for years this phrase has brought happy memories to the minds of Idaho graduates...memories of scholastic, social, and athletic thrills which come only once. The yearbook has a definite purpose to fulfill, the permanent recording of these events of the school year. The aim of this Gem of the Mountains is to present as lasting and complete record of the events of this school year as possible.
Progress . . . the password at Idaho this year. New buildings, enlarged enrollment, advanced curricula, these facts exemplify progress. Such advancement must be directed by a capable, interested leader. To the work and leadership of President Mervin Gordon Neale, the factors responsible for Idaho’s progress, we dedicate this Gem of the Mountains.

Mervin Gordon Neale
President of the University
This is the seventh statement that I have written for the Gem of the Mountains. Since it will be the last, I may be forgiven if I say a few words about student life at the University of Idaho.

When I first came to the institution, I heard a great deal about the Idaho spirit and the friendly atmosphere that existed on the campus. I thought that perhaps these early statements represented a kind of institutional folk-lore and that in actual practice I would find conditions on the Idaho campus very much the same as at other universities. My belief after seven years is that in loyalty to the institution under all conditions and circumstances, and in doing their part to make the University better from year to year, the students of the University of Idaho exemplify a spirit which I never expect to see surpassed.

Just now the University of Idaho, along with most of the other state universities in the country, is confronted with the difficult problem of providing buildings and other facilities to take care of increased enrollment and to recover from the serious effects of economies practiced during the depression years. In spite of lack of means to do immediately what needs to be done at the University, I have no doubt but that the people of this state will, in the not far distant future, give the University of Idaho the buildings, the means to secure and hold faculty members, and the means to encourage research which will make the University of Idaho into a really great University.

The Idaho spirit and the friendly atmosphere on the Idaho campus are among the greatest assets of the University, and if they continue to exist, will hasten the day when the University will be supported by the state in such a manner that its full possibilities may be realized.

I have enjoyed being at the University of Idaho more than I can say, and hope to carry with me always something of the Idaho spirit.

Sincerely yours,
M. G. NEALE, President.
Approval of the private financing for construction of a football stadium, golf course, club house, men's dormitory, student union building, and library addition has been the work of the board of regents.

Members of the board are President Mrs. A. A. Steele, Parma; Jerome J. Day, Wallace; J. F. Jenny, Cottonwood; Clency St. Clair, Idaho Falls; Asher B. Wilson, Twin Falls; and an ex-officio member, who is state superintendent of public instruction, John W. Condie of Boise.

Managing a library that contains more than 100,000 volumes must be much more pleasant for M. Belle Sweet, now that the plans have definitely been made and the contract let for the building of a $110,000 wing.

Besides Librarian Sweet, who is a University of Illinois graduate, the administrative officers are Registrar Ella L. Olesen, who attended the University of Idaho; Bursar Frank Stanton, who was graduated from Duke University; Oren A. Fitzgerald, university editor and holder of a master of arts degree from Idaho; R. W. Lind, University of Colorado man, who superintends buildings and grounds; and Idaho Graduate "Bob" Greene, proctor of men.
College of Law

By keeping his curriculum in accordance with the changes in state and national law, Dean Pendleton Howard has maintained a high standard for the College of Law.

His interest in changing legislation has led him to write a group of articles appearing in national magazines.

Fifty students have been enrolled in the senior Law College. From other divisions this curriculum draws students who have enrolled in some law courses.

Dean Howard, who has his Ph.D. in Public Law and Jurisprudence from Columbia University, says that he most admires the Idaho campus for its democratic spirit.

Graduate School

Charles W. Hungerford, who has been with the University of Idaho since 1909, earned his Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin. He is dean of the rapidly-developing Graduate School. At present there are 150 students enrolled in his school working for their masters degrees in arts and the various sciences.

In the future Dean Hungerford hopes to have sufficient facilities and teaching personnel to warrant the granting of doctorate degrees at the University of Idaho.

He is very interested in plants and, as a hobby collected nearly 200 varieties of bearded irises. At present Doctor Hungerford is western vice president of the American Iris Society.
Dean of Women

Dr. Evelyn Miller, dean of women, came to the University of Idaho in September, 1936. Already her outstanding personality and interest have made her one of the most popular members of the administration board.

Through her many experiences, Dr. Miller has decided that the thing she most likes to do is to travel; she has been in many parts of the world. At Idaho she is impressed by the prevailing spirit of friendliness on the campus.

Dean Miller is truly a capable woman, having received her B.A. and M.A. degrees at Stanford University and her Ph.D. "sheepskin" at Columbia. Her laurels include the insignia of Phi Beta Kappa and Cardinal Key.

School of Forestry

Dean Dwight S. Jeffers of the School of Forestry has added to the School a camp that will be initiated this summer on the Moscow Mountain experimental tract.

By blending the benefits of this novel feature with those of the regular curriculum Dean Jeffers hopes to bring the School of Forestry to the point where it will render the highest possible service in training men of Idaho as prospective foresters of the state and nation.

Among the 343 men enrolled in this school are nine research students.

Most outstanding feature of the campus to Doctor Jeffers, a Yale University graduate, is its spirit of friendship.
Jay Glover Eldridge, dean of the university faculty, was once the one and only dean at Idaho, directing all the departments at that time. During his deanship he devised the present system of grading and the recording system used by the Registrar of the university.

At Yale, Dean Eldridge received his Ph.D. degree, as well as his B.A. and M.A. degrees.

Having been in continuous, uninterrupted service longer than any other member of the present faculty, Dean Eldridge has been impressed by the growth in size and reputation of the University of Idaho during his 36 years as an active member of the faculty. He is the head of the foreign languages department.

Junior College

Further expansion of the "guidance program," whereby an instructor devotes part of his time to orient those students doing unsatisfactory work in the Junior College, is the aim of Dean Thomas S. Kerr.

"Inaugurated this year, the guidance program showed remarkable results in improving the work of poorer students," said Dean Kerr. "Next year we expect to expand the program still further." Dean Kerr, who received his LL.B. degree from the University of Michigan, joined the Idaho faculty in 1924, became dean of the Junior College in 1929, and this year has managed the largest enrollment of any division in the university—700 students.
School of Education

A training school for teachers in public school art—a curriculum comparable to the courses in music, commerce, and physical education—has been added to the School of Education under Dean J. F. Messenger.

Desirous of better library facilities for the students at Idaho, Dean Messenger has appealed to both students and faculty to cooperate in securing such facilities.

Characteristic of the Idaho campus is the fine attitude of the students, which draws favorable comment from this dean of about 500 students:

"I have been here in an administrative position for 16 years and have never had a disagreeable experience with a student."

Extension School

Miss Bernice McCoy actively serves the University as director of non-resident instruction and as head of the Placement Service, which secures positions for graduates of Idaho. In the placement files she keeps a record of the student's accomplishments and a list of recommendations from his instructors. Her well known ability to place teachers in positions for which they are best fitted has enabled numerous students to secure signed contracts before they actually graduate. She does not forget the alumni, and many owe their positions to Miss McCoy's conscientious and efficient efforts. Aside from these rigorous duties, Miss McCoy is associate professor of education, and takes an active part in student affairs.
Since the fall of 1934, John R. Nichols has been serving as dean of the Southern Branch at Pocatello.

Students who transfer from the Southern Branch to the University proper now comment:
"Dean Nichols, during his three years at the Southern Branch, has created a friendship with all the students and has met all his responsibilities cheerfully and obligingly."

Increasing enrollment at the Branch and Moscow's out-of-the-way location has spurred a drive to have the Pocatello institution expanded into a four-year university. So far the State Senate has voted against installation of this four-year curriculum.

Arthur W. Fahrenwald, dean of the School of Mines, is hoping to create conditions in his school which will tend to encourage the students to acquire knowledge by directed self-study. Recently he added to the School's collection a fine display of unusual minerals from the ancient mines of the Island of Cyprus.

Dean Fahrenwald, of German-Norwegian descent, received his Met.E. degree from the University of South Dakota and his E.M. degree from the New Mexico School of Mines. He has made all types of sports his hobby.

Under his able direction the School of Mines has grown rapidly and now has an enrollment of 90, including six research men.
Letters and Science

More laboratory equipment, more library space with more books, and an enlarged office force are the desires of Dr. J. A. Kostalek for the College of Letters and Sciences.

He is very interested in books and enjoys his large collection of them as a hobby.

The whole-hearted cooperation of the student body and faculty in making Idaho a better university is an admirable feature for Dean Kostalek. He also enjoys the general spirit of courtesy, kindness, and welcome prevalent on the campus.

The present enrollment of 280 students in the College of Letters and Science does not include those enrolled in Junior College who plan to enter later Dean Kostalek's advanced division.

College of Engineering

Installation of the seismograph, an instrument used in the study of earthquakes, is the latest addition of equipment to the College of Engineering, according to Dean Ivan Crawford.

Continuing his plea for a new building to accommodate students in chemical, mechanical, agricultural, civil, and electrical engineering, Dean Crawford said:

"I should like to be instrumental in helping to provide a new building to accommodate 300 future engineers of Idaho in order that they might have better training through a larger corps of instructors and more laboratory equipment. Present antique housing facilities place limitations on our curriculum."
The Extension Service and Agricultural Experiment Station, under the direction of Dean E. J. Iddings, help to make the College of Agriculture nationally renowned. Their services aid farmers of the state and conduct research work in which they are interested.

The construction of a class "A" building on the campus to house the teaching, research, and extension work of the College of Agriculture—a building adequate in architecture and floor space to represent the important place that agriculture plays in the economic life of the state—that is the desire of Dean Iddings.

The dean received his master of arts degree from Colorado Agricultural College.

Business Administration

Concentration of all the activities of the School of Business Administration into one wing of a building, so that certain facilities—especially a departmental reading room where latest publications in the field would be available for students—that's the wish of Dean Ralph Farmer. He thinks that such a change would bring a distinct gain in the "esprit de corps" of faculty and students.

There were 125 enrolled in the senior school this year and 275 in pre-business—a total enrollment slightly above 400.

The close relationship of faculty and student made possible by the ideal size of the university is especially pleasing to Dean Farmer.
Freshman Leaders

The Freshman class of the past year has proved to be one of the most original Freshman classes in the history of the University of Idaho. The outstanding feature of Homecoming this year was the introduction of fireworks as a substitute for the traditional bonfire. To the class officers goes credit for a fine Homecoming fete.
Freshman Leaders

The class did battle with the "I" club to evade the traditional wearing of the green. After a pitched fight in front of the Administration building the Executive Board settled the matter to the satisfaction of all concerned. This was the culmination of a long and spirited struggle between the class of 1940 and tradition.

Two touchdowns sunk the hopes of Idaho for winning its annual Homecoming game with Washington State College. The first Cougar touchdown came during the first quarter after Goddard had placed the ball in scoring position. Roise did an outstanding job of punting during the game. Quick kicking on the part of Idaho gave W.S.C. much trouble. One quick kick went 55 yards and put the Cougars on their 23-yard line. Soon after this bit of strategy was completed by the Vandals, Goddard ran 77 yards for the second touchdown of the game. Washington State made eleven first downs to seven for Idaho.
The second game of the 1937 Vandal season pitted the team against the strong University of Washington aggregation at Seattle. When the smoke cleared away Idaho was on the short end of a 22-0 score. The Huskies had the championship team on the coast and our showing compared favorably with any. The game was featured by much fumbling on the part of both teams. During the first half Idaho held the Huskies to one score. The second period was more disastrous for the boys from Moscow as the Washington machine put on the power and ran up the remainder of the score.
Idaho's costly fumbling turned what might have been a victory over the Oregon Ducks into a 13-0 loss. The game was scoreless until the final minutes of the final quarter when the Vandals blew up and let Oregon score two touchdowns in quick succession. Had it not been that Maxson and Roise's fumbles in the fourth quarter stopped Sundberg's drive on the 11-yard line the Idaho team might have scored. Earlier in the contest Devlin intercepted and ran back for 70 yards only to lose the ball on another costly fumble. The performance of Harold Roise, sophomore left half, was the best on the field.
The hand of fate was turned against the Vandals on October 24 when they dropped a disheartening game to the University of Nevada Wolves by a 7 to 6 score. The Idaho club played the greater part of the game in the Nevada territory, but they could not push their ball across the line when they were in the pay territory. Idaho scored first in the beginning quarter when Devlin scored after the ball had been put in position by the work of Roise. The Wolves then came back with a passing attack which netted them a touchdown followed shortly by a place kick which provided them with the margin of victory.
Idaho surprised all spectators by winning from Gonzaga, 18-7, the most spectacular game of the Vandal season.

During the thrill-packed game, Idaho played almost perfect ball, tackling clean, blocking hard, and running beautifully. Gonzaga was also playing a hard, steady game with Karamatic threatening at all times.

Sundberg crashed over for a touchdown in the first quarter and Devlin went through in the third period.

The Bulldogs' passed to a touchdown and a conversion made the score 12-7. But the Vandals came back with a pass from Roise to Knap for the final score.

Almost the same Whitman team that bowled over Coach Ted Bank's first football team at Idaho on MacLean field a year ago was practically helpless here this year before the mentor's 1937 edition of gridiron warriors. The Vandals took the contest 25-6 and everyone hoped that the football stock of the University was on the upgrade. The Vandals minus the services of seven regulars had things their own way in more ways than the score indicates. The Vandals displayed a strong defense for scrimmage plays, but their pass defense was not up to par. This being the first game none was too worried.
The Idaho Vandals lost a hard fought battle to the strong St. Mary's Gaels on their only invasion of the California gridirons. When the final gun sounded, the score was 26 to 7, not at all indicative of the battle that the Vandals had put up. The strong reserve strength of the Gaels was too much for the Vandals who held their own until the last quarter.

St. Mary's scored the first touchdown in the first quarter. Knap evened the score shortly afterwards on a sensational 75-yard dash with an intercepted Gael fumble. The California team then was held until the final quarter when they ran up 19 points.
Badly handicapped by a large number of injuries among line and backfield men, the Vandals were defeated by the Montana Grizzlies 16-0 at Missoula.

The Grizzlies made their first touchdown two minutes after the starting whistle, when Jenkins lateraled to Popovitch, following a run made by Jenkins.

Idaho's fumbles were costly. A field goal and touchdown in the second quarter were the result of fumbles near the Vandal goal line.

Green, Smith, and Belko were hurt and Roise, who had been Idaho's punting boon all season, was unable to leave the bench because of an injured knee.
Dad's day found the Vandals pitted against the griderators from North Dakota State. After the boys of Moscow had piled up a substantial lead during the first part of the game the Bisons rallied and came within one point of trouncing the Banksmen. The final score read 13-12. This was the third win for the Vandals during the 1937 season. The statistics of the game were as close as the score. Idaho made 11 first downs to 10 for the Bisons. The Vandals netted 296 yards from passes and scrimmage while North Dakota gained 231. In the passing department North Dakota was superior.

Idaho State Aggies

The Vandals bowed to the unbeaten Utah State Aggies by a score of 10-0 at Ogden, before a capacity Thanksgiving day crowd. The first score was a field goal made by the Aggies after halfback Dallas Greener was stopped by Earl Gregory on the Idaho 11, ending a spectacular 65-yard sprint.

Late in the second period, two passes, Roise to Knap, put the Vandals in a threatening position. But after clicking for these two plays, Idaho slumped and missed a field goal that would have tied the score.

A freak pass in the third quarter resulted in the only touchdown of the game, making the score 10-0.
Coach Al Paddock's Vandal Juniors put in a very profitable season in 1936, assisting the Varsity in scrimmage, and representing the University against the junior teams of other schools. Forty-five plucky Frosh were on deck all through the season, and twenty-five of these won their sweaters and numerals. Thirteen appeared to be the youngsters' unlucky number. While they played circles around Lewiston Normal for a victory of 18-6, Gonzaga's Bull Pups trounced them 13-9, Cheney's yearlings took them for a 13-7 ride, and the Cougar Cubs mangled their prey 13-0. The Junior College outfit from Boise barely tipped the kids for 2-0. The 1936 Frosh will be some of the classier representatives of the 1937 Varsity.
Coaches

Percy Clapp, professor of physical education, is assistant football coach and director of intramural athletics. Coach Clapp was recently elected president of the Northwest Physical Education Association.

Robert Tessier is also an assistant football coach. He comes from Tulane. Al Paddock is frosh coach of both basketball and football. Paddock came to Idaho from Southwest Mississippi Junior college.
"Everybody out for the rally!" was the constant weekend shout of Yell King Johnny Moats, as he swung down the street in front of groups of Idaho rooters out to do their part toward making the next game a successful and spirited one. Every rally was a zestful and noisy affair, with students turning out from all the houses and halls with noisemakers and loud cheers as the crowd neared.

With the aid of his capable Yell Dukes, Charles Finnell and Lloyd Johnson, Johnny Moats has loyally directed the students in unified yelling during all athletic contests.

The four senior managers of the four major sports at Idaho have a hard and necessary job to fulfill in the functioning of these teams. They are responsible for the equipment and mechanics of the teams.

This year as usual the men in these positions have done their jobs well. Maurice Byrne had charge of the football team as manager. Wilfred Fry followed the seasonal swing looking after the basketball team. The bats and balls were counted by Rex McDowell and John Barker was the manager for the track team.
Efficiency and effectiveness are the key-words behind the work handled by the business staff of the Argonaut during the past year. Ray Lincoln as business manager proved especially capable in organizing the staff and handling finances.

Editor

Bringing new ideas into old departments, the editorial staff of the Idaho Argonaut under Philip Hiaring has achieved deserved success and may well look back upon a most successful year. The editor's wide journalistic experience has been a big aid in this.

Manager

Efficiency and effectiveness are the key-words behind the work handled by the business staff of the Argonaut during the past year. Ray Lincoln as business manager proved especially capable in organizing the staff and handling finances.
Editorial staff positions were ably and competently held this year by Ruth Haller, associate editor; Earl Bullock, night editor; Jack McKinney, news editor; Avon Wilson, day editor; Cecil Rudeen, sports editor; Erma Lewis, copy-desk editor; and Larry Duffin, make-up editor.
At the beginning of the second semester, gold service pins are given to all members of the Argonaut staff who have worked on the student newspaper for five consecutive semesters. This grant of recognition is authorized by the A.S.U.I. executive board and constitution. Such acknowledgement is due journalists on the campus. Eighteen received the Argonaut award this year. They were Marie Haasch, Paul Taylor, Lewis Orland, Ruth Haller, Jack McKinney, Phil Hiaring, Ada Hoebel, Avon Wilson, Dorothy Rosevear, Erma Lewis, Earl Bullock, Murva James, Miriam McFall, Bill Ash, Billye Austin, Marjorie Glenn, John Brosnan, Louise Paulsen.
DEBATE
A. E. Whitehead acts as coach for men and women's debate. Through his efforts, trips are secured and interest developed so that many students take part in forensics. Participants are: W. Knight, P. Lequineche, L. Arrington, J. Young, C. Ruchman, I. Jacobson, C. Dobler, C. Stark, B. Tomlinson, V. Skiles, R. Hyke, J. Carr, B. Brown, M. Butterfield, R. Stephan.
Lewis Orland, stellar debator, is debate manager for Idaho. With his arrangements Idaho took part in the men and women's series held in Walla Walla, in the men's tournament held at Linfield, and in the meeting of the Pacific Forensic League held in Salem. Bill Lee and Lewis Orland debated for Idaho on a tour of California in February.
Intramural debates were held on the question "Resolved: That Congress Should be Empowered to fix Maximum Hours and Minimum Wages in Industry." Eloise Hurley and Maxine MacFarland of Kappa Alpha Theta won the cup for women, while Lawrence Duffin and Grover Knight won for the Betas. Helen Moffatt and Bryant Kearl received the extemporaneous speaking cups.

Debating upon the fixed question, "Resolved: That Congress Should Be Empowered to Fix Maximum Hours and Minimum Wages in Industry," the Beta Theta Pi team, composed of Lawrence Duffin and Grover Knight, defeated L.D.S. to receive the Delta Sigma Rho trophy. Victor Skiles and William Reese debated for L.D.S. During the intramurals the teams argued both the negative and affirmative.
Steve Summers received the Alpha Kappa Psi medalion for being the senior man in business who achieved the highest accumulative average. Audrey Robinson got the Phi Chi Theta key for the same accomplishment for women. The Alpha Zeta cup went to Reo Smith Westover for the highest freshman scholastic record of all enrolled in the College of Agriculture.
The names of Richard Bickford, senior; and J. Clifton Windl were engraved on the Xi Sigma Pi plaque for having the highest scholarship in their respective classes in forestry. The national forestry honorary has maintained this plaque since 1922 to honor students in its field. Lysle Schwendi- man was awarded the medal given annually by Sigma Tau for frosh in mining and engineering.

Honors
Delta Gamma and Senior Hall broke the monotonous records of Kappa Alpha Theta and L.D.S. by topping scholarship heights. Delta Gamma received the Mary McClintock Upham women's award for highest scholastic achievements by averaging 4.819. Senior Hall outclassed all men's groups on the campus and was presented with the Burton L. French trophy for a 4.641.

Scholars
The Agronomy team, which judges all types of grain in Pacific Coast agricultural meets, took a first position in competition with Utah University and Montana State Agricultural College. Alvin Schwendiman was judged high point man in the contest. Other members of the Agronomy team were Ralph W. Jackson, William A. Jean, with Kenneth Wade as alternate. Donald Corless acted as coach for the team.

Team managers can not be overlooked. Dwight Hanley was manager for all judging teams, arranging competitions, itinerary, taking care of expenses and other rigorous duties accorded to all managers.
Competing against five other teams from the Northwest, Idaho's Dairy Cattle Judging team placed third in the Pacific International Livestock Exhibition in Portland. The Idahoans were rated first in the judging of Jersey cattle. Team members were Donald Mortimer, J. Macy, Rulon Ricks, and Philip Borup, alternate. D. L. Fourt was coach.

The Animal Husbandry team won second place at the Portland meet. Placing first in the judging of sheep, the team was awarded the much prized Rambouillet cup. Members of the team were D. Tucker, N. Wardle, W. Guthrie, W. Schoenfeld, R. Gardner, and R. Jackson. Dr. Beason was coach.

The Big Barn
Work makes for superiority in Idaho judging teams who participate in Pacific Coast competition. From early spring until October, judges are practicing at every opportunity. Likewise, the coaches give a maximum of time to assure the continuation of Idaho’s traditional success. The Dairy Products judging team romped off with first place in the Portland meet, defeating Utah State, W.S.C., Montana State, and O.S.C. Rulon Ricks placed second as individual judge. Members of the team were Rulon Ricks, Don Mortimer, and Darrell Deane, with Merlin Murdock as alternate. D. R. Theophilus was faculty coach of the Dairy Products team.
The
AUTUMN SOCIETY
On October 9 alumni and students renewed acquaintances at the Homecoming Mixer when the new orchestra "shell" and public address system were initiated. Scores of fathers received a warm welcome to the campus and enjoyed themselves at the Dad's Day dance on November 20. Jim McFarland's Pep Band supplied rhythmic music for both dances.

Students and Dads swing
Scabbard and Blade pledges in their red flannels . . . Dorothy's ready for fun . . . He's had his . . . "I" tank it's cold . . . More skiers . . . Buried Lizzy . . . Walking over snow piled two feet deep . . . can't come spring too soon for the football men, they have to help out . . . Snow, and more snow
We'd hate to call that fun—they seem to ... Don's publicity ... The fog has lifted and the campus is a fairyland ... Delt house from up high ... You have many sympathizers ... Boots ... Learning by doing ... Engine room ... Ain't love grand ... Tut, no modesty ... Look out Jean, it'll kick
SOPHOMORES
James Galloway was elected president of the sophomore class at the elections held in the fall. Others elected were: Clara Young, vice president; Verla Durant, secretary; David Pace, treasurer. These officers held office for the first semester when they were replaced by R. Trzuskowski, president; M. Geraghty, vice president; L. Schwendiman, treasurer.
The outstanding event of this class is the annual Holly day which they sponsor at Christmas time. Roman Thune was general chairman of the dance and assembly which are the features of Holly day. The assembly in the auditorium preceded the dance, which was held at the Blue Bucket Inn and attended by a large and happy crowd.

Paul Ennis led the Junior class through its first semester. He was assisted by William Maclear as vice president; Marjorie Glenn, secretary; and Louise Paulsen, treasurer. Kenneth Fitzgerald succeeded to the presidency for the second semester. Others chosen were Agda Walden, vice president; Luke Purcell, secretary; Gerald Martin, treasurer.
Junior Leaders

Junior week, the big time for the Juniors was held this year during the week of April 23. The general chairman of the week appointed by Prexy Fitzgerald was Ross Haworth. "South Sea" was the theme chosen by the committee for the week. The Junior parade, the cabaret, and the Junior Prom were the big events on the list of attractions.

BILL KRAMER

FORREST TWOGOOD

Coach
On December 15 the University of California stopped at Moscow to play a two-game series with the Idaho Vandals. The boys from the sunny south took the first game by a 45 to 34 score. However, the Vandals were battling all the way, and it was a last half drive that pushed the Bruins in the front.

The second game was a different story. Led by scoring of Kramer and Bohman, the Vandals came through with a 30 to 26 win. The Idaho boys played good ball, guarding well and recovering the ball from the backboard, which was one of the main reasons for this victory.
Idaho's Vandals made a title-bound Cougar team scrap for their two wins on February 5 and 6. Friday's tilt wound up the W.S.C. club winning 35 to 28. Kramer held high scoring honors. Saturday's game was even more spectacular and the men from Pullman, led by Ivar Nelson, managed to nose out a 29 to 26 win.

The other two games of the series, played on the Pullman floor, saw the Vandals defeated in the first game by a 42 to 17 score. The last game was a much more even clash, however the Cougars won, 48-40.
The first two Oregon games kept the fans on the edges of their seats at all times. Both of the games see-sawed back and forth with the Oregon club coming out on the long end of a 32 to 29 and a 31 to 29 score.

The third game of the series saw a rejuvenated Idaho ball club take the floor and play ball around the Oregon club to break into the win column by a 35 to 31 score. The last tilt, however, went to the Eugene club. They started to revenge their defeat and won, scoring 46 to the Vandals 33.
The Vandals were not able to best the Washington Huskies in any of their four clashes. The first two games were played on the Huskies’ floor; the Seattle men winning the first 24 to 17, and the second game 39 to 22.

When the Washington team played on the home floor they were only able to best the Vandals by a last minute scoring spree, which netted them a 36 to 31 win. The last game of the series Loverich went on a scoring streak which was too much for Idaho to battle, and Washington won by a score of 44 to 29.

Under the direction of Coach Bob Tessier, former Tulane University varsity swimming star, Idaho swimmers this year competed in three intercollegiate swimming meets, and in the Minor Sports Carnival held in Moscow. Teams from the University of Washington, Washington State College, and University of Idaho competed. With only a limited turnout for varsity swimming, coupled with the loss of almost all of last year's squad, Coach Tessier was handicapped from the start. Idaho lost to Washington State College, the University of Washington, and to the University of Oregon, and placed third in the Minor Sports Carnival.
Wrestling, the grunt and groan sport, found many participants and greater interest this year than ever before. Student Coach Paul Jones, assisted by Percy Clapp, led his men through an undefeated season, winning three matches, first in the Minor Sports Carnival held in Moscow March 6, and were undisputed Northwest wrestling champions. The Idaho wrestlers were invited to participate in the Pacific Coast championships at San Francisco. The season's record includes a 19-13 win over Washington State in the first match, a 23-13 defeat of the University of Washington, and a 21-15 win over Washington State College.
Fencing

Fencing, although a comparatively new sport at Idaho, is rapidly coming to the fore in popularity among the minor sports. Student Coach Arthur Peterson is trying to bring fencing at Idaho to the popularity it enjoys in the east. Idaho fencers competed in three intercollegiate matches, in the Minor Sports Carnival in competition with Washington and Washington State, and in a practice match with the Spokane Fencing Club. Although they won no matches, the interest shown in this new sport is significant. With only two veterans, Billy Gigray and Eugene Jay, Coach Peterson deserves credit for the commendable showing his team made.
Tennis, one of the more popular minor sports at Idaho, is continually handicapped by the windy, rainy weather, which keeps the players inside. It did receive a boost last spring, however, with the completion of four new cement courts, claimed to be among the finest in the northwest. Idaho engaged in three intercollegiate tennis matches, playing Whitman, Washington State, and Gonzaga. The final scores were against them in each case, but the individual matches were close and well fought. Tennis was coached by Al Paddock. Idaho's team was composed of Bill Hudson, Hugh Eldridge, Ddwain Vincent, Howard Scott, and Richard Axtell.
Completing their most successful season, Idaho boxers this year brought to the fore the fact that good coaching and concentration are the two essentials of a successful sport. Boxing has been, and continues to be, Idaho's only self-supporting sport, and its popularity grows steadily year by year. The squad is under the direction of Coach Louie August, a University of Idaho student and boxer, recognized by the Golden Gloves Committee as the best boxing coach in the northwest, and picked by them to coach the tournament team at San Francisco. We extend thanks to this Idaho booster.
Idaho boxers won three cards, tied two, and lost one. They defeated the Portland Multnomah Club and North Dakota; the Vandal Frosh triumphed over the Meraloma Athletic Club of Vancouver, Canadian champions. Jim Clabby, Rolly Shumway, Bud Benoit, Patsy Fitzpatrick, Jackie Doone, and Ralph Miller won Northwest Golden Gloves championships at Seattle, Rolly Shumway and Jackie Doone won Pacific Coast Golden Gloves championships, Ross Sundberg and Rolly Shumway won Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championships, and Rolly Shumway won the National Intercollegiate championship.
Idaho’s sharpshooting rifle squad, coached by Captain Lewis Norman, did very well for themselves this year. Competing in the Ninth Corps Area match with teams from eight other states, they shot out a final score of 3602 points out of a possible 4000. In past years our rifle squads have stood among the best in their competitive matches, having won the national, and always placed somewhere near the top in all meets.
PUBLICATIONS
When Sir James Barrie advanced the idea that woman was created from Adam's "funny bone," many quizzical brows lifted. But adequate proof for this whimsy can be found in the 1936-37 Blue Bucket edited by Marie Schneider.

Under a woman editor, this college humor publication has maintained a high standard throughout six issues. Jean Dunkle, named as assistant editor, has been a capable helper throughout the year. Contributors of unsuspected talent have helped to make these numbers representative of our campus through the use of satirical prose and caricature.

The Idaho Blue Bucket
The Handbook

The Idaho freshman handbook is published annually by the Associated Student Body, to be presented to incoming frosh. This book is commonly known as the "Frosh Bible," because it is so helpful in the orientation of first-year students.

The handbook contains a message from the President of the University, a complete list of officials, and an everhandy calendar of events, along with information on campus government, and affairs, athletics, activities, and organizations, as well as traditions, songs, and school yells. The 1936-1937 edition was edited by Doris McDermott, with Lee Dailey and Ruth Bevis as assistants.
"The Idaho Forester," the publication that is issued annually by the School of Forestry, had Leon Nadeau as Editor in Chief and Don McKeever as business manager. The magazine is filled with articles of interest to men professionally interested in forestry. The doings of alumni and their addresses are listed, and the men receiving scholarships are reported. A section of the magazine, popular with students, is set aside for forester's humor. This year's edition featured the picture of Dean D. S. Jeffers and a message from him as the new dean of forestry. Field trips taken by the foresters were recounted for readers.
The official publication of local engineers is "The Idaho Engineer." It endeavors to print articles of much interest to all the readers of its group. William D. Arms was chosen as editor, assisted by Robert R. Strachan as business manager.

Associate editors are Howard Monks and Paul Taylor. The assistant business manager is Albert Torelle; circulation manager, Barry Merrill. Others on this staff include: editorial, Paul Parrish, Leslie Gillette, Lester Hansen, Robert Miller; business, Charles Harris, Paul Morken, Joe Lambert, Bill Herrington, and Linton Lang.
John F. Sollers fills a long-felt need in the drama department for a technical man. Coming to Idaho with scholastic training at Carnegie Technical Institute and Yale, and practical experience in little theatre, Mr. Sollers has had ample opportunity to test his ingenuity with an inadequate stage and meager equipment. In “Paths of Glory” and “Noah,” he employed unit sets and used lights for variety in the modern manner. Besides serving as technician, his job is to train students in beginning play production and interpretation.

Miss Jean Collette took upon her shoulders the burden of directorship left vacant by the leave of Fred C. Blanchard. That she is not afraid of hard work, long hours, and ambitious, modern productions is evinced by the two major plays she has directed: “Paths of Glory” and “Noah.” Recognizing the fact that technical students can not enroll in play production courses, Miss Collette initiated a system of try-outs for those interested in dramatics. The campus is justly proud of Miss Collette as she is an Idaho graduate.

John F. Sollers

Technician

John F. Sollers fills a long-felt need in the drama department for a technical man. Coming to Idaho with scholastic training at Carnegie Technical Institute and Yale, and practical experience in little theatre, Mr. Sollers has had ample opportunity to test his ingenuity with an inadequate stage and meager equipment. In “Paths of Glory” and “Noah,” he employed unit sets and used lights for variety in the modern manner. Besides serving as technician, his job is to train students in beginning play production and interpretation.
"The Bishop Misbehaves" opened the theatrical season. The paradoxical title suggests comedy, and comedy it was with Gene Ryan in the stellar role of a Bishop who yearned to solve a murder mystery. With Annette Wien as stooge, he solves a jewel theft and restores the heroine—Nerissa McNealy—to her estate by foiling the villain of the piece—Ted Brasch. Charles Marshall commits grand larceny and gets the girl, while comedy is furnished by Fred Rasmussen, Aldrich Bowler, Betty Bodwell, George Oram, and Lewis Gaby.
"Paths of Glory" was an innovation in Idaho theatre, and perhaps can be called its greatest production. An anti-war drama played on a unit set and staged impressionistically, it was concerned with idea, not character. Each in the cast of thirty men and one woman contributed concretely to the idea—war is futile butchery. Veteran campus actor Aldrich Bowler deserves most comment for his superior interpretation. Significant portrayals were given by Andy James, Glendon Davis, Ted Pyzyk, George Oram, and Ray Hyke. The cast was chosen by try-outs.
"Petticoat Fever," a comedy, was Fred C. Blanchard's last play for the regular season before he departed for a leave of absence. The play deals with Dascom Dinsmore, a feverish wireless operator played by Andy James, who is frustrated from loneliness in the Arctic Circle. Beatrice Fisher as Ethel Campion literally descends from the clouds to sweep him off his feet, bringing her fiance, Earl Bopp. Dascom's fiancee appears in the person of Helen Wilson, and thereby hangs the conflict, affording a fun-filled evening.
Modern Bible

Going a step further in modern dramatics, the ASUI presented Dudrey Obey's "Noah," a fantasy in three acts, based upon the Biblical flood and founding of the races. Glendon Davis carried the stellar role as the venerable carpenter who constructed a rudderless boat for God. Martha Allen was Mrs. Noah; Gene Ryan, Harold Durham, Joe Mills were the sons; and Christine Nuckols, Barbara Walker, LuDeen Waldrum the girls. Ed Albany represented Man. Other actors took the parts of animals on the Ark. Ann Curtis was director's aide.
"Lady of Letters," a three-act comedy, ended the theatrical season hilariously. Beatrice Jane Fisher played the leading and title role of a woman who wanted to be useful and so purchased a poverty-stricken author's book and published it. Glendon Davis played the author, while Peter Dodds was the Lady's husband. Margaret Taylor, Eugene Ryan, Barbara Walker, Ann Curtis, and Fred Rasmussen played character parts. Others in the cast were Bess Cuddy, and Betty Bodwell. Settings were designed by Dorothy Brown.
Interest in the drama often takes the form of unglori-fied, unsung labor for those students who devote hours backstage and receive no more thanks than the responsibility placed on them by the directors of dramas and than the self-satisfaction derived from the act. Some of these admirable individuals prefer to construct and strike sets, doing such menial labor as hammering nails and calcimining flats; others pull light switches and put on grease paint. Such scenes as those used in "Noah" require real artists, skilled in producing stage effects.
Music Department

At the head of the Music Department of the University of Idaho is Archie M. Jones, who came here from Minnesota in 1935. Mr. Jones has charge of the Vandaleers and an a cappella choir, which is his brain-child. Ably assisting Mr. Jones is George Stump, who also is from Minnesota. But singing can't go on without accompaniment, so we have Carl Claus, who has been the director of the Idaho Symphony Orchestra for fourteen years, and has one of the finest of student orchestras in the Northwest. Nor would the Military Band be such a fine aggregation were it not for the flashing baton of Robert M. Lyon, who changed the tooters from "monkey suits" into gay blue-and-gold band uniforms. Our pipe organ gave Hall Macklin a vent for a talent which he possesses, besides his fine piano playing and instruction in piano at the University. The Misses Miriam Little, Velma Gildemeister, and Bernice Barnard, all of whom have studied abroad, instruct the instrumental aspirants at the University of Idaho.
Symphony Orchestra

Idaho's Symphony Orchestra, directed by Carl Claus of the Music Department is a group composed of the outstanding talent in stringed and reed instruments. It numbers more than fifty pieces. Several of the members of the Music Faculty participate in the concert and assist at practices. Karl Wilson is the student director.

Each year the Symphony Orchestra gives two formal concerts in addition to its various appearances at all of the important assemblies held at the University, besides sponsoring recitals in which it features its most talented young artists.

Idaho Pep Band

The Idaho Pep Band was organized on this campus in 1929. It comprises a group of the outstanding student talent, who supply snappy music at all major athletic contests and who each year present an original show, produced entirely under student direction, and one of the year's major classics.

This year, for the first time, the Pep Band came under the direction of the Music Department, keeping its former right of choosing its own members and director, and remaining independent financially. Student director Jim McFarland swung the baton at the jig-saw Pep Band show and at all the games.
The A Cappella Choir, an innovation of Archie M. Jones, head of the Music Department, has enjoyed great popularity and rapid increase in membership since its birth two years ago. These vocalists form a group composed of both male and female voices. Their group membership is based upon the showing of the singers in scholarship, personality, singing ability, and activities, along with the ability to appear before an audience.

This year the A Cappella Choir combined with the University Singers to present Joseph Haydn's "Creation," directed by Mr. Jones.
The University's Military Band is an organized group under the direction of bandmaster Robert M. Lyon which provides music for the marching feet of the R.O.T.C. cadets during the drills and inspections. This band is organized with officers and a board of directors.

The blue and gold suits started this year by playing and parading at their homecoming game. Later in the season at the Oregon game, they again played and paraded. In a Band Concert, with a repertoire which included older classics and the newest in swing, the musical cadets ended their year.
The Vandaleers are a mixed chorus selected on the basis of their singing ability, good scholarship, outstanding character and personality, who represent the University in concerts held throughout the Northwest. It is under the direction of Archie Jones of the Music Department with James Burkhard managing.

Besides supplying music at graduation, and caroling at the Christmas season, this group has many members in the choirs of local churches. This season, the Vandaleers went to Portland, Boise, Spokane, the smaller surrounding towns, and also gave a performance at the Lewiston Cherry Blossom festival.

Song Fest

The annual Spring Song Fest, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, the honorary for women music majors, or those having shown real talent in the field of music, was arranged with Marie Schneider acting as chairman. Miss Schneider is a major in music, also a member of Sigma Alpha Iota. Each of the dormitories, as well as the Greek houses on the campus, presented their various songs in the contest. Members of the music faculty acted as judges. Several of the groups wore uniform costumes, which were very effective. The winners of this contest were the Gamma Phi Betas for the women's division, and the Phi Gamma Deltas for the men.
Professor Archie M. Jones of the Music Department presented the University of Idaho Singers and the A Cappella Choir in Haydn’s “Creation,” both at the Summer Session, and in December of this school year. The large student chorus was composed of male and female voices numbering 160. Hall Macklin played the organ and the Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Carl Claus, made a background and accompaniment for the singing. The outstanding singers were featured in solos. The “Creation” is an oratorio, and is one of the three most famous in the world. The other two are the “Messiah” and “Elijah,” both of which are by J. Haydn.
The University of Idaho is fortunate in having one of the finest Music Departments that may be found in schools of its size anywhere in the land, and in having student talent which is worthy of a high recognition.

Chief of them is the Pep Band, a student organization with a reputation throughout North Pacific circles. This year Jim McFarland is its director. Richard Swingler is a member of everything that pertains to music, and most versatile of the student musicians. Gertrude Gehrke is the accompanist for the Vandaleers, and plays pipe organ music for local churches. Dick Baker is said by Harold Bachman, of Chicago University, to be one of the best trumpet players he has ever heard. Idaho's string quartet presented numerous concerts in this vicinity.

WINTER SOCIETY
The Senior Ball was a sophisticated scene with decorations of black and silver in a modernistic winter garden wherein guests danced to music of Paul Ennis' band. This band was also featured at an assembly preceding the Holly Day Dance of the Sophomores, in which a gay informal atmosphere was created by a lighted tree, bells, wreaths, and colored streamers.
Taps and Terps quintet... We dream of the "Ad" walk shaded by trees... And sleep late so the game will come sooner... Some baseball... Seniors receive graduation notices... More baseball... Fencing draws crowd... Engineers' robot is the favorite, especially for the children (?)... The last snow disappears... Green-up time for sure... Then comes the climax of women's activities, May Day Festival and the crowning of the queen...
Barbara and pals take advantage of the first sunshine. So do carpenters constructing the infirmary. White shoes and tennis arrive. Then that spring frost. Baseball and girls dancing on the green are a further sign of spring. Graduation days approach. Then every "can" in town is in running condition. The cooks, like the one at Sigma Nu, please ravishing appetites of tennis players during the last straggling days.
The first student governing board in the University's history to be elected by proportional representation was composed of nine members. Student body president, Bert Larson this year, is elected by the customary direct voting procedure.

Vice-president for 1936-37 was Bill Armstrong, Bend, Oregon; secretary Julie Davis, Boise—both elected by the executive board members themselves. Larson, the president, hails from Twin Falls.

Other board members were R. Gray, C. Collins, D. McDermott, F. Robertson, J. Banks, F. Rasmussen, and M. McFall.
Manager

He who used to play football on Idaho's championship football team of 1900 now calls signals from the money end of the game. George E. (Cap) Horton has been Graduate Manager of student activities since 1923.

Of special interest to him this year has been the investigation and formulation of plans for the construction of a new $50,000 football stadium that will be ready for service next fall. "Cap" made a special trip to the University of Colorado and the University of Utah to learn the details of stadia in those places.
The executive board of the A.S.U.I. is entrusted with the legislative and executive powers of the constitution of the student body. Meeting weekly, its members hold office for one-year terms and are presided over by the president. Ex-officio members are a faculty advisor, an alumnus, the editor of the Argonaut, and the president of the A.W.S.
Senior Leaders

Four years have elapsed since our worthy seniors entered as green freshmen. This year the Gem of the Mountains dedicates the spring section of the yearbook to those who have achieved the desire for a higher education.

Officers for the first semester were: Wilfred Fry, President; Margaret Murphy, Vice President; Barbara Lipps, Secretary; and Woodrow Sorenson, Treasurer.
A unique thing happened when a coed was elected to the important post of second semester senior class president. This distinction fell to Miss Helen Parmley. Others elected to fill the remaining offices of the oldest class were Paul Jones, vice president; Audrey Robinson, secretary; and Robert Jensen, treasurer.
Mortar Board

Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary organization, was installed at Idaho in 1923. The purposes of the group are to serve the campus, to promote scholarship and leadership, and to encourage a friendly feeling among women. Members are chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, sociability.

Silver Lance

Silver lance, local honorary group for senior men, was established at Idaho in 1923. Senior men are honored with the silver lance on Campus Day and are chosen for excellence in leadership and scholarship. Being strictly honorary, the purpose of the organization is to recognize achievement of the campus.

Active in many departments in the University, Richard Paris has a capacity for forming all kinds of financial plans for the yearbook. He, with the help of his staff, has more than satisfactorily settled all the business matters concerning the publication of the Gem.

Wallace Rounsavell has been Editor-in-Chief for the Gem of the Mountains during this year of 1936-37. The cooperation between Wally's editorial and business staffs has made it possible for him to edit a yearbook of high quality.

Manager

Active in many departments in the University, Richard Paris has a capacity for forming all kinds of financial plans for the yearbook. He, with the help of his staff, has more than satisfactorily settled all the business matters concerning the publication of the Gem.
James Yoder was selected as Associate Editor of the Gem, while Walter Dinnison was chosen as Assistant Business Manager. These men will follow Wally Rounsevell and Dick Paris as editorial and business staff heads. The production staff should not remain unsung. The students on productions have the duties of indexing, checking, and mounting all pictures before sending them to the engravers. The business staff must solicit advertising to aid in the financial success of the yearbook. This staff also takes care of Gem sales which are the highest of all time this year. The business men distribute the books upon publication.
Gem Awards

Assistants in the editing of the Gem do not bear high sounding titles but in actuality contribute significantly to the success of the yearbook. Realizing this fact, the editors of the annual publication have followed the policy of recognizing active service by the gift of a copy of the book after the student has worked for three years, or has performed exceptionally in one.

The Oregon base runners met a formidable team at the University of Oregon during a series at that place on May 2 and 4. The first game was Idaho's 8-7, but in the second game the Vandals were stopped when they lost by a score of 4-1 to Bob Millard, a sophomore pitcher. Wally Geraghty made a hit that scored Idaho's only run in that game.

The Ducks won over the Vandals in the two home games on May 15-16 by taking both with the scores of 10-6 and 4-2. Katsilometes and Geraghty hit home runs in the first game.
The Vandals played O.S.C. on May 7 and split a double header with the Beavers in two closely contested games. Though O.S.C. took the first game by a score of 1-2, Steve Summers starred in the second game to give Idaho a 6-5 victory.

On their home diamond in the return games of May 20 and 21 the Idaho nine lost to Oregon State by the scores 7-4 and 11-6. Idaho's costly errors helped the Beavers considerably in their scores. Bill Kramer hit a three-base hit and two home runs for Idaho during the series.
On April 29 and 30 the Idaho team opened the Washington Huskies' conference schedule with two games at Seattle. The first game was big-league ball, tied till the last inning when a hit brought a Washington man in for a win of 3-2. The Huskies came back in the next game to win from the Vandals 9-0.

When Washington met the Idaho nine on the home diamond May 26 and 27, they had improved. The Vandals lost the first 4 to 3 and then climaxed the end of their 1936 series by winning the second 12 to 7.
On April 15, the Whitman nine journeyed to Moscow to play the Vandals the first of a two-game series. Due to a big advantage because of early spring weather conditions that permit them to practice early in the season, they were able to knock the Idaho club over in the first game, 7-6.

The second game was featured by some wild playing and some wilder hitting that thrilled the spectators. The Whitman team came out on the long end of this game, bagging 13 while the Vandals copped 10.
The Vandals opened their annual battle on April 25 with the Cougars on the Idaho home field. The W.S.C. club, led by Goddard, came through with a 3-0 win. The following day the Vandals threw away the second game on errors, the score being 6-3 for Pullman.

The last two games of this four-game series were played as a double header at Moscow. Idaho took it on the chin in the first game by a 10-1 score. The second game the W.S.C. nine banged out a 17-3 victory. Four home runs with men on bases proved the downfall for the Idaho club.

DON JOHNSON

MIKE RYAN
For the seventh consecutive year the Idaho Vandals downed the Montana Grizzlies on the cinder path. Track men from Idaho ran away from the Montana men in the meet of May 9 by winning 85 to 46. Two Idaho records were broken in the meet. Powers of Idaho broke the 1927 record in the 120-yard low hurdles by cutting the time to 24.5 seconds. The other record was broken by Neeley, who cut the 1928 record in the 440-yard dash to 49.3 seconds. One of the outstanding feats of the meet was the 22 feet, 1 ¾-inch, winning broad-jump of Olson of Montana.
When the Idaho Vandal Trackmen met the Whitman tracksters on April 25, Bill Powers, Idaho’s versatile trackman, came out on top of the meet with 14 points beside his name. Don Johnson did his share by taking first in the javelin throw and the shot put.

On May 16 at Corvallis, the Vandals again downed their opponents, this time the Oregon State Beavers, 66½ points to 64½. Adkins, Powers, McCue, Maxson, Neeley, Johnson, Probst and Ritzheimer all did their part in garnering nine firsts for Idaho which offset the O.S.C. second and third places.
In May when Idaho, Montana, and Washington State met at Pullman for an all conference meet, the final count showed Washington State with 98\1/2 points, Idaho, second with 49\1/2, and Montana with 19 points in their favor. Powers finished first in the 100-yard dash for Idaho, while Cy Adkins lowered his own time in the mile to 4:26. Stew Neely placed first in the half-mile and Cable tied for first in the high jump. The best race of the meet was the 220-yard dash when Orr of W.S.C. threw himself ahead the last 20 feet and finished less than a foot ahead of Bill Powers.
INTRAMURAL
Intramural Season

Under the direction of Coach Percy Clapp, intramural this year has aroused more interest and encouraged more participation than ever before. The intramural managers were: Alpha Tau Omega, B. Putnam; Beta Theta Pi, N. Palmer; Chi Alpha Pi, H. Day; Delta Chi, A. Mitchell; Delta Tau Delta, H. Ahlskog; Idaho Club, L. Lanter; Kappa Sigma, R. Willard; Lambda Chi Alpha, R. Smith; L.D.S., R. Butler; Lindley Hall, I. Stubbs; Phi Delta Theta, W. Garets; Phi Gamma Delta, J. Clouser; Ridenbaugh Hall, R. Dean; Senior Hall, G. Thorsted; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, P. Redmond; Sigma Chi, P. Remaklus; Sigma Nu, D. Bistline; Sweet Hall, H. Watson; Tau Kappa Epsilon, R. Schmitt; Tau Mem Aleph, R. Fluharty; University Club, W. Duvall; Vandalville, M. Jensen.
The fall intramural season opened with spirited participation in touchball. Every game found each team with its quota of cheering supporters lining the field. The teams were evenly matched, and many games went into overtime periods. Up to the final game Delta Tau Delta was unbeaten and unscored upon. In the finals, however, they were subdued by Phi Delta Theta, 16-6. The Idaho Club garnered third place and Vandalville fourth. Tennis singles, the second intramural sport, was won by Delta Tau Delta with Lindley Hall coming in a close second. Cross country, a new event this year, was won by the L.D.S. Institute team of R. Butler, G. Butler, L. Schwendiman, and R. Westover.
The L.D.S. Institute table tennis team of Vaughn Lewis and Vic Skiles, after winning over Lindley Hall to gain the finals, defeated Sweet Hall to win the intramural table tennis championship. Lindley Hall was third and Sigma Nu fourth. Swimming competition was keen, with no competitor having an easy road to victory. Several new intramural dual swimming meet records were set. Sweet Hall, winners of the event, placed enough men in second and third positions to capture the finals. Sigma Alpha Epsilon was second and Phi Gamma Delta was third. As the Gem goes to press, there are spring tennis, horseshoes, softball, and track yet to be completed. Delta Tau Delta leads in total points.
The 1936 Season

Sports completed last spring after the Gem went to press were: Track—Phi Gamma Delta first, Delta Tau Delta second; Horseshoes—Lindley Hall first, Kappa Sigma second; Tennis—L.D.S. Institute composed of B. Kerr and B. Morley first, Sigma Alpha Epsilon second; Softball—Delta Tau Delta first, Sigma Nu second. Delta Tau Delta won the intramural trophy for 1935-1936 with a total of 1475 points. Tau Mem Aleph was second with 1000 points, and Sigma Nu third with 675 points. Delta Tau Delta established its clean-cut supremacy by garnering three firsts and a host of seconds and thirds to win the trophy in a walk-away. Intramural sports are attracting wider participation each year.

The winter sports opened with volleyball arousing some of the keenest competition yet seen. Sigma Alpha Epsilon nosed out the Idaho Club in the finals, winning the third and deciding game of the three-game series by a score of 16-14. Basketball was played under high school rules, owing to the lack of conditioning of the participants. A new feature in basketball this year was the "B" league, composed of players ineligible for regular intramural competition. The University Club, "A" league winners, clearly demonstrated their superiority with a crushing victory in the finals over Sigma Nu, "B" league winners. In the regular competition, Lindley Hall placed second and Tau Mem Aleph third.
Dr. Evelyn Miller, Dean of Women, came to Idaho to occupy the position held formerly by Miss Permeal J. French, retired. Doctor Miller came with an unusual scholastic and academic record and wealth of executive experience that had prepared her adequately for the position's responsibilities. Her duties include the supervision and the guidance of all women students, and the inspection and approving of women's residences. Through her office, all permissions are granted and all disciplinary matters are conducted. Doctor Miller's executive body is the A.W.S. She is aided in her duties by the officers of the Associated Women Students. Of this important organization Esther Flenner is president; Dorothy Brown, vice president; and Louise Paulsen, secretary. These women hold the most responsible offices of the A.W.S.
Each woman student of the university is an active member of the Associated Women Students which holds elections every spring and is a self-governing body working with the Dean of Women in handling the affairs of co-eds. Representatives are sent annually to national meetings of college women. Officers for this year were: Esther Flenner, president; Dorothy Brown, vice president; Louise Paulson, secretary; Mary McKinley, treasurer; Fay Pettijohn, yell queen; Dorothy Rosevear, point supervisor. Cooperative with the officers is the A.W.S. cabinet composed of thirteen women from group houses and town associations. It deals with women's affairs.
Campus Day

At the annual May fete conducted by Mortar Board, Margaret Brodrecht was crowned queen. Her attendants were Jane Baker, maid of honor, and Donna Mae South, page. It was estimated that a crowd of 1500 students and mothers watched the crowning ceremony and the pledging rites of Mortar Board which tapped Dorothy Rosevear, Erma Lewis, Catherine Bjornstad, Dorothy Brown, Doris McDermott, Jane Baker, and Esther Flenner; Silver Lance that honored John Farquhar, Roy Gray, Ray Lincoln, Louis August, Bert Larson, Wallace Rounsavell.
Co-ed Prom

The Co-Ed Prom, annual costume ball sponsored by the Home Ec Club, broke all precedent and became a women's choice dance and increased the entertainment value. Rose Broemling was the chairman of the prom; and June Fleming and Chester Anderson received the prizes for best costumes. Paul Ennis furnished the music while Dean Evelyn Miller, Miss Elsie Maxwell, Miss Adah Lewis, Miss Ruth Smith, Miss Marion Featherstone and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek acted as patronesses. Life masks were the feature of decoration, but the clever rigs of the dancers stole the show.
A WINTER'S EVE
Active membership in the Women's Athletic Association is open to all undergraduate women who have earned one hundred points, according to the point system, in all recognized sports. Officers are Lucile Nelson, president; Marguerite Manion, vice president; Frances Murtha, secretary; Betty Obermeyer, treasurer. Executive Board includes: L. Nelson, M. Manion, B. Obermeyer, R. Evans, L. Dickinson, R. York, A. Ward, T. Kinghorn, J. Sanford, M. Glenn, H. Parmley, A. Oberg, J. Spooner, G. Smith, L. Elliot. Ruth Evans received the award for being the outstanding member of W.A.A.
Women in W.A.A. who earn 1250 points by participation in sports are given white sweaters with silver-gold emblems, and automatically become members of the "I" Club for women. Women who earned 2000 points and received blankets are Ruth Evans, Marion Swanson, and Vivian Larson. Members are Ruth Evans, president; Gladys Smith, vice president; Vivian Larson, secretary; Lucile Nelson, treasurer; Marion Swanson, sergeant-at-arms; and Gertrude Olesen, Dorothy Rosevear, and Edith Slatter.
Basketball and speedball are two of the major sports of W.A.A. Of the 97 women who turned out for basketball, 72 earned points for the association. Speedball practices were attended by 76 with the freshmen women taking the top honors. All championships are determined in tournament play.
Tennis play was run off in a "ladder" tournament last fall using single elimination. Some matches were postponed until spring because of weather. In the baseball games played outside on the women's field, 56 women received points for W.A.A. Class teams were chosen and an inter-class tournament dubbed sophomores.
The women interested in physical education and dancing are given a chance to perform annually in the dance recital of Taps and Terps. The less graceful, or perhaps we should say the more masculine, turn their attention to the well-known and ancient sport of barnyard golf—and make it truly a game of skill.
Captain C. H. Hart undertook the teaching of 120 women to hit the bull's eye. His success is shown by the number of dead shots that developed under his tutelage. Twenty-four got points for matches. In volley ball 76 women received W.A.A. points for participations. The seniors won the class title.
The Misses Wirt, Mylne, and Dray are the reasons the Idaho co-eds take such a healthy interest in their physical education program. They have organized a program this year which includes swimming, dancing, tennis, interclass sports, and play days in conjunction with the men. Here are some of the bathing beauties in action.
Few men gain the affection and respect that the University of Idaho holds for its "Grand Old Man," Brigadier General Edward R. Chrisman. Although permanently retired from the army five years ago, General Chrisman still maintains an active interest in the University's welfare and acts as counsel for the military department. Coming to Idaho as a lieutenant from West Point in the University's fifth year of infancy, he has remained here since, except for periods of foreign service during the Spanish-American and World Wars. During that time he commanded troops in Cuba and Puerto Rico. General Chrisman returned to the campus permanently in 1919. When retired, he had completed 54 years of service in the national army. He receives major recognition for the development of the University military unit from a ludicrous corps of a few cadets into its present formidable status.

Major Charles F. Sutherland instructs junior military students beginning the advanced course. A native of Mississippi, Major Sutherland is a graduate of Mississippi State College. He experienced his only other R.O.T.C. detail at Oklahoma A. and M. college.

Captain Charles H. Hart has the difficult assignment of instructing all freshman cadets in addition to coaching the women's rifle team. Captain Hart, who was awarded his promotion to captain two years ago for his efforts at the university, completes his eighth year of detail in the Idaho military department this spring. He is a native of Virginia, having attended William and Mary University in that state for several years.

Sergeant Alfred Johnson, who succeeded Sergeant Lonie Woods, retired, manages the military store room. Sergeant Johnson came to his new duties from Fort Wright at Spokane.
Called from his duties last fall in San Francisco, Lieutenant Colonel Allen Fletcher became Idaho's new commandant of military tactics, succeeding Lieutenant Colonel Rufus S. Bratton, who was assigned to service in Washington, D.C. A graduate of the Army War college and Army Industrial college in Washington, D.C., the Chemical Warfare school of Edgeworth, Md., and the Command and General Staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Colonel Fletcher may boast a distinguished militaristic education. Following active service in the World War, he commanded troops in Hawaii for several years. Colonel Fletcher filled the position of senior infantry instructor of the first reserve area with headquarters at San Francisco before assuming his duties here at Idaho.

Instructor of sophomore military classes at the university is Captain Lewis S. Norman. Captain Norman also coaches the crack R.O.T.C. rifle team, which two years ago won national honors. He began his army career at Fort Benning, Georgia, of which state he is a native. He holds the distinction of being one of the few qualified lawyers in army service, having graduated from the Chattanooga College of Law in 1917. Captain Norman this spring completes his second year of service at Idaho.

Acting Sergeant-Major of the military department is Sergeant Barnum, who handles clerical work of the office. He has completed 14 years of detail in the military forces of the United States, four of them in the Marines. Much of the time was spent in the Philippines and the South Sea Islands.

Professor Robert B. Lyon directs the proficient military band, a snappy group on parade.

Appointed by Colonel Fletcher as Cadet Colonel of Idaho's R.O.T.C. unit, Thomas Redlingshafer reigned as student commandant the first semester. Colonel Redlingshafer is a member of the university rifle team, Scabbard and Blade, and the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Second in command stood Lieutenant-Colonel Elbert Inman. He is affiliated with Scabbard and Blade and Phi Gamma Delta.

At the end of the first semester, Captain William O'Neill completed a year and half as regimental adjutant. Captain O'Neill belongs to the "I" Club and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Major John Cooper, first period head of the first battalion, commanded the third battalion the second semester. He is a member of the "I" Club and Delta Chi.
Cadet Colonel Earl Bullock, promoted from third battalion head, commanded the student rookies the second semester. Colonel Bullock belongs to Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, and the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Judson Wark, first semester battalion leader, climbed to Lieutenant-Colonel. He is a member of the rifle team, Blue Key, and Beta Theta Pi. As regimental adjutant acted Captain Woodrow Sorenson, a member of Scabbard and Blade and Sigma Chi. Clyde Inman commanded the second semester first battalion. Major Inman belongs to the Minor "T" Club, Scabbard and Blade, and Beta Theta Pi. Succeeding as head of the second battalion was Cadet Major Douglas Smith, a member of the rifle team, Blue Key, and Lambda Chi Alpha.
Idaho had one gala Homecoming celebration for 1936. Chairman Sam Johnson allowed the group houses a free rein in their choices of themes for decorations. Forney Hall won the women's prize, while the Phi Deltas carried home the bacon for the men. The Vandal foe was Washington State College. The annual serpentine of the women through the men's houses, a homecoming mixer, a dinner for alums, a smoker, and prize fights all added to the hilarity of the great occasion.
SPRING SOCIETY
The traditional women’s choice dance sponsored annually by Mortar Board was held on Washington’s birthday and initiated a new feature by giving bouten­nieres to each escort. Through the efforts of Press Club and the I.K.’s, the popular music of Paul Pendarvis was secured for the Publications Ball in May.

Blue Key

Blue Key is a national honor fraternity, the membership of which is comprised from the Junior and Senior classes. Besides having upperclass standing, the members must show scholastic proficiency, participation in extra activities, high moral standing, and personality. The purpose of Blue Key is to foster a closer fellowship among its members, and to bring college leaders together to exchange ideas and concentrate efforts for the upbuilding of the college.

Cardinal Key is a national upperclasswomen’s service honorary and the sister organization to the Blue Key, with which it co-operates in services for this University and its student body. Upperclasswomen who are considered as very outstanding as to leadership, scholarship, personality, and extra activities are tapped by its members at their May Day festivities for membership during the following year. The motto for their organization is, “Serving, I Live.”

The Idaho chapter of Intercollegiate Knights was organized in 1922 and has since been known as the Ball and Chain chapter of this society, founded at the University of Washington. The main purpose of the group is sponsorship and arrangements for all functions of the associated students. This fraternity is a national service honorary of underclassmen with officers and president chosen from upperclassmen.
The Spurs are a women's national service honorary organization whose members are representatives from town, women's halls, and Greek houses who are to be selected from the incoming Sophomore class by the old members. They must be dependable, have a sense of honor, unselfishness, show some democracy, extra activities, and scholarship. Spurs must foster loyalty and helpfulness, and be present at all school student body activities.
Sigma Tau

Sigma Tau, a national honorary engineering fraternity, established Rho Chapter at Idaho in 1922 which affiliated with the national established in 1904 at the University of Nebraska. The members are chosen from the junior and senior classes of the engineering and mines schools, on the basis of their scholarship and social activities. The organization aims to promote scholarship and professional attainment in engineering.

The Press Club is an honorary composed of upperclassmen who show an interest in journalism. Members of the group are selected from majors in journalism, members of the Argonaut or the Gem of the Mountains staffs, or those who have served on the editorial staff of any recognized newspaper. The organization fosters and attains a high standard for college journalism; it publishes the Press Club edition of the Argonaut and promotes their Publications Ball.
Theta Sigma is a local honorary, organized at Moscow in 1932, for journalism majors among the upper class group. Membership is limited to eight women who show unusual qualities in the field of journalism along with personality and scholastic attainments. Each year Theta Sigma awards a cup to the winner of the state-wide contest that it sponsors for high school papers.

Sigma Delta is a newly-established journalism honorary for men, organized at Idaho January 11, 1937. The membership is limited to upperclassmen majoring in journalism. Its purposes are to gain a professional prospective of journalism, to become familiar with the problems of the profession, and to promote journalistic activities both at the University and throughout Idaho.
Sigma Gamma Epsilon is a national professional mining fraternity which selects its members from the men of the junior and senior classes who are taking major work in mining, metallurgy, or geology, their qualifications including scholarship and interest. Its object is the social, scholastic, and scientific advancement of its members. It first became a national in 1915 at the University of Kansas. The Idaho chapter was installed May 27, 1929.
Alpha Zeta, the honorary agricultural fraternity, chooses its members from students who have completed three semesters of academic work in the College of Agriculture with a satisfactory basis of scholarship and leadership. To promote higher scholarship, leadership, and cooperation among the students who are studying in the field of agriculture is its purpose. The fraternity was founded at Ohio State in 1897. The Idaho chapter was installed in 1920.
Sigma Alpha Iota, the oldest women’s professional music fraternity, founded at the University of Michigan in 1904, has as its purpose the upholding of the highest ideals of musical education, furthering the development of music and giving moral and material aid to its members. Sigma Eta Chapter, installed at the University of Idaho in 1924, sponsors an annual campus songfest. Outstanding women specializing in music are eligible for membership.
Kappa Delta Pi is a national honorary educational fraternity for those who are enrolled in the School of Education. Membership is selected for distinction in achievements and excellence in scholarship. It sponsors encouragement of high intellectual and scholastic standards, and recognizes outstanding contributions for education. A high degree of professional fellowship is at all times maintained among its members, as well as achievement in education.
"The Curtain" is a local dramatics fraternity for which women as well as men are eligible to membership. Its personnel is chosen for outstanding work in acting, directing, or the writing of plays. Activities of this organization are directed towards the study and furthering of dramatic activities on this campus, establishing ethics of the theater on this campus, and encouragement of a native Idaho theatre through co-operation of their alumni in the state.
Delta Sigma Rho is a national forensic honorary. Membership is limited to those who possess greater than average forensic education, training, and experience, and who have participated in speaking contests on behalf of the university. This organization includes in its functions the sponsoring of all debate activities on the campus. The national was founded in Chicago in 1906 and the Idaho chapter was installed in May, 1927.
Phi Upsilon Omicron

Phi Upsilon Omicron is a national professional home economics fraternity. A brain-child of the University of Minnesota, it aims to aid its members by an interest in the moral, social, and intellectual advancements, and to promote home economics professionally. Members are chosen according to scholarship, personality, and leadership, as well as professional attitude. Zeta chapter was installed on the Idaho campus in 1918, and now has over one hundred members.

The Minor "I" Club, composed of all men who have earned their letter in a minor sport, was organized three years ago. The promotion of efficiency and co-operation in minor sports participation and the gaining of recognition for the minor sports, lacking because of deficient organization, is its aim. There has been a greater interest in minor sports since this club was installed.
The Maya Club is the honor organization for students in architecture who show professional interest and special aptitude in the subject. Its aim is to promote an interest in architecture and a recognition of what is a good as well as practical style. The Maya Club has special projects for increasing their interest in their work. This year the club, aided by M. Melzian and President Baylon, planned a new house for Tau Kappa Epsilon.
The Associated Society of Mechanical Engineers is a national organization. It aims to acquaint the future mechanical engineers with those various problems which face practicing engineers by arranging programs which include pictures of projects, speakers, and general informal discussions. Each year the club sponsors inspection tours for its members, which enables them to derive some practical knowledge of actual engineering practice. The club began in 1936.
The American Society of Civil Engineers was installed at Idaho in 1926 and is affiliated with the American Society of Civil Engineering, founded in 1852 for the advancement of the engineering profession. The society maintains contact with the national organization and with practicing engineers. Those students registered in civil engineering are members.

The Ag Club, which was founded in 1914, is composed of students enrolled in the College of Agriculture. The purpose of the club is to sponsor the activities of its college, to bring students together for social and educational features. Among the activities sponsored each year are the annual “Ag Bawl,” Club Banquet, Little International Livestock Show, and publication of The Idaho Agriculturist.
Members of Hell Divers must have passed the Red Cross Senior Life Saving Test and are chosen for their ability to swim, personality, and interest in swimming. The group practices life-saving and advanced swimming, and at the end of the year gives a water carnival. The purpose of Hell Divers is to further interest in life-saving and water activities and recreational swimming for men and women.

The Pem Club was organized at Idaho in December, 1936, and is an honorary for men and women majoring or minoring in Physical Education. Pem’s objectives: To promote interest and participation in Physical Educational activities and provide opportunities for mixed recreations. Pem very successfully promoted a recreational program for all of the men’s and women’s organizations.
Managers of major sports are in charge of equipment for all athletic contests, in addition to being of assistance to the coaching staff at all times. The Manager's Club itself is organized to promote harmony and co-operation between the managers of all major sports. Activities are confined almost entirely to athletics with one exception—every spring a dance is sponsored by the combined membership of the managers and the Minor "I" Club.

Kappa Phi is a club composed of university women who are members of the Methodist Church or who prefer that church. Tau, the local chapter, was installed in 1928 and is affiliated with the national founded at the University of Kansas in 1916. The aim is "Every Methodist Woman in the University today a leader in the church tomorrow."

The Westminster Guild is a club composed of university women who are of Presbyterian or Congregational preference. The club aims to establish fellowship and good will for its members toward each other and toward all races. This year the program included illustrated talks by travelers from several different countries.
The Associated Society of Agricultural Engineers is a student branch of the national A.S.A.E. The present membership of 22 is composed of majors in Agricultural Engineering and students in the Ag school. "The Little International" is presented annually, and the "Engineers Show" biannually. Meetings are held twice a month to discuss current business topics.

Membership in The Idaho Clan is confined to students who have one or both parents or grandparents who have attended the University of Idaho. The object of the group is to co-operate and help the alumni at any time they desire, and to get acquainted with the sons and daughters of our parents' classmates. Members of the Idaho Clan take part in the commencement exercises.
Phi Mu Alpha is the honorary organization for men who are outstanding in the field of music. Members are elected according to their personality, leadership, scholarship, and contributions in the field of music. Members of the Vandaleers, Pep Band, and music majors are eligible. This organization aims to co-operate with S.A.I., the women's organization, for furthering advances in music, and in bringing outstanding musical artists for recitals at Idaho.

MOSCOW, IDAHO

When DAVIDS' STORE was founded, there was written into its policies an inflexible rule concerning the reliability of merchandise. It is not too much to say that our present growth is due entirely to the policy of never selling anything—however small—that we can not fully guarantee. And the most impressive phase of the success that has come to us lies not in its magnitude but in the ever-growing satisfaction, so freely voiced by thousands of our customers, in the reliability of their purchases.

EXPERIENCE

Ten years of continuity in the production of the GEM of the University of Idaho has again proven its worth to the A. S. U. I. In addition to the honors of All-American rating, the element of assured production when emergencies arise justifies your confidence. We are happy that our long experience has had an added value this year.
