black celluloid. The hall was exquisite in black and silver, and the effect produced was one of a forest at night with futuristic Christmas trees hedging in the dancers and stars twinkling above. A novel program of entertainment was presented by Camille Harris and Charles Helm, who did an Argentine specialty dance.

The decoration committee was composed of Warren McDaniel, Thomas Neilson, Chud Wendle, LaVernon Thomas, Helen Benson, and Bernard Lemp. The programs were selected by Jay Kendrick, Betty Bell, and Jack Lee. Invitations were issued by Austa White and Jean Tedford. Lois Thompson, Helen Hanson, and Katherine Mikkelson arranged the entertainment. Finances were in charge of Donald Equals, Robert Grant, and Charles Heath.

The patrons and patronesses included: Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, Miss Permeal J. French, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Masterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Calland.
The Military Ball was given on Saturday night, March 4, at the Elks' Temple. The grand march was led by General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, followed by Colonel and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford.

A military and patriotic scheme of decoration was portrayed through the use of a colorful and realistic mock battlefield. The programs were in perfect taste with the formal military tone. They were of heavy black suede.

Credit for this year's success goes to Ambrose Adams, general chairman, and the members of his committees. The choice of the programs was made by Thomas Neilson. Kenneth Dyer planned the intricate scheme of decoration and supervised the execution of these plans. The orchestra was hired by John Morgan, and Stanton Hale was responsible for the excellent entertainment.

Keith Talley played a marimbaphone solo. A novel skit was enacted by David Morgan and Laurence Bellinger.

The patrons and patronesses were: General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, President and Mrs. M. G. Neale, Colonel and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Captain and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, Captain and Mrs. William A. Hale, and Lieutenant and Mrs. John Sheehy.
On February 12, at the Blue Bucket Inn, a new tradition was created by the “I” men. This was the annual coronation of their choice for queen at the “I” Club Mixer. Betty Merriam was chosen queen.

Patrons and patronesses were Dean Permeal J. French, Coach and Mrs. Leo B. Calland, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Otto K. Anderson, and Professor and Mrs. C. W. Chenoweth.

Jack Hayden and John Thomas arranged a clever program for the dance, consisting of vaudeville skits and musical selections. A vocal solo was given by Katherine Brandt, accompanied by Claire Gale. The Phi Delt Trio sang three numbers. Jimmy Harper and two of his pupils gave dances.

Elmer Martin was general chairman for the St. Valentine’s dance; Jack Lee was master of ceremonies; and Alvin Jacobson handled the publicity.
Spinster Skip

The annual Spinster Skip, given by Mortar Board, was held February 13 at the Blue Bucket Inn. An innovation this year was the selection of Arthur Spaugy as “Campus King.”

The programs, featuring the coronation of the king, carried out the Valentine scheme of decoration, with large red hearts in a block cut on the front cover.

Lois Thompson was general chairman. Committees for the Skip consisted of: Programs, Bess Louise Hogg; orchestra, Joan Harris.

Patrons and patronesses were Dean Permeal J. French, honorary member of Mortar Board; Dr. and Mrs. George Morey Miller, and Dean and Mrs. Thomas S. Kerr.
Balloons, serpentine, bright lights, noise-makers, and the Junior Cabaret to top off that hectic and hilarious week of perfect enjoyment left nothing undone in the way of celebrating Junior Week. The Blue Bucket Inn was filled to capacity with student merry-makers on the evening of Saturday, April 16, to conclude the week’s festivities of the assembly, parade, and prom with the proper spirit.

The Bucket was transformed into a cabaret of a true style by James Flynn and his committee on decorations. Balloons and bright-colored lights were suspended from the ceiling, and serpentine and noise-makers were on hand to add to the gayety and atmosphere. George Morey Miller, Jr., chairman of the tables committee, made arrangements for reservations. A program arranged in cabaret style was presented during intermission.

Robert Harris was general chairman for the cabaret. Winifred Schoonmaker and Catherine Brandt secured the entertainment. Others on the committees were: Rex Dyer, music, and Ellen Jack, patrons.

The list of guests for patrons and patronesses included: Dean Permeal J. French, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barton, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, and Professor and Mrs. I. N. Carter.
The annual Junior Prom given on Friday, April 15, at the Elks' Temple was the crowning event of all the festivities of Junior Week. The function was formal, as is the usual custom.

Japanese lanterns in various hues characteristic of the Orient gave a dim and enchanting atmosphere to the hall. The programs were made of white Japanese silk and decorated in the University colors.

Winfred Janssen, general chairman of the Prom, appointed a staff of twenty-five capable members to aid Albert Pence, chairman of the decoration committee. The chairman of the entertainment committee was Joseph Gilgan. Marthalene Tanner and her committee chose the programs. Ray Davidson was in charge of the hall and music. The decorations committee was divided into three divisions headed by Grace Eldridge, Kathleen Keener, and George Funke.

Patrons and patronesses included: Governor and Mrs. C. Ben Ross, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Vincent, President and Mrs. M. G. Neale, Miss Permeal J. French, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Masterson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Janssen, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chamberlain, and Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. G. P. Mix.
Blue Key

For the purpose of honoring their five new members, the members of Blue Key, national honorary for junior and senior men, entertained at an initiation dance at the Sigma Nu house on February 19. This dance is an annual affair and always follows the initiation which is held in the afternoon. During intermission the initiates, Melvin Stewart, Arthur Spaugy, Conroy Gillespie, Robert Harris, and Winfred Janssen, provided the entertainment by presenting a stunt.

Soft lights made the interior of the house very effective so that no decorations were needed. Ray Kelley and William Hawkins were in charge of the dance, assisted by the other members, as there were no special committees appointed.

Members of the faculty invited as patrons and patronesses were General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Buchanan, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Janssen.

Scabbard and Blade

Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary, entertained with a formal dinner dance. The affair was given in honor of Colonel Pillow, administrative inspection officer of the ninth corps area.

The affair was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Moscow on the evening of April 28. A delectable dinner was served the guests at 6:30 o'clock, after which dancing was the diversion of the evening. Beautiful spring flowers decorated the room. Dance programs were appropriate to the occasion.

Thirty-six members of Scabbard and Blade with their guests were in attendance. Patrons and patronesses included: General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Colonel and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Captain and Mrs. W. A. Hale, Captain and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, and Lieutenant and Mrs. John Sheehy.

Thomas Neilson was chairman, assisted by Kenneth Dyer and Jack Morgan.
Interfraternity Council

A pow-wow council meeting was held by the Interfraternity Council on the evening of March 9 at the Sigma Nu house. The dance programs, of a mottled maroon and lavender color, pictured Indians dancing around the fire at a council pow-wow. Sheepskins with crests of fraternities and sororities hung from the walls.

Mr. Robert F. Green, Mr. Edward E. Poulton, Mr. Harold Boyer, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barton, and Dean and Mrs. Wm. E. Masterson were patrons and patronesses.

Don Harris was general chairman for this clever dance. His committee was Morris O'Donnel and Frank McKinley. This annual dance has long been a tradition observed by the Interfraternity Council.

Other Dances

This year various campus organizations have sponsored many clever dances. The "Ag Bawl" was held on October 17.

Intercollegiate Knights sponsored an all-college dance at the Memorial Gymnasium on October 30. Spurs sponsored a Blue Bucket dance on November 10.

The sixteenth Co-ed Prom was given on November 14. Stunts were given by all the women's groups. Forney Hall won first prize. Costume prizes were awarded.

Under streamers of pale yellow shading to orange, the Associated Engineers gave a dance on December 5. The programs were of silver and purple.

The women's gymnasium was transformed into a primeval forest when the Associated Foresters gave their dance on November 7. The Muckers' Ball of the Associated Miners was staged there on January 30. The programs were of brown fiber paper and depicted a man at the bar in early mining days.

The Sigma Nu house was the scene of the Sigma Tau formal on February 5. Guests from the Pullman chapter were present.
Mortar Board Fashion Tea

Mortar Board’s Fashion Tea, which was given for the first time on the Idaho campus March 4 at Hays Hall, proved to be a real success.

The models chosen by Mortar Board were: Virginia Lee Maguire, Elizabeth Loomis, Eileen Hale, Elaine Cash, Doris Norell, Betty Merriam, Peggy Newhouse, Ione Walters, Marjorie MacVean, Marthalene Tanner, Catherine O’Neil, Dorothy Torgeson, Grace Raphael, and Marjorie Crane.

Executive Board Dance

Following a tradition of several years’ standing the A.S.U.I. Executive Board was this year entertained at a formal dinner dance by the Washington State College Student Board of Control.

The Blue Bucket Inn ballroom was chosen by the W.S.C. Board for the scene of the affair. The dance was carried out in cabaret style, small tables being placed at intervals around the room, with the center reserved for dancing.

Class Mixers

Dean French addressed the Juniors at their first mixer held on October 21. The second Junior Mixer on November 17 had a novel entertainment of motion pictures of Idaho football games. On the following night the Sophomores gave a mixer.

John Thomas was in charge of the entertainment for the third Junior Mixer of February 5. Hollis Neveux was the chairman for the Freshman Glee on May 6.

Clayne Robison was in charge of the second Sophomore class dance on April 19, and James Kalbus was chairman of the frolic.

THE IDAHO STUDENT CHAPTER of the American Society of Civil Engineers was installed at the University of Idaho in 1926. The American Society of Civil Engineering was founded in 1852 for the advancement of the engineering profession. Membership in the chapter is composed of the students registered in the civil engineering curriculum. The society maintains contact with its national organization and with practicing engineers and their problems.
The Attic Club, organized in October, 1930, and composed of students enrolled in either the Art or Architecture departments, promotes professional interest and creates a friendly spirit between the two departments. It also sponsors all art and architecture exhibits during the year, and takes charge of arrangements for the annual Art and Architecture Day.
The English Club, one of the first organizations of the campus, includes in its membership all the instructors, majors and minors in the department, as well as students who have distinguished themselves in composition, journalism, debate or dramatics. Activities of the club are directed not alone toward furthering interest in the study of English, but also toward performing special services to the University and the student body in general.
The AG Club, organized twenty-three years ago, is composed of students registered in the College of Agriculture. The purpose of the club is to sponsor the activities of its college and at the same time to bring students together in friendship and to stimulate interest in agricultural affairs. Activities sponsored each year include the Little International Livestock Show and the annual publication of The Idaho Agriculturist, agricultural journal.
THE ASSOCIATED ENGINEERS is an organization of the faculty and the students of the College of Engineering. Through a program of lectures by prominent practicing engineers whom it secures, through engineering films and other educational features which it sponsors, the organization attempts to fulfill its purpose of creating interest in engineering activities and to make possible broader understanding of engineering.
The ASSOCIATED MINERS is a club composed of students and faculty in the School of Mines. The club provides a means by which students of mining may become better acquainted with each other, and at the same time furthers the purpose of sponsoring interest in the school and the profession and of promoting features of educational value to its members. The association is affiliated with the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.
The Bench and Bar Association is a local organization, including in its members all students regularly enrolled in the College of Law. The general purpose behind the organization has to do with creating and developing among its members an ethical and professional attitude which will be of value in their chosen profession. The Bench and Bar Association was organized at Idaho in 1912 and has functioned continuously since that date.
The Home Economics Club is affiliated with the American Home Economic Association and is a member of the Idaho State Federation of Women’s Clubs. All women who are enrolled in the Home Economics Department are members of the organization. The aims include the promotion of friendship and the creation of interest in home economics work. Among its functions are the sponsoring of the Co-ed Prom, and the maintenance of several fifty dollar loans for women.

The "I" Club is an organization whose members are selected from men of the University who have been officially awarded a letter for participation in major intercollegiate athletics. It was formed as a medium of meeting for all athletes, to aid in keeping Idaho's athletics clean, and to build up the athletic activity of the University. Included in its activities are functions of a service and social nature.
THE KAPPA PHI CLUB is composed of women students of the University who are members of, or who express a preference for the Methodist Church. The organization was founded in 1916 at Kansas University. Tau Chapter at Idaho was installed in 1928. The aim of the club is: Every Methodist woman in the University world today a leader in the church tomorrow.

THE WESLEY FOUNDATION is the organization through which Methodist Episcopal students of the University do their work in the church. Religious and social life is provided in various recreations, such as dramatics, music, bible study, and devotion. Four hundred students of the University are affiliated with the church. The Rev. J. Edgar Purdy is sponsor of the club.

SIGMA DELTA Pi is a national Spanish honorary, the Idaho chapter of which was established in 1926. Membership is limited to upperclassmen who are Spanish majors having an average of “B” in all Spanish courses. The purpose of Sigma Delta Pi is to champion the promotion of a live interest in the language, literature, and culture of Spanish-speaking lands. The spirit of the organization is indicated by its motto, “Let us go forward under the inspiration of Spain.”
The Episcopal Club is an organization of students of the University who belong to the Episcopal denomination. The purpose of the organization is to serve wherever possible special student needs. The local organization is affiliated with the National Student Council, which includes in its functions the creating of a world-wide interest in religion and religious problems, particularly as they affect university students.
THE ATHLETIC MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION was organized in May, 1928. The purpose of this organization is to bring together all athletic managers into a working unit, so that they may assist each other during the seasons of the various sports; to facilitate the handling of games, and to aid the coaches and the Graduate Manager.

GOINGS ON ABOUT THE CAMPUS
A SCRATCH PAD OF EVENTS NOT WORTH WHILE

[THIS LISTING COVERS ANY DAY OF THE YEAR]

THE ATROCITIES
[UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED, IT IS ASSUMED THAT THE CURTAINS WILL PART, A LA BEERAN. THE MIDWEEK MATINÈE WILL BE GIVEN THE RAZZBERRY AS PER USUAL—]

PLAYS

THE POULTONS OF IDAHO—Bethel Packenham, and humor, in a play about Ed and Bethel just before they became the Brownings and were trying to count the duplications of wedding presents.

BRIEF MOMENT—Taken from the lives of great lovers of the campus who pause between classes to whisper a few words of love.

COUNSELLOR AT LAW or (DODGING HIS CREDITORS) —The story of Bob Brown as a lawyer trying to cash in in order to please his creditors.

THE GOOD COMPANIONS—A story concerning lime rickey, gin, and the Junior Cabaret.

MORNING BECOMES MIDNIGHT WAR—Concerning the trial and tribulations of the rook corps.

PAYMENT DEFERRED—The story of a college boy trying to talk Bursar Stanton out of paying back board.

WONDER BOY—The story of a Kampus Kut-Up. The wonder of it is that he is allowed to live.

REUNION IN MOSCOW—The return of the South Idaho Special, when love comes into its own again.

THE LEFT BANK—The story of a departed student and a worthless check that lingers on.

THE WAY BACK HOME—The self-rendering story of the Alpha Chi who walked back.

YOU FUNNY THING—Not love, life, or grades but an identograph of a frosh.

THE STREETS OF MOSCOW—All right if you don’t have to walk them without a date.

THE SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL—The old standby, a bull-fest in the Chi Alpha house.

BEHIND THE NAME—A story of what really goes on though a couple signs out to go to church.

MAKING THE GRADE—The story of a polished gentleman, who has just been subjected to a friendly chat in the interests of furthering the house average. (Prominent parts played by members of the D.G.’s and B.T.P.)

MOTION PICTURES

AROUND THE BLOCK IN EIGHTY MINUTES—Played by any collegiate couple. (Campus performances continuous in Spring.)

MONKEY BUSINESS—Starring the Frosh Brothers, who claim to be funny, since they are in the best of spirits—mostly the half-pint variety.

STRICTLY DISHONORABLE—This movie of speakeasy life as practised by two cheaters, which produces a gale of results.

PLAYING THE PONIES—A high-grade story, if there ever was one.

SOUS LES TOITS DE PARIS—A natural, touching ($2 seat) story, that will prove a revival of prosperity with such touches.

SUSAN MALCOLM: HER FALL AND RISE—The heroine blames it all on a carelessly thrown banana peel; but the hero, Ralph by name, puts the little gal on her feet once more.

SPRING—The theme is that Spring is just around the corner; but the weather bureau records seem to indicate that Prosperity is just around the corner, too.
ART
MODERN—An exhibition of the latest etchings as done on the tablecloth by Housemanager Ballif, who believes in the depression.
AMERICAN—These etchings are on the same background, and are done by some of the big "I"ou men of the campus.
IBREAKADEBOTT!!—Presented by the Maya society at the christening.
BAR THE BENCH—A sporting print of the Ag-Lawyer game.
FRENCH—These works of art are a recent outgrowth of a group not usually associated with the art world—a bullfist.
BEAUTY AND THE BEASTS—A morality picture depicting a co-ed being tempted by the Beasts, of which it is said, "They Satisfy."

MUSIC RECITALS
JOHN BULL—Voice and lots of it. (Ag. Barns.)
TREMBLE CLEF CLUB—Their initial appearance of the year.
THE SCANDALEERS—Special effects created by the Dean of Women.
BRIDGE RHAPSODY—Special choral effects by the Kibitzers.
MOANIN' LOW—An enterprising young pianist plays a remarkable game of golf, assisted by the Orofino Band.

OPERA
I.K.—RAGANBLUENKKEE—The story of a clown, who tried to muscle in on the opera business.

WITH MUSIC
THE BAND WAGON—A grute show carried out the back door along with the cast of four Junior week celebrants who can sing—only when sober.
THE MUSIC HALLS—Unfortunately, the musical part of the production has been hauled away.
THE SONG FEST—A meeting of the lads and lasses presenting a lot of national hokum connected with the brass in song.
BELIEVE IT OR NOT—The spectacle of a music recital at which people had to be turned away for lack of space.
THE LAUGH PARADE—A version of the Junior Parade with sound effects.
ON-THE-SPOT—A delightful sketch of the funeral of one Jack (Winchell) Puhl. Best line: "I may not be able to predict Blessed Events; but I can predict some Spring Engagements."

CIVIC LIGHT OPERA COMPANY—Presented by the Sigma Chi's under the guise of a serenade. The guys are terrible.

THE LADY WITH A LAMP—The tale of a D.G. preparing to retire for the evening, written by a former A.T.O. who now has spots appearing before his eyes, or The Blind.

DANCE RECITAL—Saps and Verysickore, or American Rapsodyguys will-let-you-in, thus lending a speakeasy effect.

VAUDEVILLE—Featuring Johnny Thomas and Howard Altnow in a monologue by Thomas.

FOR CHILDREN—An official A.S.U.I. production.

AFTER-THEATRE ENTERTAINMENT
Better Dress, but Not Obligatory

MOSCOW PARK CASINO—Song and dance by any couple who have gotten to the stage where they call it love.

CLUB DE MUSIC HALL—The scene of many smokers of Hays and Forney Hall.

CLUB RICHMAN—Where you will find some gal trying to make good.

NATURE CLUBS—You'll have to find the various ha-cha-cha dives for yourself; but two of the established and well-known places are the Old Arboretum and the New Arboretum.

THE CAMPUS CLUB—Wrestling is featured.

IN THE AIR

SPRING FEVER—A leading favorite of the present season (C.B.S.)

CAMPUS DAY—We wouldn't Robb you of the pleasure of listening to this broadcast.

U. OF I. AG. BROADCAST—Mark, my word, this brings one close to home.

SPORTS

BOXING—The resounding blows originate from the Arboretum.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL—Idaho discovers a new draw-back in the person of Gail.

INDOOR SPORTS—Through the efforts of such men as Lacy, this sport has been driven into a corner.

OTHER EVENTS

TROMANHAUSER LAUNDRY—Specializing in washing collegiate cords.

AUCTIONS—One Ford to Summercamp in.

FIRST EDITIONS—AND LAST—Junior Parades based on Ballyhoo and Hooey.
Progressive Dinner of Associated Ushers

It was in the spring when the ushers convened in the beautiful city of Moscow to enjoy the flowers and mountains and to bask in the sun. It was a very delightful sight to see them all dressed in white marching down the city streets—it reminded one of the Kansas City street cleaners' parade. Then came the night of the progressive dinner. At the shot of the gun they came from various houses, cracks, and corners of the campus—Hays Hall was the starting point. The way they stormed in was just like the night the Sigs came up—only the girls were expecting the ushers. After a couple of cocktails and a few highballs everyone sang, “Here We Have Idaho,” and the ushers were off for Forney. Here also it seems the girls were expecting them and were all dressed up. After much pushing and shoving they all got to meet the boys and everyone was happy until the ushers had to leave for the Gamma Phi Beta house.

The Gamma Phis had sent the freshmen out for the evening so all the members could have a good time. Dorothy Lindsey danced between courses and there was much clapping of the hands, which greatly annoyed the Chi Alpha Pis next door. But all good things must end, so the ushers, waving their hands, were off for the Theta house. The Kappa Sigs were all out in front trying to cause the boys some embarrassment and one of the more devilish ones even stopped off at the Kappa Sig house for a few minutes. But he reached the Theta house in time to hear about the wedding that had taken place there a few weeks before. It seemed that all 15 of the girls were just too thrilled over it. A few of the boys had made a mistake and got into the Nest, but Kelly Wallace went over and got them and they all had a mighty fine salad.

From there they went to the Pi Phi house. They all wanted to stop at the S.A.E. house for a hard times dance, but Stanton Hale swayed the mob and led them on—you see what comes of leaving the front door open. The Grand Duke Mitchell was much pleased now because from the Pi Phi house there was an excellent view of the A.T.O. house, and as luck would have it none of their rowdy friends were dropping in and out. The stay here, however, was short because the D.G.'s called that it was getting late and they could not keep off the Phi Deltas any longer.

As the ushers entered the D.G. house, they saw an elevated throne and Queen Merriam with her “I” pin and books seated in the middle of it. Irish Martin was over to tell them what it was all about, and to show them his watch and white jacket. The food here was not very good, but they had a nice time.

As they passed down the street toward the Alpha Chi house the Sigma Nus all rushed out onto their front porch, taking care not to stand too near the crumbling edges. There was to be no mistaking who lived in that house. This greatly provoked the Alpha Chis, who had been anxiously awaiting the arrival of the boys. The girls all decided that it would be nice to send Benny Benson and Joan Harris out to the corner to meet them, lest by mistake they should go by. As they entered the other girls all came tripping and smiling down the steps so that they might make a favorable impression on the strangers. Stan Hale was anxious to get away, so they had to leave for the Alpha Phis.

The stay here was short, too, because all the boys were so anxious to get over to the new Tri Delta house across the street. The Tri Deltas were all dancing when they arrived, but they agreed to stop and show the ushers through the house. Following this a number of the ushers proceeded to get lost, but the housemother found them, much to the chagrin of the girls.

But by now it was getting late and the boys were tired, so they all decided to go up to the Fiji chapter room and smoke cigarettes and eat apples.
In Appreciation

The Gem of 1932 is deeply indebted to the following friends for the splendid cooperation they have given in assisting in its production:

Members of The Gem staff who devoted a great amount of their time in the interest of this publication. Their enthusiasm and loyalty has been most helpful.

Mr. Ralph York of Syms-York Company and Mr. Walter Irvine of Western Engraving Company for the unusual interest manifested in making The Gem a different and more progressive yearbook.

Mr. Charles Dimond for the faithful manner in which he managed the many photographs required.

Cecil Hagen and George MacDonald for constructive advice and help they have given during the year.

Advertisers in The Gem for a continued and loyal interest in the University of Idaho.

THE FIJI'S FILL THE G. A. P.

On a certain campus there are two political parties, namely: the Alpha and the Independent. An effort was made to make everyone be Independent and vote Alpha. But the Alpha "hotshots" decided that it would lighten some of their worries about who would win the election, if they made an addition to the dear old party. Evident it was that the old machine needed "oiling." In other words, someone must fill the GAP.

So one dark night, the wise ones gathered together. The meeting dragged along; and so a desire for entertainment developed within their noble breasts. Who to go to? That was the question. Then someone thought of a form of entertainment. 'Twas the ancient and noble sport of ping-pong that they desired. Then a frantic search was started to see who held the answer to their problem. There seemed to be only one answer, the Fijis were the fair-haired boys. But 'twould be bad to be seen within the portals of the heathens. Only one answer was possible, and that was to make the noble ones of Phi Gamma Delta be truly Independent and join Alpha. Negotiations were instituted looking to the successful accomplishment of this very thing. Successful—Why the blonde-driven beastsies actually, willingly, or otherwise, signed on the dotted line. Now the yearning men of Alpha could play ping-pong and not be chided about it. And so it came about, that a love and desire for clean sport brought the addition of the Fijis to the Alpha party.

Parades

WHEN we heard of the Junior Parade on April 14, we immediately got ready for a delightful surprise. The surprise element was there, but I can't say as much for the delightful part. Perhaps the greatest shock to my senses was the float of the Kappas. These heretofore delicious creatures shattered all my faith in the gentler sex. For instance, the delectable Mardi Tanner straddling the hood of a broken-down flivver and wearing a pair of Grandma's red flannels was a cry for help. The only trouble was the fact she appeared to be beyond help of any sort. Another thing appeared to be miraculous—how these college boys do it, I simply can't understand. In that darling float concocted by the S.A.E. lads, they used the same idea that was characteristic of the majority of floats, viz., the portrayal (in the porcelain) of Crane's fixtures, but they went further—they were more daring. Upon the elevated throne (Crane's), swaying precariously in the wind, sat an S.A.E. in all the regal state possible in such a situation. In fact, he sat so well I was led to believe, perhaps falsely, he was made to occupy such a career. I was so undone I left immediately, but not before I had had one last look, and to my dying day I will remember the picture of this boy urbanely sitting there flushed with achievement.

So this is Ping Pong

NOW this is a decade noted for its startling things. This is the time when we have champions of this and champions of that. But now the latest is the champion of Ping Pong. Just what is Ping Pong? Perhaps the best definition of this game is the one our prexy, Lionel Campbell, gave. He said, "Ping Pong is a cross between tennis and squat tag." Now, that is what I call a definition. The reasons are the following: It is like tennis because it is miniature tennis, played similar and scored similar. It is like squat tag because the big "I" men have so named it. In other words, it is a sissy game, and it is a sissy game because the big athletes find they cannot play it; therefore, they renounce it—that is, by quoting of what "we girls used to do." She said, "Now, when I was a young lady we were very different. That was the era of genteel women who wore hoop skirts and played croquet." To which the co-ed to whom all this was intended replied somewhat heatedly, and, as I think, to the point, "Yeah, and who also, when they played, they rolled the hoop."

At the Theatre

DURING the intermission between the seven and nine o'clock show at the Kenworthy theatre, not so long ago, several dance acts from the student production "Taps and Terpsichore" were given, much to the amusement of the audience. The acts, themselves, were not supposed to cause laughter, but somehow or other the dancers misinterpreted their act. They interpreted it to such an extent that their performance caused gales of merriment to take the audience (nautically speaking) from stem to stern. A dance (supposedly Spanish by nature) was so unfortunate as to get horribly garbled. One of the young ladies became so fussed she actually shivered as she nervously whispered to one of her partners, "Oh dear, I'm all unhinged." Her partner glared at her fiercely and hissed, "All unhinged, hell. The whole door is gone."

Genteel Ladies

AS PART of our program to further the idea the younger generation is all right, we are ready to publish this news item. The scene of the action took place in a housemother's suite in one of the campus sororities. The housemother was reading the riot act to one of her co-eds. At length she resorted to the age-old custom—that is, by quoting of what "we girls used to do." She said, "Now, when I was a young lady we were very different. That was the era of genteel women who wore hoop skirts and played croquet." To which the co-ed to whom all this was intended replied somewhat heatedly, and, as I think, to the point, "Yeah, and who also, when they played, they rolled the hoop."
Modern Bathrooms
For a Modern Age

As striking in its way as the progress of aviation is the last decade's progress in living comfort. Seeing the new plumbing fixtures at Crane Exhibit Rooms, compact and graceful, you almost forget that they belong to the same species as the old claw-footed clumsy baths of your childhood. Admiring one of the new colorful Crane bathrooms, skillfully arranged by your architect, you will find it hard to believe that this is the same ugly room that once was hidden away at the end of a second floor hall. The extra property value that Crane materials bring is a revelation, too. In the interest of your parent's home, and the house you will some day build, you owe it to yourself to visit the Crane Exhibit Rooms, to learn about these new fixtures, and to inquire about the plan under which they can be bought on easy monthly payments.

IT ALWAYS IS

At the city of Moscow, it was in the spring;
At 9 o'clock you heard the curfew ring.
But picnic fever was in the air,
It was hard to tell what the students would dare.

At the sorority houses they searched for a date,
Who they got was up to fate.

Who will go on a picnic, they asked,
No need to worry, I have no flask.

Not I, the Fresh soon replied;
I can't, the Sophomore quickly lied.

The Junior couldn't, she was going steady,
Besides, she had been on a picnic already.

I will gladly go, the Senior said,
But then the boys got up and fled.

No one will go, it now is said,
Since first the boys were filled with dread.

Medium height, freckled; when the red of his head meets the blue of a certain Gamma Phi Beta’s eyes, the sorority’s porch is graced with another of Idaho’s great lovers. His line includes debating, bits of law, orating extemporaneously, and occasionally making terrifying gestures in the midst of a speech. Periodically his life has been polluted by politics, with the result that he is president of the senior class. He holds the key to the situation in his own house, as well as a Blue Key. “Red” has seen service in the R.O.T.C., and is a member of the military honorary, Scabbard and Blade. When he wants to be impressive, a pipe may be seen protruding from his mouth; though it is rumored that the breaking-in process was a rather depressing one. But such is love; and a man will even smoke a pipe for the fair one.

STAN HALE

TALL, blonde, flash of the maple court, the king fish of the amphibians, the czar of the Intercollegiate Knights, co-ed fusher de luxe, and the Fiji type personified. In 1928 he was just a tow-headed lad flooded with a terrific ambition to be a walking trophy ease of campus buttons. In that year he got his first badge of honor—the Fiji Owl. Since then his rise has been phenomenal.

The secret of it all, I haven’t been told by his best friends, lies in oil. Nevertheless, he has risen to the heights, attaining the inner circle of that select group known as the big shots. Perhaps he first gained prominence by his unflagging efforts at stabilizing the position of the Alpha Chi Omega house. Once this was accomplished the rest was easy. Blue Key and Silver Lance took him mainly because of his unassuming manner and winning ways.

Coincidentally, co-education is a great advancement in higher learning, especially in giving experience to women-haters (Paris Martin, who is a co-ed eradicator).

I-Queen says the Delta Gammas have stood the test for scholarship, poise and personality, Kappas for originality in parade presentations and Alpha Phis for musical melodies. (I-Queen is a D.G.)

Lionel Campbell claims the Phi Bete key is the greatest insignia of past achievements by brilliant knowledge seekers and what the Phi Bete key will unlock in the future is nobody's business. (Mr. Campbell is a Phi Bete and wears a key.)

Linn Cowgill is a strong advocate of the 50-50 plan since she is a mighty senior and must have her last flare at flirtation. (Miss Cowgill is a member of the Political Pulls and is deeply interested in the Sister Welfare Society.)

Stan Hale gives us the up and up on how to get by—no work or worry as long as you have smooth oil at your disposal and a way of using it—even the Business School can be conquered. (Mr. Hale is a B.S. Business Graduate of the U. of I.)

Johnny Thomas says there is nothing like a good old rally to stimulate the vocal chords and to give the beloved public a break. (Johnny is yell duke and is a slave to his public.)

Elsie Lafferty and co-sister, Lorna McCain, are writing and swimming their way to fame, respectively. Elsie says some one must keep up the activities of a sorority. (Elsie and Lorna are members of Pi Phi and are loyal to their sixteen sisters.)

Irish Martin says only one man can handle the A.S.U.I. presidential chair. After handling the Junior Parade Irish feels confident that he could solve any of the intricacies of the Poisonous Politics. (Mr. Martin is a candidate for A.S.U.I. President on the Independent ticket.) Three cheers and a bottle of beer for Martin!

Paul Edward Jones, rumored to be Idaho's soldier par excellence, is, I am not told by anyone in particular, the most enthusiastic, and, one might say, the most willing rooker of the University of Idaho Reserve Officers' Training Corps. It is believed that the fellow really enjoys the experience—he lives with it. Consistency—well, I should say! Right on through his senior year. All comes to him who procrastinates.

Carl Frederick Jockheck says it is just one blamed thing after another—a horseshoe, woman, or else. It is true that Fred does have a lot of difficulties, but perhaps his greatest enigmas are not women. Yet, he is rated as one of the most engaging and successful of the better type campus fuzzers. More power to him—he doesn't need it.

JOE WOODS

The beauty boy. Unsurpassed, par excellent in any of the better sports of heftin'. Familiarly known as "Doc" and the world's worst woman fancier. Good nature gleams from the tip of his chin to the top of his head—instead of getting a haircut he gets his oil changed. We understand he is still looking for the hidden qua'rt. His great success lies in his personal tact. A student of anatomy, he has long since found out that "brown-eyed babies" are in demand. The intimate and long friendship with his erstwhile running mate, the famous Ken Jones, has caused a certain polish to emanate (lacking in the vicissitudes of femme luster).

TALL, dark, handsome and good gedunker. Entered the U. of I. as frosh (not being capable of entering as any higher classman) and immediately roped in by a damsel in disguise. Since then was called the Squaw Man. Didn't see much of him till he was left here as a Squawless Man, then came into existence again. Gave girls a break and got to be a big activity man—especially when he wore the big black coat—bear, I think. That helped his popularity, then bang!!! and into the limelight. Big notice in local paper—Tom makes good at last, after striving for three years. Made chairman of Junior Week and then his name was mentioned in the circles around the bithrotones. Everyone was anxious about his success, but they needn't have worried. He was successful. Of course, all great men make mistakes, and one of his was letting his co-workers carry out Ballyhoo Idea. But after the parade was over things were peaceful until he made his big hit while explaining to the Dean about the Cabaret. Won her over and tired him so that we'll probably see no more of him till next winter when the poor boy again bursts forth in the coat. We'll hope for the best.
JOY! And here's something in the line of romance. Two love birds in actual life portray the hero and the heroine in the play “Death Takes a Holiday.” The play as enacted was good, particularly the scenes between the hero, Death (Mr. Lionel Campbell) and the heroine, Grazia (Miss Bertha Moore). One could just see the passion ebbing between the two, suppressed, of course, to fit the fastidious taste of Director Blanchard. Nevertheless, the whole play was excellent, in spite of my suspicions of certain garden scenes which were not shown to the audience. The plot is about Death, who, bored with the life of being passionless, decides to take a holiday and visit the earth as one of those creatures, humans. In this play he picked upon a college as his stage and selected the president of the student body as his ego. Wanting somebody congenial, he also annexed the president’s best girl to be his love. The whole play moves along with the assistance of a very nice mask (made by the Home Ec department) and several Greeks. The best part of the whole drama was the trip to Spokane and her best hotel, aided by superior write-ups by the Spokane papers.

In my interview with Mr. Lionel Campbell, he said that he enjoyed this part more than any he had acted previously. The reason (quote) “It gave my soul a chance to transcend the mere mortality of Man, to soar to ethereal heights, I have not experienced either as a mortal or a Gamma Phi house papa.”

DO YOU KNOW THIS MAN?

LOOK well. He should be around somewhere. He wears clothes, and clothes, and clothes. Hangs them on a large, tall and sturdy frame. Frame is surmounted with a Vortex, Vertex, or Nektex collar-ad type of neck—so full, round and appealing. Atop the neck is the face with its Grecian characteristics, and other things which a good face should have. All is capped by a swanky, nifty and altogether stunning (should we say hat?) done in the very latest manner and worn at the cockiest of angles. Has scads of mazuma which he freely scatters about among his friends, foes and others. He just has to scatter, you know. Drives a palpitating motor car of the vintage of here and now.

Now the things that follow are not the women. The females steer clear of the handsome and affluent gent. Surely there must be something wrong with this story.

There is—at Idaho we don't have any like this. At least, not any of the so shy, timid and declining females.

THE GREAT QUESTION

The fleeting year of 1932 will go down as the year of the greatest of the Inquisitions. Who? What? When? Where? Why? and How? Not only who's got it, but most significant of all—who's "carrying" it? Several people, with no one in particular, seemed to be responsible for the scientific maneuvering which proved after a period of "cultural" progress that at least some seventeen students were "carrying." What? Bugs.

Seventeen was such a congenial number of victims to lock up in one building. Family life was very good, except for the fact that the men were divided for the purpose of having inter-group gargling, etc., contests. Group social activities were almost nil. Men schemed in divers ways to get invitations to the women's houses, but with indifferent success. Food was good, but the gargle tablets were more potent than food and other things—they made a piece of steak taste no different than a salad wafer.

Anyway, after indeterminate sentences of from five to eight days when the "banal flingitis" mania had subsided and all the inmates had missed all or part of their first semester finals, they were released to again take their places in the merry round of campus festivities—thankful, but shunned.
