

FROM THE MILL

Prepped screens for the screen printing workshop

Photo credit: Jessica Wilson-Saia

MAY WORKSHOPS

5/4: May the 4th Be With You

Interested in leading a workshop in the fall? Contact Courtney Pace at cpace@uidaho.edu

APRIL UPDATES

As the semester winds down, the MILL has seen a sharp increase in activity. Students are printing components for final projects, coming in for de-stressing activities, and using our Google Cardboard VR viewers to escape reality for a bit.

The last MILL workshop of the spring semester is quickly approaching; visit the MILL on May 4th to participate in May the 4th Be With You, a day of Star Wars themed activities. There will be stickers, 3D printed keychains, buttons, and more! Whether you support the Rebel Alliance or the Empire, feel free to stop by!

For daily updates and workshop and event information, follow @uidahomill on Facebook and Instagram.

VISITOR OUTREACH

In mid April, the MILL welcomed the second round of Idaho Bound students and a round of high school students during a Sneak Peek event. The MILL received more than a few compliments! Many students took note of our resources, and made enthusiastic promises to come back in the fall. April also brought some Vandal Moms to the MILL, where they experienced the wonder of creating buttons and designing stickers. Thank you to the wonderful library staff who support the MILL and go the extra mile to make these visits memorable.

Thanks to Anthony Saia for creating this masterpiece to welcome UI visitors!

FROM THE MILL

APRIL WORKSHOPS AND PROJECTS

A shot from the screen printing workshop

3D printed piece for the board game Terraforming Mars

Stickers created for Mom's Weekend

3D printed planter

3D printed water wheel